TALLEST TOTEM NEARS COMPLETION

Immense length of world's tallest totem impressed shareholders today as it was moved from the Thunderbird Park carving shed to new location in civil service parking lot, where painting will be completed. In carved, painted state, totem looks even longer than when it was 160-feet tree. The big "stick," which weighed estimated nine tons in raw state, was jockeyed gingerly into position by two Heaney's lift cranes. Next important step will be installation. (Times Photo.)

Floods Sweep Prairie Towns

WINNIPEG (CP)—A spring flood peak on the Red River at least six inches above the top of major dikes in the Greater Winnipeg area was forecast today by the provincial flood forecasting committee. The peak is two feet higher than the last forecast.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP) — Southern Manitoba crouched behind rising walls of sandbags and earthen dikes today as muddy torrents of water swirled through towns and villages on their mad rush to the Red and Assiniboine Rivers and their tributaries.

In Winnipeg the Red rose 5.5 feet in 24 hours. At midnight Friday it stood at 14.2 feet above datum, or winter level, and was rising steadily.

In the Portage la Prairie area a solid mass of ice on the Assiniboine is acting like a plug in the river.

As an estimated 200 farmers feld their homes in the area Friday night, Mayor H. L. Henderson said one-third of the farm land along the river is under water. In some areas it covers from four to five miles.

BOATS ON MAIN STREET

At Curtis, seven miles east, water was pouring over the tops of dikes.

The worst flood in 30 years struck the town of Douglas, 10 miles east of Brandon, Friday night. Residents sailed down the main street in boats.

At Ile de Chenes, 20 miles south of Winnipeg, water was threatening to swirl into the community.

One Ile de Chenes district family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Fontaine and their nine children, was evacuated at midnight Friday.

The CNR and CPR reported several branch lines severed by rising waters in southern Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

In Alberta the Pembina River washed out four bridges north of Edmonton.

Congress Convention Seeks to Avoid Split By Compromise Policy

By JOHN LeBLANC, Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Union leaders hoped today a new middle-of-the-road plan on political action could stave off a scrap among opponents at next week's founding convention of 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress.

Drafted at closed-door discussions here this week, the plan was described by informants as a saw-off between political neutrality and outright endorsation of the CCF party.

It was worked out among heads of the Trades and Labor Congress and the Canadian Congress of Labor when it became apparent the original idea of total neutrality might not be accepted by the 1,600 delegates at the TCL-CCL merger convention opening here Monday.

Sharp cleavages in the political views of unions making up the new congress, as outlined in resolutions sent in for the meeting, has pointed to a warm convention floor fight which it was feared might disturb the unity theme of the big organization.

Indirect Aid to CCF Keynotes New Plan

With that in mind, leaders of the CCF-supporting CCL and the traditionally-neutral TLC went part way towards meeting opposing views in the hope a compromise plan could avert an open battle. This plan was reported to have a good chance of meeting the objective.

As described by informants, it would not tie the new congress to supporting the CCF but would leave ground for indirect co-operation with the Socialist party.

It was reported to involve the establishment of a committee that would be a clearing house for political views and would consult with farm organizations and other groups including the CCF.

Today, a pre-CLC convention of the Trades and Labor Congress was to be held to clean up a few odds and ends in connection with the merger, that had been left over from last year's TLC convention.

Main point would be the passage of authority to transfer the TLC's assets to the Canadian Labor Congress.

Under agreement by a TLC-CCL unity committee, a TLC nominee—president Claude Jodoin—becomes first president of the new organization. Secretary-treasurer will be Donald MacDonald, who holds that office in the CCL, and the executive vice-president will be Gordon Cushing, now TLC secretary-treasurer.

City Delegation Biggest To Attend National Parley

From Victoria trade unions and labor organizations there are 11 delegates, representing Canadian Congress of Labor and Trades and Labor Congress of Canada groups.

They form the largest delegation of unionists from the former rival groups ever to attend a single national convention.

Victoria District Trades and Labor Council is represented by secretary Percy Rayment and organizer T. C. Gooderham, newly-appointed Canadian Labor Congress director of education for B.C. Pete Sallaway, president of Victoria Newspaper Guild, is attending on behalf of his union.

George Leadbetter and Edwin Haw represent Victoria Labor Council (CCL); John MacKenzie and Hans Jacobson for local 1-118 International Woodworkers of America; Jack Bath for Machinists, Fitters and Helpers local 3; Robert Smeal, Div 234, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport Workers; Div. 222, James Grealy, and Div. 276, Elmer Hammer.

Oxford Rocks Touring Reds With Jeers, Giant Squib

(Reuters and UP Dispatches)

OXFORD, Eng. — A thunderous explosion while Nikita Khruschchev and Nikolai Bulganin toured Oxford this morning sent their British and Russian security guards racing down a passageway.

There were shouts of student glee as the guards came out sheepishly with the remnants of a large firecracker.

Thousands lined the route through Oxford, where the Soviet leaders visited the town hall while on their way to inspect Britain's atomic research centre at Harwell.

The crowd broke through police lines and swarmed around their car.

A group of Latvian refugees showered leaflets reading: "Be on the alert against Bulganin and Khruschchev. Treachery hides behind their smiles."

Loud booing mingled with some cheers when the Russians entered and left the hall.

Bulganin appeared to interpret the boos as an ovation. He beamed and clasped his hands above his head in a boxer's salute.

As soon as the car carrying the Russians moved off, the crowds broke through police lines and cut the remainder of the 16-car convoy into three sections.

Students climbed lamp posts and walls, hung from windows and scrambled up on official cars. Police had to remove them forcibly.

SEATTLE GOLFER WINS EMPRESS TOURNAMENT

Ken Lindley of Seattle sank a four-foot putt for a birdie three on the 18th green to defeat Dave Coons of Vancouver, Wash., 1 up today at Victoria Golf Club, to win the 26th annual Empress Golf Tournament championship.

It was Lindley's second championship. He won before in 1949.

It was a close battle all the way. Lindley was 2 down starting the back nine, but won the 12th and 15th to square the match, and the 18th hole birdie did the trick.

2 Planes Forced Down But Pilots Uninjured

Two light aircraft were reported in separate accidents on Vancouver Island this morning.

A single-engine Cessna aircraft belonging to the Victoria Flying Club made a forced landing in a farm field between Victoria and Sidney at 11 a.m.

Pilot of the aircraft was identified as G. Tone, Victoria, a licensed operator. He made the forced landing on property beside Martindale road. Minor damage was caused.

Fifteen minutes later, at 11.15 a.m., a light float-equipped plane taxi-ing across Nanaimo harbor, flipped and sank in the harbor. Only the pontoons showed. The pilot was rescued by one or four tugs dispatched to the scene. The aircraft was towed closer to shore.

The pilot was identified as Allen Tuck.

GLASGOW (Reuters)—Hearts won the Scottish Cup today for the first time since 1906 as they beat Celtic 3-1 before 133,000 fans at Hampden Park here.

Celtic, two goals down after 48 minutes, fought back well, but could not match Hearts' excellent team-work in a hard-played final.

Left-winger Andy Crawford scored Hearts' first two goals, one before half-time and the other after the interval. Celtic hit back in the 54th minute on a goal by inside right Mike Haughney.

A goal by inside right Alfie Conn 10 minutes from the end put Hearts two goals ahead and they held off desperate attacks by Celtic.

LONDON (Reuters) — Sheffield Wednesday today clinched a return to English League First Division soccer after a year's absence when it won the Second Division championship with a 5-2 victory over Bury.

But who will be the second team to go up with Wednesday still was up in the air. The two main challengers, Bristol Rovers and Leeds United, met in a vital match which Leeds won 2-1. Both teams have 48 points, but Bristol has only one match left and Leeds two. Bristol has a superior goal average.

The fight for survival in Division One also was thrown wide open as bottom teams Aston Villa and Huddersfield won and Tottenham Hotspur and Sheffield United lost.

Leyton Orient's hopes of promotion from the Third Division South to the Second Division received a severe jolt when it lost 2-0 at Ipswich.

The series on eating adventures in Victoria will be resumed next Saturday by reporter Tony Dickason, who is on vacation.

Grave Fire Hazard Exists In Tinder Dry Brush Lands

Open brush country adjacent to Victoria is in a "highly dangerous" condition and constitutes a grave fire hazard, officials of two fire departments said today.

Fire Chief Rod Bayles of Langford, in an appeal to residents to seek a permit before lighting fires, said his department has made 19 calls in the last 20 days to extinguish brush fires.

"Our daytime resources have been stretched to the limit in fighting this type of fire," he said.

A Saanich fire department spokesman said this type of fire call is "common" in his area, even though fire permits have been required since April 1.

BROOM HAZARD

Mr. Bayles said that broom in his area which was killed by the November and January frosts is a particularly bad hazard.

"They are nothing but tinder-dry pitch," he said.

Dry, warm weather of the last week has contributed to the hazard, but weatherman William Mackie predicted a cooler Saturday night and Sunday.

"The thermometer reached 70 degrees Friday, but today has been cool, and the maximum Sunday will be 65 degrees," he said. "Sunday will be cloudy, with the cloud cover tending to thin in the afternoon."

HORSE GRABS, KICKS INFANT TO DEATH

MOUNT OLIVE, Miss. (AP)—A horse lifted a 20-month-old child across a fence with his teeth and kicked the infant to death, the child's uncle said today.

Vesta Barnes, uncle of Johnnie Nichols, said the child was standing against the outside of the fence when the work horse suddenly stretched his neck across it, caught the boy's clothing in his teeth and lifted him inside the pen.

The animal then viciously kicked the child in the head and stamped him, the uncle reported.

Russian Vessels Join Britons In Salute to Queen, 30 Today

WINDSOR, England (Reuters)—Russian warships visiting Britain today joined Britons in a 30th birthday salute to the Queen.

The Soviet vessels, which brought Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev to Portsmouth this week, joined British warships in Portsmouth harbor in firing birthday salutes at noon.

The ships of both nations were dressed with masthead flags for the occasion.

The queen celebrated her birthday quietly.

NO OFFICIAL DUTIES

There were no official engagements in the royal diary. After watching the changing of the guard, the Queen went riding with her children in Windsor Great Park and forest.

The Duke of Edinburgh was due back in Windsor in time for a small family luncheon and later in the day the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret were also to join the party.

The Duke has been in Germany for the silver wedding anniversary of his eldest sister, Princess Margarita von Hohenlohe-Lagenburg.

Later in the afternoon Bulganin and Khrushchev were to be received at tea by the Queen.

With all these revelations about Stalin once bein' a Czarist agent, seems there ought t' be a stenographer's note at th' bottom of his epitaph: "Dictator but not Red."

100 Million Bushel Wheat Sale Assured

(See page 21)

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada expects to sell about 100,000,000 bushels under a new International Wheat Agreement announced today, officials here said.

Trade Minister Howe said he is pleased with outcome of the London conference which reached the new agreement.

A statement probably will be made in the Commons Monday.

The officials said Canada is prepared to go along with the new agreement which will provide a price range of $1.50 minimum and $2 maximum a bushel for No. 1 Manitoba Northern wheat in store at Fort William-Port Arthur.

The amount Canada will sell under the agreement, expected to come into effect Aug. 1 when the present IWA expires, is relatively small and there was no tremendous enthusiasm here about the pact.

The United Kingdom will not participate in the agreement.

Outlawing of War Urged By Khrushchev in Britain

LONDON (UP)—Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev linked Russia's familiar appeal for "peaceful co-existence" Friday night with a call to the West to outlaw war and abolish armies.

One London newspaper speculated that the speech was so expertly timed and written to appeal to Britons that it might have been drafted by turncoats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean.

Khrushchev told an array of Britain's top-ranking generals, admirals and air marshals at a naval college banquet that an arms race in the modern world is "like a fox trying to catch its own tail."

"That which is first rate this year may be out of date next year . . ." he said. "I read a press report today that the Americans have produced a fighter which can fly with double-sonic speed. But what can a fighter like that do against a guided missile or rocket? . . .

"At one time, all fighting was done along some definite front line . . . in the case of a new war, it would not be possible to find any definite front line . . .

"There can be only one way out—to give up war altogether, to agree to a reduction of arms as a first step . . . and then to abolish the armed forces."

The skilful timing and the persuasive wording of Khrushchev's "off the cuff" speech increased official pressure on Prime Minister Anthony Eden to match the Russian's propaganda tactics.

So far, Eden has lived up to an agreement to keep his talks with Khrushchev and Premier N. A. Bulganin secret — while the Russian embassy has been handing out texts of the Soviet leader's remarks to all comers.

Last night was the second time during the three days he has spent in Britain that Khrushchev has made a speech at midnight, assuring it major headline play in the British papers before the government can hope to reply.

The wording of his speeches, expertly calculated to appeal to the British mind, has created belief here that they may have been "ghosted" for him by Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean, the turncoat diplomats who fled to Moscow five years ago. The London Daily Mail voiced the opinion publicly.

Reliable sources said efforts have been made at every level of government to persuade Eden to tell Britain's side of the story, so far without effect.

NEW CALENDAR PLAN DROPPED

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The UN Economic and Social Council Friday dropped the question of reforming the world's civil calendar. The plan would have made every day of every month come on the same day of the week every year. It voted 15 to 0 for a Dutch proposal to postpone debate indefinitely.

No U.S. Clearance Given Stuart Talk

WASHINGTON (UP)—The state department said Friday that R. Douglas Stuart, retiring U.S. Ambassador to Canada did not get advance clearance on a speech which angered some Canadians.

However, a spokesman said that Stuart was speaking on a subject "quite properly within his view."

In a speech at Vancouver Mon-day, Stuart denied charges by Canadian Conservative Party, that the United States dominates Canadian industries and resources.

More Fraser Bridges Forecast by Irwin

He also told a public meeting the Rosedale-Agassiz and Mission Bridges, the Albion ferry at Fort Langley and the Deas Island tunnel would be completed for traffic within the next two years.

DENIES "GUN DEAL"

VANCOUVER—Police inspector Peter Lamont denied Friday he made "certain promises" to James Miller, self-admitted drug addict, in return for aid in finding a gun, believed used in the killing of Vancouver police constable Gordon Sinclair, 41. He was testifying at the trial of Joseph Gordon, 34, and James Carey, 27, charged with murdering the policeman last Dec. 7. Const. Sinclair was shot down while investigating a report of prowlers.

Larry Hill, lawyer for Gordon, suggested Thursday that city police had arranged a temporary release from jail and subsequently a lenient sentence to enlist Miller's aid in finding the gun by which Constable Sinclair died.

Detective Al Steen, giving evidence at the trial, said the constable's gun was still in his holster under his buttoned tunic when fellow officers found him lying beside his car.

BCHIS SHARE DISPUTED

TRAIL — Demolition of the old Trail-Tadanac hospital is still delayed pending clarification of B.C. Hospital Insurance Service's equity in the property. BCHIS has claimed a 31.6 per cent interest in proceeds from sale. The demolition committee, however, contends that BCHIS share should be 24.7.

PLEADS FOR LASHES

VANCOUVER — A 25-year-old self-confessed drug trafficker and potential "dealer in death" Friday begged for lashes and a short prison term rather than a long sentence.

He was Victor Hansen, who with Mrs. Carol Talbot, 22, and David Crnec, 25, was convicted of possessing narcotics for purposes of trafficking.

Magistrate Orr remanded them to Monday for sentence.

"I think it is a good idea to have a cooling-off period before passing sentence in such serious cases."

The three were arrested after RCMP narcotics squad officers found more than 20 caches of drugs throughout the city.

U.S. Labor Leaders Block B.C. Contract

VANCOUVER (CP)—American labor leaders have been charged with "intimidation tactics and interference" by members of the Tunnel and Rock Workers' Union (AFL) here.

A. R. Andres, president of the Vancouver local, and W. L. Hunchuk, secretary-treasurer, said Friday the 1,500-man local refused to accept an agreement signed between contractors building the Alberta-B.C. natural gas pipeline and international officers of the union.

The contract was also refused by the Vancouver local of the Laborers' Union (AFL). Officers of that local were recently suspended by Joseph V. Moreschi of Washington, general president of the union.

Carl Berg of Edmonton, international representative, was appointed administrator of the local.

Mr. Hunchuk said Mr. Berg threatened the tunnel and rock workers would be taken under international administration "if instructions from the general president in Washington are not obeyed."

Mr. Moreschi said the Vancouver tunnel and rock workers' local had no jurisdiction over construction of the Alberta-B.C. pipeline but Mr. Hunchuk replied that the local is certified for the work in this province.

Mr. Hunchuk said work would stop for one day on the pipeline, an extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and a project to demolish Ripple Rock, a navigation hazard 140 miles northwest of Vancouver, if Mr. Moreschi took over his local.

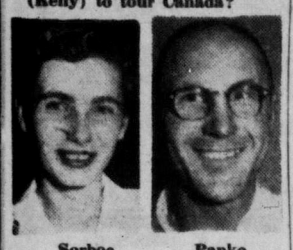
WHAT'S YOUR OPINION?

By AB KENT and IRVING STRICKLAND

By AB KENT and IRVING STRICKLAND

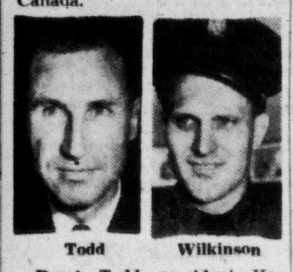
Do you think it would be a good idea to invite Prince Rainier and Princess Grace (Kelly) to tour Canada?



Sorboe Panko

Louise Sorboe, waitress, 606 Speed: "I don't see why not. I suppose they'd like to see Canada. We can always see them in pictures, but they can't see Canada unless they come here."

Paul Panko, TV antenna technician, 2903 Douglas: "I think it would be a good idea. It would give us a chance to show our friendship; a nice gesture on the part of the people of Canada."



Todd Wilkinson

Derek Todd, president, Kersey's Foods Ltd., 2905 Douglas: "I don't think they'd come on an invitation. If they came on a tour it would be on their own. I don't think the Canadian government would invite them."

Bert Wilkinson, fireman, 1464 Bay: "They're welcome to tour Canada, but not at the expense of the taxpayers. They're of the same calibre as anyone else in this country, only in a different business. We should spend more time looking after our local interests."

MacDonald McFarlane

Mrs. June MacDonald, stenographer, 1407 Fort: "I can't see what would be gained by it. A little place like Monaco—what political or economic advantage would there be?"

Mrs. Nora McFarlane, stenographer, 1407 Fort: "If they came, I'd go to see them, I suppose, but I don't see what advantage there would be, especially since the taxpayers would be paying for it."

6-DAY WEEK GETS SUPPORT OF CHAMBER

Only One Oirector Opposed to Move

Directors of Victoria Chamber of Commerce gave their full support Friday to a movement by downtown merchants to establish a six-day shopping week in Victoria.

Conway Parrott moved that the directors support Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau directors in their efforts to secure a six-day week opening.

William Gilmour seconded the motion, which was carried with only one vote of opposition—that of J. Courtney Haddock.

Meanwhile, the six-day shopping week committee formed by leading merchants on Douglas and Government Streets is awaiting a lawyer's report on what legislation is necessary to permit stores to open all day Wednesday.

Next step will be to lay their case before the city council or the government, according to the lawyer's advice.

Members of the six-day shopping week committee point out that it will not affect the maximum 44-hour week for store salesmen established by provincial law.

PERMIT NEEDED

Under present legislation it is necessary to obtain a special permit from the government before any store employee can work more than 44 hours, even on an overtime basis.

John Aubry, secretary of the Retail Clerks' Union, has stated that most members of the union are in favor of a six-day week, provided employees work only a five-day week.

The move is opposed, however, by members of the 700 Block Yates Street Association and by various individual stores including five Victoria fish merchants—Rowe's, Miller's, Dennis', Askey's and the Dominion Meat Market.

At the same time, a $250,000 damage suit was filed by a father who claimed his son became paralyzed in both legs as an indirect result of faulty vaccine.

Five Children Die

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five children died and four others were burned severely Friday when flames swept through a two-storey brick house in southwest Washington. The nine children, ranging up to seven years of age, belonged to two different families which shared the second floor of the six-room house. The mothers are sisters.

Time to Pay Fines Urged by Diefenbaker

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA—A prominent Canadian criminal lawyer Friday proposed legislation to make it impossible for courts, except under special circumstances, to jail persons unable to pay fines.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Prince Albert) said in the Commons there are too many cases of poverty-stricken Canadians receiving jail sentences for petty offences. Decent, respectable persons were being stigmatized for the rest of their lives because they lacked funds to pay a fine.

His bill would amend a section of the Criminal Code providing for payment of fines on time for summary convictions. Such cases are heard before a magistrate without a jury and the maximum penalty is a $500 fine or six months in jail or both.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the existing provision of the code permitting payment of fines by installments is not being employed by the majority of magistrates. It was much easier for a magistrate in a case involving a fine of $5 and costs to send a person to jail than to give him time to pay the fine.

STRAIGHTEN FRASER

A British Columbia Social Credit member wants the federal works department to take the kinks out of the Fraser river.

A. B. Patterson, Fraser Valley, made the suggestion Friday to Works Minister Winters in the Commons, proposing a long-range program to improve navigation and reduce the danger of flooding below the village of Hope.

He said the river below Hope is speading out instead of flowing along one channel. This had created navigational problems for tugs towing log booms, and serious flooding conditions at many points.

The two problems could be solved by a planned program of dredging to confine the river to one channel. At the same time, steps should be taken to straighten out bad bends in the river.

A barrage of complaints and suggestions was hurled at Public Works Minister Robert Winters Friday during debate on his department's $147,571,440 spending bill for this year.

Opposition members loudly criticized the department during the debate while government members politely requested action amid salutes to Winters' administration.

The minister answered the criticism with explanations, and promised to consider appeals for more public works spending.

Conservative Wilfrid Dufresne (Quebec West), told the government to be more careful in granting contracts, such as one for improvements to a wharf at Riviere du Loup, which collapsed after construction.

A three-pronged Toronto request from Frank Enfield (L-York Scarboro), John Hamilton (PC-York West) and R. H. Small (PC-Toronto Danforth) called on the government to have the Toronto harbor commission assume authority over the whole of the Toronto metropolitan waterfront.

New Blows Rock French Cabinet

PARIS (UP)—New blows from right and left today rocked Premier Guy Mollet's shaky minority government, now facing a tax debate which may precipitate a new political crisis in France.

Extreme rightist followers of tax-hating Pierre Poujade announced they will boycott the national assembly as a protest against its invalidatioh of the elections of six of their fellows.

At the same time, a Communist campaign of nuisance strikes and demonstrations against Mollet's "get tough" policy in Algeria is gaining headway. Several hundred metalworkers in Lille laid down their tools Friday and staged a protest march.

The socialist premier faces his next major test in the assembly next week, when his plan for tax increases to finance an expanded program of old-age benefits comes up for debate.

The cabinet has authorized Mollet to demand a confidence vote on the tax issue if necessary to get it through the legislature, and it appears he may have to do so.

If the question does come to a confidence vote, Mollet's coalition of socialists and radicals will need the support of the Communists or of rightists parties not represented in its ranks to win.

Two elements in Mollet's program improve his hopes of victory:

1. His promise to visit Moscow next month, which makes it likely the Communists will support him in assembly votes at least until that time.

2. His firm policy in Algeria, which pleases rightwing parties that normally would oppose him.

Soviet Oar Stirs the Waters

TWO MAJOR MOVES THIS week created a new setting for the Middle East drama.

In a piece of brilliant negotiation United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold obtained an undertaking from both Egypt and Israel to cease all armed attacks, thus bringing a truce to the world's worst danger spot.

But backgrounding this achievement, and no doubt contributing significantly to it, were Russia's call for a cease-fire in the area and the Soviet offer of full co-operation to achieve permanent peace through United Nations channels.

Communist pressures in the form of armament supplies and propaganda have been among the most potent causes of the latest outbreak of Middle Eastern fighting. Moscow's action is therefore all the more meaningful. It marks Russia's first direct claim to a seat at the conference table when Middle Eastern affairs are discussed. The age-old Russian struggle to have an oar in the Mediterranean appears about to be successful.

Heretofore Britain and the United States have considered the Middle East area to be their responsibility. Soviet intrusion was not welcomed, either in the form of arms to Egypt or in Russia's presence at the bargaining table.

But the latest offer has been received with at least limited approval in Washington. British reaction may be clearer after Messrs. Bulganin and Khrushchev have explained their position in the course of the current London talks.

The Russian proposal appears to push further into the background the tri-partite pact of 1950, under which Britain, France and the United States agreed on direct action to halt any aggression in the eastern Mediterranean. President Eisenhower's statement a few days ago, that the United States would act within the framework of the United Nations to help preserve peace, made no mention of the 1950 pact, an omission which caused some concern in London.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd on Thursday reaffirmed the British position, alongside France and the United States, as a guarantor of Middle Eastern peace.

But the Russian declaration is much more than a mere answer to President Eisenhower or a stage setting for the Bulganin-Khrushchev visit to Britain. It implies what already has become apparent, that there can be no permanent settlement in the Middle East without Russian co-operation. It indicates also that Russia is not prepared to see real war break out between Egypt and Israel at present. Moscow has warned the belligerents to keep the peace, although it is not known whether the communist arms shipments which unbalanced the forces of the area have been halted.

The timing of the Soviet announcement obviously was arranged to coincide with the Kremlin leaders' visit to London. It thus made inevitable a discussion of Middle Eastern affairs, which Prime Minister Eden had once said was out of the question. But Russian professions of peace are not always complemented by Russian actions. It was at the very same time the so-called Geneva Spirit was being amiably and volubly fostered at the summit conference, for instance, that Russia initiated its dangerous arms deal with Egypt.

Do the current pleasantries in London likewise cover a nefarious objective? It seems inconceivable that the Soviet stand for peace in the Middle East should be merely a temporary posture for the London visit, to be nullified by contrary action on the Russians' return to Moscow. But "peace, peace" can be as deceptive a cry as "wolf, wolf," and it is harsh experience that moves Western leaders today to speak of "looking behind the smiles," "reading the fine print," and other diplomatic precautions.

For Better Understanding

ELSEWHERE ON THIS PAGE appears a condensed version of an article written by Richard L. Strout for The Christian Science Monitor.

One of the highly competent correspondents of that distinguished paper, Mr. Strout takes occasion to poke gentle fun at his fellow Americans on their ignorance of Canada and their seeming inability to grasp Canadian attitudes.

The tone of the piece is set in his own terms of reference: "I write as an expert on Canada. I have been in Canada at least half a dozen times and probably stayed in Canada as much as a week over the past half-century."

He pleads slyly with Canadians to understand the people, including the public figures, of the United States who appear to understand little if anything of Canadians and seem to feel under no obligation to develop such an understanding. They want only to be loved.

Mr. Strout does not set out much in the way of material which should lead to clearer detailed understanding. The fact, however, that a paper as important as the Monitor devotes a full page to articles suggesting to Americans they had better learn something of their northern neighbors, is significant.

Canada, The Monitor suggests to its domestic readers, is something more than a hazy geographical entity lying north of the 49th parallel. And it is not something to be taken for granted.

Labor Reopens the Door

THE TRADES AND LABOR Council is to be complimented on its decision to invite the press to its meetings with no strictures on the use of delegates' names in reports of general discussions.

This means that reporters covering the council's sessions will be in a position to give complete accounts of the very worthwhile matters taken up by council delegates in open meeting.

When the council has private business to discuss, it quite properly will discuss it in private.

As Our Readers See It

Over the Top Again

The 1956 Red Cross Campaign for funds has been successfully completed, and results exceed the objective of $78,000.

This has once more confirmed the fact that the work done by the Red Cross in peace and war, in Canada and internationally, is not being done in vain, and as such is being appreciated.

May we through your medium express our admiration for the time spent and efforts expended, to the 800 volunteers who helped in the canvass, the publicity and the accounting. Of course those who donated are also due our most hearty thanks, as after all the total reached is the summation of their individual contributions.

Our thanks to all.

Mozart Tribute

The announcement just received that Victoria will have its own celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of Mozart, commencing Wednesday, May 9, in Victoria High School auditorium, is a welcome and important announcement. It is well that we should do honor to such a genius, so pre-eminent, so much loved by those who knew him best; and yet so much hated by some of his contemporaries because of his youthful genius.

In the past few months, every city of any importance in the music world has been paying tribute to this very great man, and we are proud that the City of Victoria is among those cities who will pay special tribute to the memory of one whose name and fame ranks with the world's greatest.

We cannot bring back Mozart in person, but it is true that his spirit is still with us, and never will it rest until harmony which he created is the priceless possession of men everywhere.

We sincerely trust that Victorians will give these Mozart concerts the wholehearted support which they most certainly deserve.

With Heat

Seldom has any letter to the editor stirred my ire as has that which you published Wednesday.

Cowering with his half-truths under the pseudonym "Long Suffering," this person has done a grave injustice to a group of very public-spirited young men.

For many years the members of the Victoria Motorcycle Club have thrown their wholehearted, unselfish and financially unrewarded weight behind the Victoria Celebrations Committee. Many times since the war, up-Island points have approached the VMC to take their show north for an excellent price. Each offer has been turned down in favor of the local presentation. This earns the club nothing but bare expenses. This rodeo has frequently been the only attraction which not only paid its expenses but earned a good sum towards the support of other events such as the parade and regatta.

Each year the club has applied to the Parks and Beaches committee for, and received, permission to practice their drill team and individual stunts on the upper Beacon Hill Park field. These practices last only four weeks of the year. They are rigidly controlled and any suggestion that noisy racing occurs is cut from very complete cloth indeed.

The noise and excessive speed on the road are suppressed by the officers of the club wherever possible, but youthful exuberance gets the better of even the best. I presume that "Long Suffering" was cast, as Aphrodite, full blown from the sea and never experienced this. He has my heartfelt sympathy.

To cast aspersions at a group who have given freely of their time to assist charitable organizations, civil defence, police authority, and others so often is nothing short of scurrilous. I suggest that your anonymous correspondent check his facts, check his pen, and change his pseudonym to "Short Tempered."

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Moving Towards a Real Decision

THE sovereign issue now before Canada has emerged with chilling clarity. The only question is how the politicians will interpret it, or misinterpret it in political terms. The issue—an old one often debated before but now reappearing in new form—is simply whether we are managing our joint business wisely or unwisely during a boom when we never had it so good.

Hutchison

Is the boom getting out of hand, or costing us too much for the future? Are we selling off too many of our assets to foreigners in order to finance an ever-rising standard of living? Are we going into debt too far with our neighbors? Are we husbanding our resources for our best use and the use of our children?

IN most national elections, from the National Policy of 1878 onward, all these questions have arisen in one guise or another and the voters have decided them by re-electing or defeating the government.

Usually the question has seemed simple—whether to raise or reduce the tariff. And always, except on two occasions, the difference between the two political parties, by the measurement of the tariff, has been small.

Only twice did we face a clear-cut choice and in both cases the government proposing a drastic change of policy was ruined—Laurier by Reciprocity in 1911, Bennett by total protectionism in 1935.

No government will repeat those lethal experiments. Any policy, to be practicable, will be a compromise. As always, it is the nature of the compromise that forms the real issue behind the slogans and catchwords of the election platform.

BUT today our situation is not what it was at any previous time and many old theories, practical when applied, are obsolete now.

The situation is new, of course, because this is a new nation, economically, and almost unrecognizable by pre-war standards. It is a small nation by the reckoning of the census and yet one of the first half dozen industrial nations of the world.

Moreover, it is a nation unequalled recently in growth by any other. Our production and our population are rising more rapidly than those of the United States or any nation in Asia.

The whole question is whether we are prudently managing this gigantic change. When you come to consider that question it turns out to be much more complicated than it looks on the glittering and opulent surface.

WE have just begun to realize, for instance, that our business expansion and our living standards, are largely dependent on American investment. Many of us fear that investment as endangering our future independence, but not many of us are willing to face a reduced rate of expansion and a lower living standard.

We may be sure anyway that the politicians who oppose American penetration will not tell us that we would be much poorer—indeed that we might suffer a sudden depression—if penetration were suddenly choked off. When they propose (in broad, shiny terms) to manufacture more of our materials here instead of exporting them to foreigners, they are not likely to tell us what this would do to our great exporting industries, or what goods would cost if manufactured here behind high tariffs.

NO, the politicians will talk in the usual short-hand of the hustings on the assumption that we wouldn't understand the details. That is the real trouble facing us as we consider the many-sided issue now looming ahead and certain to dominate next year's election—we don't understand and don't trouble to study the details or seriously consider the alternatives.

Well, we may be sure that the alternatives will not be black and white as politics will paint them, not a struggle between self-containment and free trade, a continued dependence on American investment or no investment. Nothing simple like that, for such simplicities live only in the legendry of politics and the oratory of the platform.

NEVERTHELESS, if the public does not understand the complex economics of the process now under way, there is nothing slow about its instincts, and its instincts always settle everything.

At the moment the primary instinct of the Canadian people can be detected by anyone who knows them and their history. That instinct holds, above everything else, that the nation, as a nation, must survive whatever the cost.

In one way it seems to be surviving with miraculous ease and growing richer every day. In another it seems to be making itself too dependent on the money, the leadership and undoubted business genius of foreigners. And in yet another it seems to put growth, wealth and living standards ahead of everything else.

IT is difficult for the layman to sort out all these conflicting forces of economics and the still deeper forces of instinct. Having just begun to suspect that something large and doubtful is under way, the public's mind is confused. Hence the rage when an American ambassador states some simple facts of economics and offers some friendly advice. Hence much silly talk in Parliament.

Hence also the Gordon Commission, which represents our first attempt to discover where we are and where we are going. The commission's report will be ready months before we go to the polls. The wise voter will await it, and the politicians' several verdicts on it, before he makes up his mind. But there can be no more doubt that, for the first time in perhaps twenty years, he must make a real decision next year.

Canada and the U.S.---Same Only Different

Condensed from a Christian Science Monitor feature
BY RICHARD L. STROUT

CANADIANS, it seems to me, should always remember how the United States wants to be loved. Citizens of the United States regard themselves as the most lovable people on earth. We are firmly convinced that Canadians—of whom, actually, we know very little—love us.

This is a tremendous and ultimately decisive weapon in the hands of Canadians. It is almost impossible to convince us that Canadians sometimes do not highly regard us, but it can be done.

The intimation of the fact comes to Americans with a shocked incredulity like a collie that has been slapped by Albert Payson Terhune. In the final analysis Canadians can win any argument with their southern neighbor by impressing upon it that maybe—under such-and-such conditions—they will stop loving it.

Let me say that I write as an expert on Canada. I have been in Canada at least half a dozen times and probably stayed in Canada as much as a week over the past half century.

Canada in a Twinkling

Any American who drives into Canada at Windsor and drives out again the same afternoon at Niagara Falls has the agreeable sense of being an expert on Canadian food, architecture, approach to life, and the toll system of the Welland Canal. He will return home where his local newspaper will probably not have a front-page news dispatch about Canada for the next nine months.

The border is unfortified, so he need not bother about Canada, which is his nation's best customer, just as Canada is his country's largest supplier of raw materials.

There is a curious sensitivity in Canada which the United States cannot understand. Canadians object to being taken for granted. I have read somewhere that that is also a cause for conjugal infelicity. Wives (and husbands), it appears, object to being ignored.

The United States' attitude toward Canada is that of a husband who never has time to look at his wife over the morning newspaper. I don't know what to do about this. The only solution I can think of is to fortify the border.

The average American can't understand—since his country is so lovable—why any shadow of criticism finds lodgment in Canada. He sincerely believes that he is the very model of a good neighbor.

Why, a Hollywood movie with a red-coated Canadian Mountie in it is sure to be a smash hit! Practically every male American 45 years or over, if the subject of Rudolf Friml and Canada is mentioned, will smile beatifically, take a deep breath, and bellow out "Rose Marie . . . I love you."

In Complete Ignorance

It is very inconsiderate of Canadians, I think, that they do not realize that when the United States steps on their fingers we are doing it out of complete ignorance. I can think of several examples of this.

One was the famous case of the 1930 Smoot-Hawley tariff. This pretty nearly wrecked the Canadian economy. It was the highest tariff in American history, and it brought retaliatory action in two years from 25 nations, disrupted world trade, and (some people say) paved the way for the Second World War.

I covered the story at the time in Washington, and I can assure any Canadian who feels resentment that the harm we did Canada was not intended personally at all, and that when we smashed the Canadian export market we had never even given the matter a thought!

If Canadians objected to the act they should have read the protest prepared by 1,028 economists. This had no effect on President Hoover, who signed the bill just the same.

In Such a Hurry

Secondly there was, of course, the famous case of the St. Lawrence Seaway. Back in the 1920's the United States got Canada to sign a treaty for international construction of the seaway. In accordance with this Canada proceeded to build the Welland Ship Canal, joining Lakes Erie and Ontario and preparing the way for the proposed deep-draft passage through the international section.

For some reason or other Canadians have criticized what followed. President Roosevelt, President Truman, and for that matter President Eisenhower all tried to get Congress to implement this agreement, but without avail. Canadians cannot reconcile themselves to the idea that the United States does not operate like other countries.

Elsewhere democracies sign a treaty and that is that. But the United States has a written Constitution, separation of powers, and a fearsome two-thirds majority hurdle for a treaty to get over in the Senate.

For a quarter century the unsigned St. Lawrence treaty bottled up Canadian hopes in the Great Lakes. The United States found Canadians singularly impatient. In the great march of human destiny what is 25 years? Almost certainly in another 25 years the Senate might have got around to doing something about the treaty.

But the precipitate Canadians, experiencing one of the mightiest expansions of any nation in modern times, ill-temperedly lost patience and set about building the canal themselves on an all-Canadian route.

The threat of an all-Canadian canal and the dim perception that maybe the United States was not being loved north of the border brought Congress around.

Obviously the Canadians have not adjusted themselves to American ways. This is a pity. The evidence indicates also that there is a certain sensitivity in Canada to insults from south of the border, intended or unintended. Canadians should remember that we are merely speaking of them the way we speak of ourselves.

Cause for Alarm

The only other criticism I have of Canada is that they are going ahead with a whole batch of social enterprises which would fill Americans with alarm if they knew anything about them.

Canada not only has a premium dollar and a budget reasonably in balance but it operates a coast-to-coast railroad, a worldwide shipping system, coast-to-coast broadcasting (and last year entered TV), Trans-Canada Airlines, an international cable system, grain storage terminals, and a lot of similar things. Its social security system is so extensive it gives a bonus for every baby born in Canada.

From the United States attitude these things are all very unorthodox if not socialistic. Doubtless it would improve international relations if Canada abolished them at once. While this is being done Canada should have the decency to have an economic upset to show the wrong-headedness of bureaucratic interference with business.

Fortunately for the United States, however, citizens of the United States are almost ignorant of these things. So long as "Americans" can take Canada for granted they will not make institutional comparisons with their northern neighbor.

WHEN WE WERE VERY YOUNG — By GUS SIVERTZ

Memories of the Rockland Avenue Route

QUITE a few of Victoria's businessmen now coasting down the other side of 60 started out selling or delivering newspapers. The long-range view of course softens the harsh outlines of the picture and perhaps some of us recall those days with a strong touch of nostalgia. I started by selling the Times and it may be that the smell of newsprint then got itself firmly fixed in my nostrils—at any rate it is still there.

Sivertz

We would buy our papers from Albert Wilde, who handled all circulation for the Times, for 2½ cents each and sell them for 5 cents, a clear gain of 100 per cent.

There were no coppers in those days and the silly little silver five-cent piece (like a thrupenny bit) hadn't yet been foisted on the Canadian public. In fact we often got two-bits for a paper in the saloons.

Counting Profits

I thought the post office steps would be a good spot and was soon counting profits in my mind.

It was a good corner, probably the best in town. But it was then the exclusive territory of a big, husky boy named Moody (I forget his first name), who promptly punched me on the nose and ousted me from his place. He later became a good friend and protected me, who was no great fighter, from the bullies around Broad Street.

Initiation was a rough and sometimes brutal business. Back of the old Times building, which was on the west side of Broad between Spencer's fine store and Trounce Alley, was a rain barrel filled with dirty brown water. I was dunked, head down, fully dressed into this mess and held until I thought I should drown. It didn't seem funny.

So I gave up the precarious life of a seller and Mr. Wilde gave me a regular delivery route.

He said it was a good route and would take me to some of Victoria's best homes. It did but I had a simply terrible time trying to collect from some of our better families.

Jovial Customer

The route started at Douglas and View and among my first customers was a real estate firm of Currie & Power. Arthur Currie was a big jovial man who, in his spare time, commanded the 5th Garrison Artillery, RCA. He wasn't a particularly good businessman and few then could have foreseen that in a few years he would command the Canadian Corps in France and Flanders.

The route then wandered up Yates and View Streets and all their intersections to School Street, where I made a sort of back-track down Fort and back again to Moss. Near here I once had the misfortune to throw a tightly rolled paper right through a colored glass panel in E. B. Marvin's front door. It took quite a while at 50 cents a month to pay for the glass.

Moss and Rockland were rather pleasant; houses were far apart and several had good stables in the rear and frequently coachmen would pour apples or pears in my bag.

After the long walk into Government House (Hon. James Dunsmuir was the incumbent then), I crossed the road to enter the back gate of Craigdarroch Castle to deliver a paper to his mother, the widow of Robert Dunsmuir, founder of the family fortune.

Air of Decay

It reminded me of Dickens' story Bleak House, not because the two bore each other any resemblance but because of the air of decay and disrepair at Craigdarroch.

What had been beautiful gardens, rose trellises, lily pools and sheltered walks was now a sort of jungle. One lone cow occupied the fine brick-floored stables; the carriage house was empty and one lone, silent Chinese fought a losing battle with the encroaching, rank growth.

Where curving streets and beautiful homes now stand were winding paths choked with grass and giving room for myriad lovely wild flowers.

In the centre, between Rockland and Fort, the stone castle stood on an eminence but it was empty but for a few rooms occupied by Mrs. Dunsmuir, then a very old lady, and the kitchen staff.

She would sit at a window above the kitchens and clap her mittened hands until I succeeded in tossing the paper safely through the window. Visions of a big Christmas box probably spurred me on.

There was never any Christmas box.

BEFORE THE JUDGE — By SILENUS

2,500 B.C.

After last week's bout with British Columbia's thoughtful legislative attempt to settle the domestic relations of Englishmen, I feel justified in seeking mental refreshment in the works of more intelligible authors, and so have retired to drink from what Sir Edward Coke called "the healthful springs of jurisprudence."

Sir Edward, who was the Chief Justice of King James I, is generally regarded by all (himself included) as the father of our Common Law, and I have a sneaking suspicion that his healthful springs were his own works. While bound to regard his name with awe and veneration, I cannot look at his authoritative production without stifling the odd yawn: he must be the only Elizabethan writer whose prose style is uniformly tedious. 'Tis a shame, as generations of lawyers have found, but at least he never bothered his wise old head with matrimonial causes.

This delicate business, conducted in the philosophical no-man's-land between morality and expediency he very wisely left to the ecclesiastics, and the result of their floundering in the metaphysical mire is what we have with us today. So one must search farther back in time than King James.

The most ancient healthful spring available is the translated code of the Babylonian King Hammurabi, who had his laws carved on an eight-foot slab of black diorite some 4,000 years ago. The material used by the King's Printer of the day may have had some trifling disadvantages, but at least it was permanent—and better still, made amendment almost impossible.

One knew where one stood in Babylon, and in this age of bureaucratic tyranny good old King H. may well be revered as a monument of certainty and brevity. What he had to say on the subject of matrimonial causes was most interesting and, if I may run the risk of female displeasure, most sensible.

FOR MANY REASONS

Divorce was a family matter, and could take place as a result of various kinds of misconduct including adultery. England (without asking our permission, incidentally) has latterly produced some legislation on its own which, while called reform is in reality a return to the spirit of these ancient principles. Hammurabi's ideas still persist in the modern domestic law of the Jews and the State of Israel, to which they have descended through the ancient laws and customs of that remarkable people.

Presumably the Israelites retained many beneficent Babylonian customs after the Captivity; they sat down by the Waters of Babylon and wept, no doubt, but nevertheless had the good sense to adopt much that an ancient civilization had to teach them; and, what is more, have the supreme good sense to retain those sensible notions today, ancient as they are.

But I digress. Let us see what the King himself had to say:

"If the wife of a man, who is living in the house of her husband, has set her face to go out and has acted the fool, has wasted her house, has belittled her husband, one shall put her to account, and if her husband has said 'I put her away', he shall put her away. He shall not give her anything for her divorce."

DELICACY PRESERVED

What could be more sensible? And the husband was not forced to pay her costs, either. One finds allusions to this sort of thing all through the Old Testament.

There is a great deal more, which if reproduced in this journal might be considered indelicate. There is an old trick of employing Latin footnotes for such matter, but alas! I have no space for such frivolities.

However, one fragment more, which I am sure can give no offence, so sensible is it:

"If she has not been economical, a goer about, has wasted her house, has belittled her husband, that woman one shall throw her into the waters."

Which in Babylon were full of crocodiles. But here? Port Angeles, here they come!

UN CORRESPONDENT — PETER STURSBERG

Keep Armies Apart

UNITED NATIONS—Now that Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold has stopped the Arabs and Israelis from exchanging blows, he is going to try to keep them apart. His best chance of doing this, in the view of experts here, is a proposal for a "triple fence" which is said to have been worked out by the UN truce supervisor, Canada's Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns.

Stursberg

It is generally accepted here that one thing which could alleviate the Palestine situation would be to separate the opposing forces; at present, they can stand toe-to-toe on the demarcation line. Whether distance makes the heart grow fonder, as some believe, it certainly makes a clash less likely, and that is why there is all this talk here of a buffer zone or a demilitarized area along the borders. The Security Council resolution which sent Mr. Hammarskjold on his peace mission calls for the withdrawal of the opposing forces, which amounts to the same thing.

According to the Egyptians, they were the first to propose a demilitarized frontier zone of a kilometer or 1,000 yards in width. The Israelis were against this, not because the Egyptians put it forward, but for a valid enough reason: their's is a small country, they point out, smaller than Vancouver Island, and the loss of a kilometer or half a kilometer around their long borders would be a serious blow; all the land they have is needed to grow food.

MODERN SOLOMON

How could the idea of a buffer zone be made acceptable to the Israelis? That was the problem which General Burns was asked to solve; on more than one occasion he has had to act as a modern Soloman in the Holy Land.

When he appeared before the Security Council last year, the UN truce supervisor proposed, among other things, the erection of a physical obstacle along the borders; such an obstacle would deter infiltrators, whether organized or not, from entering Israel. Now, according to an authoritative source, he has expanded this idea.

Gen. Burns' proposal is that the obstacle should consist of three parallel barbed-wire fences—one of the actual demarcation line and the other two 500 yards on either side of it. Israeli and Arab forces would be withdrawn beyond the outer fences, but Israeli and Arab civilians, including farmers, would be allowed inside the fences.

Thus, a buffer zone, 1,000 yards or a kilometer wide, would be created which would meet with the main objectives of the Israelis, as their land would not be lost but could be cultivated. The "triple fence" plan is acclaimed by those who have heard about it here as a most ingenious and practical scheme.

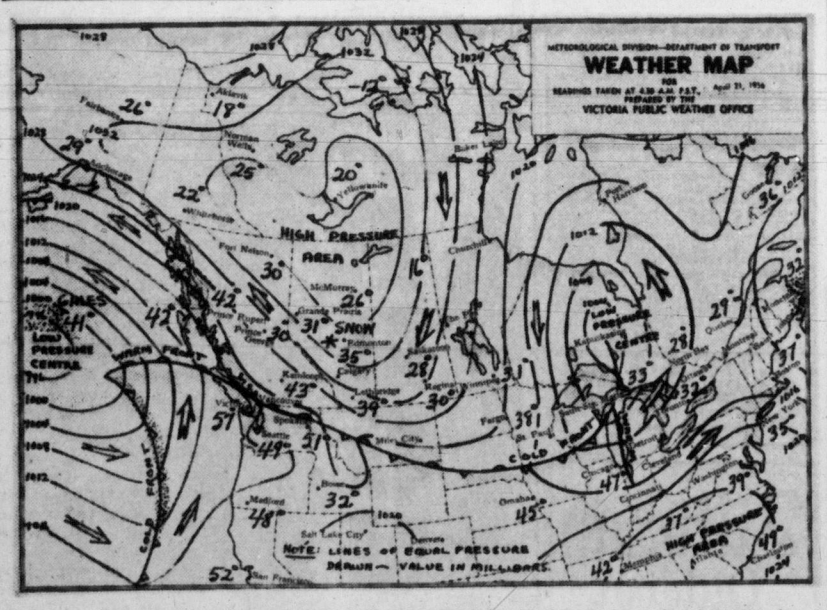
MUCH-KEPT SECRET

Although the Secretary-General has made public some of the correspondence he has had with Israeli and Egyptian leaders, he is keeping much of his negotiations secret. However, it is understood here that he is much taken with the idea of the triple fence and has proposed it as a means of keeping the two sides apart and preventing incidents.

Mr. Hammarskjold, according to usually reliable quarters, also asked the Israelis and the Arabs to agree to Gen. Burns' organization keeping watch over such a demilitarized zone, should it be established. Not only would there be observation posts along the frontiers, but also the triple fence would be patrolled by United Nations observers to see that all armed units were kept outside of it.

There are several other proposals which the Secretary-General is said to be taking up with the parties to the Palestine dispute; informants here speak of his having a six-point or an eight-point program. But, by far the most important is the triple fence.

While Israelis who have been apprised of Gen. Burns' scheme are favorably impressed, they do point out that some of their agricultural settlements, which are military strong points, are right on the border. However, as the Arabs have fortifications on the frontiers too, this is a matter which, given goodwill, could be negotiated. The point is that the triple fence would separate the opposing forces in Palestine and thus make border clashes less likely.



WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS—Once again a Pacific storm is centred out near the weather ship with only its edge skirting the B.C. coast. Hence again variable amounts of high cloud will pass over during the day occasionally becoming thick enough to hide the sun. But there is still no indication of any major break in the prevailing pattern. Coastal regions will see a gradual increase in cloud by Sunday morning as cooler Pacific air moves inland. Some of this cloud will reach into Puget Sound and the southern Gulf of Georgia but will dissipate during the day. Temperatures will drop slightly under the influence of this cooler air. Very little change is expected for interior sections. Today and Sunday will both be sunny and warm.

Churchwomen Back House Plan for Aged

A Nanaimo conference of Vancouver Island United Church Women's Association Friday endorsed a plan for early construction of a Victoria housing project for aged citizens.

About 143 Island representatives were told that preliminary plans will be placed before the B.C. United Church conference in Vancouver next month.

The scheme is for erection of a number of cottages, and Mayor Percy Scurrah has been asked by local members of the group to reserve a city-owned lot on Washington Avenue, located near the Gorge.

The units will be available to old persons requiring shelter regardless of what part of the Island they come from and regardless of church affiliation, said Mrs. C. W. Davies, secretary of the group.

$6,000 EACH

No estimate of the number of units planned was given, but spokesmen said they hope to start with a few cottages and add more as additional funds are available. They will cost about $6,000 each.

A fund drive will be held if the Vancouver conference approves the plan, and the provincial government will be asked to contribute one-third.

United Church has erected a similar project in Greater Vancouver but this will be the first attempt of this nature on the Island.

Victoria Senior Citizens Campaign Council announced plans earlier for a 48-unit housing project for the elderly.

Nanaimo could become the ski centre of Vancouver Island, according to Eric Guest of Nanaimo's fast-growing ski club.

The club was formed in 1949 but the club could not find suitable snowy slopes.

A million-dollar forest fire in 1951, which threatened Nanaimo when it swept down Little Wolf Mountain close to Mount Benson, laid bare an area subsequently rented by the ski club. The members then built a crude ski tow, 600 feet long, for $100. Power was supplied by an old truck engine. A new tow and modern lodge are now in prospect with the growing membership. The slopes on Little Wolf and Big Wolf Mountains are described as "just as good as the Forbidden Plateau, and much more accessible to ski enthusiasts from Vancouver and Victoria."

Health and freedom found

SCIENCE AND HEALTH
with Key to the Scriptures
by MARY BAKER EDDY

is showing multitudes of grateful men and women how to find freedom—how to pray the healing prayer of understanding. How to know the Truth which will "make you free," exactly as Jesus promised. There was nothing in Christ Jesus' entire ministry which said that his healing method was for then but not for now.

Christian Science has come as the promised Comforter to restore the lost element of healing to modern religion. It shows the sick, as well as others in need of help, how to claim and have their God-given freedom from fear, sickness, and want.

TO AID YOUNGSTERS

Club Plans Floats On Wheddle's Lake

CHEMAINUS — Chemainus Rod and Gun Club will build floats around the edge of Wheddle's Lake for the benefit of fishing-minded district youngsters.

Club vice-president Don Anderson told members that the club may be forced to withdraw the recommendation it made in February, that the game department be allowed to poison and restock Wheddle's Lake.

A great many people in the district were opposed to any plans for poisoning the lake, Mr. Anderson said.

"A number of people have asked me why the game department spends so much money on poisoning lakes that already have plenty of fish in them when there are all kinds on the Island with no fish in them at all that could be restocked."

CAUGHT LIMIT

Mr. Anderson said he and his son had fished the lake that afternoon and had caught their limit.

"Another man from Victoria was there and he got his limit too."

There were all kinds of fish in the lake, he said.

"If we want to clean out the lake, let's fix up the approach and let the kids get busy."

The club will build a series of small floats around the edge of the lake to allow the youngsters to get out into the lake with their gear.

Date for the annual salmon derby was set at Aug. 5.

A recommendation that the club be incorporated was approved by the meeting.

AUDREY SAYS

Narrowing Play Festival Field Is Detracting From Its Value

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

It is always said that one sure sign of on-coming age is to refer nostalgically to the "good old days."

However, at the risk of being told I'm seeing the past through rose-colored specs, and at the more regrettable risk of annoying a few of my very good friends, I am going on record as saying that our current adult drama festivals are not one-half so good or interesting as those of the prewar period.

Having just come through a week of plays whose general standard was certainly not of the best and whose audiences were distressingly small, I cannot help wondering what is going to happen to the 1957 and subsequent festivals. Or even if there can continue to be any festivals seeing that public interest has reached such a low ebb.

Now this is not a thing to be shrugged aside with a fatalistic "c'est la guerre." For there is good reason to believe in the future development of this city along culture - festival - convention lines, once business men and tourist development bureaus get their sights set.

And when it begins to happen, all the things that some of us have been struggling for years to maintain should form a nucleus around which the pattern and character of this city might grow.

So something should be done to secure the adult one-act play festival; to give it more importance and attraction for the public.

To be frank and to come straight to the point, as I see it, the present festival set-up is not one calculated to promote growth artistically, nor to draw the entertainment-seeking public away from a host of counter-attractions.

In referring to the pre war festival, the chief virtue seems to me to have lain in the fact that it was organized as the B.C. Drama Festival and that groups could—and quite frequently did—come from many points afield.

Personally I can recall exciting entries from Vancouver, Seattle, Portland, Port Alberni, Nanaimo, Duncan and many other centres. The standard was extremely high and every well-constituted person was likely to emerge from festival week considerably enriched by exposure to fresh and stimulating ideas.

A drama conference in connection with the festival was also as a rule, a rewarding and keenly anticipated event.

Naturally enough, there was considerable public interest aroused and it is conceivable that even now, TV would lose a few fans to such high grade and unique live entertainment.

Narrowing the field down to a south Vancouver Island zone has bled the festival of its richest potentiality. For the past several seasons the same local groups, the same actors, the techniques—or lack of them—have been the components of the drama festival in Victoria.

Our festival needs the proverbial shot in the arm—which it would get by opening up a wider field. And no hardship need be worked on up-Island communities through loss of their zonal festivals.

Winners of these zones and any other, would of course be eligible to appear in the major festival, which I think should be a permanent fixture of the spring season in Victoria.

Oistrack, New Name Among Violin Greats

Russian Accordionist—Add-Solo Concerto Discs—Pops Selections

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Victorians this year may have the opportunity of seeing in person David Oistrack, regarded as one of the greatest violinist of the day, according to word received from New York. He is definitely coming to Vancouver and now under consideration is the extension of his tour to this city.

It is strange that this Russian musician was only known to a limited circle on this continent two years ago. Since he came to the United States in November, 1955, he has become the sensation of the musical world. And not without reason, for Oistrack left no doubts among his critics that he was a vigorous player with a style of his own.

If you are not acquainted with Oistrack, Columbia's ML-5077, a new recording, features Oistrack in Shostakovitch violin concerto, Op. 99, which will give you a good idea of his precision and skill. Here he displays the rich, suave tone of his violin which is reproduced clearly and uniformly on the disc.

The concerto is also of interest as it is the first time it has ever been recorded. In addition, it was written and dedicated by the composer to Oistrack. It is a serious work with a striking third movement entitled "Passacaglia" which is somewhat ecclesiastical in character.

The work is performed by the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra of New York with Dimitri Mitropoulos conducting.

A record which should appeal to hundreds of Victoria accordionists is Angel's "Yuri Kozakov Plays the Bayan." Kozakov is recognized as tops in his field. The music, which is lively and easy to listen to, was recorded in London. A bayan, incidently, is the Russian equivalent to the accordion.

A reissue of arias and duet from the full-length recording of La Traviata comes from London (10 inch). This is a first rate performance starring Renata Tebaldi, soprano and Gianni Poggi, tenor. The St. Cecilia Orchestra is conducted by Franesco Molinari.

* * *

On the light side is Allegro-Royale "Echoes of the Danube" with Kurt Maier, with rhythm accompaniment. These popular Viennese melodies should suit all musical tastes. The music is also well recorded and comes out clear as a bell.

* * *

This will interest music students. Vanguard has issued six dics, three piano and three violin concertos, with the solo instrument missing. The idea is that you play the record and fill in the solo with piano or violin. The add-a-solo discs have been tried out by musicians and found successful.

Ever since she starred in Johann Straus' Fledermaus, Elizabeth Schwarzkoff has been rising in stature as one of the world's leading sopranos. She now appears on an Angel recording with Irmgard Seefried, and Gerald Moore at the piano. The two sopranos sing Moravian duets, madrigals and cazonets. The album contains texts and translations.

THIS WEEK'S CHOICE IN THE "POPS LIBRARY": Sammy Kaye and orchestra on Columbia CL 2571. This should appeal to anyone who likes good dance tunes. Selections include "Moritat," "The Great Pretender," and other popular hits of the month.

Another is "By Request," Winnifred Atwell, London LL 1247. This talented English pianist gives you some bright and entertaining music.

London's "Summer Evening Serenade," featuring Stanley Black Orchestra, should also not be overlooked.

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) BB (Worthwhile)
A (Don't Miss) B (For Rainy Days
C (To put in time)

(OSCAR CLASS) "PICNIC" (Odeon)—Little things, far removed from world shaking events, often make the finest plays. For instance, the story of an Italian butcher called "Marty" won an Academy this year and an Oscar for its star Ernest Borgnine. "The Rose Tattoo," the simple story about an explosive Sicilian dressmaker won a similar award for Italy's Anna Magnani.

Columbia's "Picnic" was nominated for an Academy this year and it, too, is of simple structure, merely recounting what took place after itinerant n'er-do-well William Holden drops in on a small town in Kansas looking for a job from old college pal and fraternity brother Cliff Robertson. His impact upon the lives of reigning beauty queen Kim Novak, her mother, Betty Field; her kid sister, Susan Strasberg; a spinster school teacher, Rosalind Russell, and her bachelor lover Arthur O'Connell, turns "Picnic" into one of the year's funniest and most exciting plays.

Based on the stage play by William Inge who wrote "Come Back, Little Sheba," that won an Academy Award for Shirley Booth three or four years ago, "Picnic" depends on "little things" and characterizations for its punch. And Broadway producer-director Joshua Logan, making his debut as a motion picture director, milked such tidbits to a fare-thee-well.

For instance there is the shot in the women's and men's lockrooms after the swim. All that separates the shes from the hes is a thin wall. On either side you see legs climbing out of wet bathing suits. On one side are Miss Novak and her hoydenish kid sister Susan who joins in on the conversation going on between Holden and Robertson on the other side. "Oh, my gosh," exclaims Holden, turning anxiously to Robertson, "What have we been talking about?"

A great deal of the action takes place at the town's Labor Day picnic on the banks of the river. This is rife with humor, especially the Bronx-cheering babies as the amateur talent show and innumerable speeches go on and on intolerably. The lights at night along the river, the perspiring town band, the smoochers and tired gaiety faithfully captures the mood of a day in a small town, as any who have ever attended such a do will testify.

As it is the way in all good plays, each and everyone in the casts acquits him or herself honorably. If Holden appears somewhat too old for his role he makes up for this with his superb acting. Miss Novak turns in a surprising performance and no doubt after this will go on to more important roles.

But it is Miss Russell who steals the show. Her acting is in a class of its own and one wonders how she was overlooked for nomination. And, lastly, one mustn't forget young Susan Strasberg who displays a neatness and deftness that bodes well for her theatrical future.

Mozart's 'Requiem' To Be Heard Here

By HANS GRUBER

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, 1756-1791.

Every major musical centre in all continents is staging special bicentenary commemorative concerts devoted to his music. It is fortunate, for musicians and audiences alike, that it is Mozart who is involved here, for by no means every composer's music could so easily be digested in so vast and concentrated quantities.

Victoria's musical organizations have not overlooked their duties toward local music lovers—and toward Mozart. The Choral Society is producing the Requiem this coming Wednesday evening, April 25, at the Victoria High School auditorium, with Elgar serving as assisting artist to Mozart, by being represented on the same program with his "Music Makers."

The story of how "Requiem" came to be written at all is very nearly as frightening as some of the music itself.

A mysterious stranger, dressed all in grey, appeared in the dark of night at Mozart's doorstep, and commissioned the master to set to music the words of the Requiem Mass. Mozart was disturbed by this apparition and his purpose in coming; but, he was about to leave for Prague for the premiere of his Don Giovanni, and the effect of that nocturnal occurence receded in his mind; he vaguely resolved to fulfill the commission upon his return from Prague.

LAST FLOWERING

By that time it was all forgotten, and his mind was occupied with what proved to be his second-to-last work and his last opera, the Magic Flute. Mozart was in failing health. No sooner was the Magic Flute finished, when this same stranger reappeared, and demanded the Requiem.

Mozart, now thoroughly terrified, put him off, inasmuch as he had not even begun it, and promised to write it forthwith. He was failing rapidly. He worked at fever pitch, no longer wholly lucid.

One December night he gathered friends around him, and, handing out vocal parts, bade them sing the Requiem, himself taking the alto part.

Presently the alto voice was missing. Mozart was dead, not yet 36 years old. His middle name — Amadeus — means "he whom God loves," and Mozart's case serves as rather strong proof of the saying that God calls soon to Himself those He loves best.

LUXURY SHIP PURCHASED BY GREEK MAGNATE

The luxury schooner Fantome, (shown at left), which visited Victoria in 1939 with owner A. E. Guinness, British brewer, aboard, has been sold to the Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, it was reported in Sorel, Que., today.

Fantome berthed at Victoria in March of 1939, and her owner intended to spend several weeks cruising B.C. waters. But in September she was in Seattle, to pick up a new motor launch, and remained there from the outbreak of war until three years ago, when she was towed to Sorel.

Fantome was built in Italy, in 1927, for the Duke of Westminster.

Navy Band, Symphony At Conference Concert

Victoria Symphony Orchestra and the band of HMCS Naden will join with visiting and local school bands in the grand wind-up concert of the two-day B.C. Schools Band and Orchestra Conference here next Saturday.

This concert will take place in Memorial Arena at 8 and is the only event of the conference open to the general public. Tickets are available at Ward's Music Store, Western Music, also from Bernie Porter's studio and students of the Greater Victoria high schools.

Among visiting school bands to be heard during the evening, is the famed Kamloops band which traveled to Amsterdam last year on invitation from the big band festival and won the competition for their class.

Billeting for the expected 800-odd young musicians who will arrive in Victoria Thursday, has gone over the top. So generous has been the response to pleas for accommodation, that the committee of the B.C. Schools Instrumental Teachers' Association, sponsors of the conference, now have more offers than they will actually require.

All those who have offered accommodation will be contacted directly by the committee and informed as to whether or not their billet will be needed.

Conference sessions will occupy the whole of Friday at the arena and Saturday at S. J. Willis Junior High School.

Walter Welke, recent instrumental adjudicator at the Victoria Music Festival and member of the music faculty of the University of Washington Music School, will be chief instructor. A talk by Hans Gruber on conducting will be one of the Saturday afternoon features.

Others conducting clinics in various instruments are Tudor Jones, training officer of the RCN School of Music at HMCS Naden; Harold Bateman, RCN instructor in single reeds; Howard Denike, Ken Blake, RCN flute and piccolo instructor; Rowland Grant, Dave Townsend, James Fraser, Jack Armitage, Frank Slater, George Green, Bill Smith.

Clifford Evens will also be a special speaker.

Stern Tours Russia

Isaac Stern, American-born and trained violinist, will make a concert tour in the Soviet Union this spring, becoming the first American musician to concertize there since the end of Second World War.

Stern was invited to make the tour by the Soviet government. David Oistrakh, Russian violinist, has given a highly successful series of concerts in the United States this season.

Stern's tour will take five weeks. The plan is for concerts in Moscow, Leningrad, and other major cities.

Lew Ayres Plans Broadway Debut In Shangri-La

Screen star Lew Ayres will make his Broadway stage debut this spring in "Shangri-La," musical version of James Hilton's book, "Lost Horizon."

Robert Fryer and Lawrence Carr, the producers, believe Ayres is particularly suited to play Conway, whose restless search for Utopia is climaxed by the discovery of Shangri-La, a magic and timeless valley amid the icy peaks of the Himalayas.

Ayres, whose self-made documentary film, "Altars of the East," recently completed an engagement here, has spent most of the past three years writing, photographing and studying in the Far East.

Vancouver Surveys Indian Art In One of Two Fine Exhibitions

By COLIN GRAHAM

With the first good weather of spring, in this city at any rate, the art of the gardener suddenly takes precedence over that of the painter—except of course in the benighted minds of artists, curators and other hopeless addicts of the visual arts.

At the advent of sun and warmth gallery attendance figures sometimes plummet. Nor should anyone with a sense of values regret this. It is not as though the competition were coming from television screens or six-day bicycle races.

Yet this week I really must urge readers to recall that famous Eskimo proverb: spring comes every year but a great exhibition only once. This is in fact a time when even the most humus-intoxicated gardener should lay aside the spade for a weekend, pawn his tools if necessary, and take the triangle trip to Seattle and Vancouver. In both those cities there will be exhibitions the like of which may not come this way again for many a year.

The occasion in Vancouver is at once magnificent and a little saddening. In the last few years the Vancouver Art Gallery, largely as a result of the tireless work of its remarkably able and imaginative curator J. A. Morris, has become one of the most dynamically evolving art museums of the entire west and one of the four internationally significant galleries of Canada.

Last week that gallery opened what is probably its most ambitious and creative exhibition to date—The People of the Potlatch—and simultaneously announced the loss of its curator to a San Francisco gallery.

The loss is Victoria's as well as Vancouver's for, as this column has mentioned on previous occasions, Mr. Morris' work influenced indirectly the condition of the arts in the whole of the province, and he was always exceptionally generous in helping our own gallery with loan exhibitions.

Though I have not yet been able to see it, Victorians returning from the preview of The People of the Potlatch tell me it is one of the most stunning and impressive displays they have witnessed.

Along with this show visitors will see the large and definitive retrospective of the work of David Milne, organized by the National Gallery and also with an extremely fine catalogue. Both shows will close May 6.

Then to Seattle, whose art museum opens on April 28 what it justly calls "The Great Exhibition." This truly fabulous display of 100 masterpieces from the Walter P. Chrysler collection, all of them large and major works, extends from the Renaissance down to modern times.

Such names as Rubens, Rembrandt, Gainsborough, Monet, Matisse, Braque and Picasso should be enough to draw anyone across the border. May 27 is the closing date.

Spring Spate of Books Lacking in Distinction

By JAMES SCOTT

For the past week Canada has been—or is supposed to have been—celebrating Book Week. This is an annual event and is not exactly a whoop-de-do fiesta. In matters literary we are a composed people and no fireworks went up to glorify Canadian authorhood. Yet in our own quiet, inhibited way some of us anyway were made perhaps a little more aware of the fact that books do get written in this country, and that, on a clear day, some people read them.

Out on the West Coast I understand that there was a fine showing in Vancouver where several local writers exhibited facets of their work—original MSS., copies of editions of their work which have appeared in other languages, etc. In Toronto, there was a mammoth literary luncheon with Mr. J. B. Priestley as guest speaker. The radio, the press, TV and other organs of mass communication nodded in acknowledgement.

The most effective way to celebrate Book Week, however, is to read a book, or better still, to buy one.

The crop which has just rolled off the presses is not so distinguished as one might wish for Book Week, but it is comparatively plentiful anyway. A new first novel by Gladys Frances Lewis called "Joshua Doan" is a piece of historical fiction centering around the 1837 Rebellion as it happened in Western Ontario, plus the role of the Quakers in settlement at the same period. There is a lot of fascinating material here handled conventionally but effectively. If the author had just been a bit more accurate in her historical research I could easily give this new novel unqualified praise.

HUMOROUS SEARCH

Then there is a humorist. This time it is Robert Thomas Allen who is best known for his regular pieces in one of our national magazines.

Mr. Allen at least has avoided the hazard of merely collecting pieces which have previously been in print. For this alone I would give him full marks, for the slothful way of collecting and regurgitating old periodical stuff does little for a vigorous literature. Mr. Allen's theme in "The Grass Is Never Greener," is the search for a proper place to live.

With considerable—but not very varied—humor he takes the reader through a good deal of North America whilst he and his family wrestle with the problems of finding the ideal climate, the ideal neighbors, the ideal livelihood and the like of that.

Inevitably, of course, there is nature. Book Week's representative is "Wildlife Trails Across Canada" by Hugh M. Halliday. If you still are not surfeited by Canada's wildlife wonderland you might like this one.

The juveniles, too, are represented. Two in fact. Josephine Phelan's "The Bold Heart" which is the story of Father Lacombe written in a very simple and rather too undramatic style for readers around 12 or 14 and Roderick Haig-Brown's "Captain of the Discovery" who, of course, is George Vancouver.

One of the most thought-provoking books I have looked at this week is from the pen of the late Robert Lindner, a distinguished psychiatrist of western Canada. Dr. Lindner's book is a series of stimulating essays including one which gives the volume its title, "Must You Conform?" The conclusion is that if you do conform you will be selling civilization short. The writing is sharp and simple and the arguments are the kind which are both easy to assimilate and hard to forget.

BOLD ADVENTURERS

The most interesting publication I saw this week can hardly be called a book at all in the orthodox sense of the word. It is a slim, mimeographed pamphlet called "Poetry '56" which contains the work of 10 poets all under the age of 30.

Books About Canada Have Limited Appeal

This is the second part of an article on Canada Book Week by Times editor Bruce Hutchison.

BY BRUCE HUTCHISON

At the present stage of our national development the satisfaction of reaching the people, directly or indirectly, is the only satisfaction a Canadian writer can usually expect. For by the hard facts of economics and geography a book about Canada seldom can have a large sale, as sales are gauged in larger countries.

I am not referring here to books written by Canadians about other countries but to books about Canada. Not many readers in any other country will read about Canada because, in the world's opinion, it is a prosperous, honest and extremely dull country.

As there are only about 12,000,000 English-speaking Canadians, a small minority of whom read books at all, it is mathematically certain that Canadian book sales must be relatively small. Yet larger than you might think.

An American book of a serious sort, as distinguished from the best sellers of fiction, is considered a success if it sells five or ten thousand copies.

A good many Canadian books of recent years have sold far more than that, and virtually all within Canada. They could not make the author rich (indeed, no Canadian can make a living by writing books about Canada), but they helped to enrich the nation by revealing it to its own people.

It seems to me unimportant that foreigners do not usually read our serious books.

If a man is out to make money naturally he will try to reach the mass market of the United States and that is a perfectly proper ambition. If he intends to reach the Canadian people he almost disbars himself automatically from other markets.

For if the book is tailored for a foreign audience inevitably its native content is diluted. That is why the Canadian books that have succeeded most in Canada are purely and intensely Canadian. They have something to say to the Canadian people which no foreigner is ever likely to say, though he may be a far greater writer than the Canadian.

Book Week is useful in drawing public attention to these matters and perhaps in launching some people on the innocent vice of reading. But a national literature, like anything else of importance, will grow slowly, at its own pace, depending on the genius of the people, more than on the genius of writers.

Once a people becomes interested in itself and demands self-examination it will find the writers to satisfy its needs.

Huguenot Spellbinder

BLADE OF HONOR by John H. Pugh, Little, Brown & Co., Toronto. 338 pages. $4.50.

The scene of John J. Pugh's novel, "Blade of Honor," is laid in France of 1572 during the period when the whole country was torn by strife between Catholics and Huguenots.

While there is of necessity a ring of familiarity because of the scores of novels written of this period, the author carries the reader through a chain of turbulent events which leaves him spellbound.

Childhood Memories

(Reviewed by Claire A. Yardley)

THE LONG HIKE, by Dorothy Ivens; Macmillan Company of Canada, Ltd. $2.00; 39 Pages.

Mrs. Ivens herself has illustrated this book and the pictures are set forth in a soft apple green, creating the atmosphere of a sweet summer day—a perfect day for a picnic.

A basket of good things to eat, trees to climb along the way, all the delights of a hike to the river are brought alive in these pages. By capturing the enjoyment of her own childhood and conveying it to her young readers, the author has created a simple wholesome and charming picture book.

Group Planting Answer To Quantity Vs. Quality

BY JACK BEASTALL

There may be some satisfaction in being the proud owner of the largest clump of particular perennial, but the gardener with a small clump will usually be the proud possessor of the best blooms.

That is one reason for advocating the practice of regularly dividing perennials. The other reason is so that the older worn-out portions may be discarded.

The finest blooms undoubtedly are obtained when the plants produce just a single flowering spike. It is sometimes amazing to see the size and quality of flower so small a plant can make.

Supposing you have not practised regular dividing of your perennials, you can still improve the flowers by removing half the number of new growths which are now on the crowns of the plants. It is just a simple matter of clearing away a little soil from around the crowns and breaking off some of the growths as close to the roots as possible.

If you have any doubts as to the results of such a procedure and you have two or more plants of the same kind of perennial, reduce the number of shoots on one plant and compare the blooms with those of the untouched clumps.

The most frequent objection to both the dividing of plants and the removal of growths is that the mass of color will be lessened and the plant will not fill its allotted space.

To overcome this we can borrow an idea from the professional gardener. In large gardens and parks a mass of color is obtained by using a number of the same kind of plants. The professional knows the small plants will produce the best flowers and a number of small plants grouped together will give the best effect.

The home gardener can use this idea without additional expenditure because one old clump may give anything from five to 25 new divisions.

Planting these divisions in a group a few inches apart will produce the mass effect of a large clump, but will give the quality of flowers obtainable only from single stem plants.

Q.—My plants of sage and thyme seem to have been badly damaged during the winter. Since there are a few green leaves do you think they will recover?

A.—If all dead wood (twigs and stems) is cut back at this time there is a chance of new growth being made within a week or so.

Hidden Steps, Separate Suite Features of Two-Level Design

Here is a two-level home, designed to suit a lot sloping from back to front. Particular purpose of the design is to eliminate a long, unsightly flight of steps at the front of the house. Steps are naturally there but are hidden inside a very attractive entrance.

This plan also provides for a living room with fireplace, a bedroom and kitchen as well as bathroom on the lower level, with its own private entrance which could be used by in-laws or rented as a suite to help out with mortgage payments.

Other features of this design are the 44-foot frontage and kitchen and bathroom placed back to back for economy. The plan can be reversed to suit view or building site.

Blueprints are available from the Building Centre B.C. Ltd., 1240 West Broadway, Vancouver. Send 25 cents for new "50 Home Plan Book."

MY WIFE IS NUTS about the miniature daffodils. So will you be when you see these delightful little fellows. They make the most trouble-free furnishings for your rock garden.

White Waiterii with a flower the size of a dime, Minimus, a perfect little trumpet daffodil only three inches high; Cyclamineous, sunny little girl with her pigtails flying, and hoop petticoats in shades of yellow and white.

You will find them hard to resist at Christiansen's, 3945 Saanich Road, Victoria's Most Interesting Garden. Low priced, too!

The Saanich-Beckwith bus passes the door.

DiCastri Criticizes 'Box' Type Designs

By HUMPHRY DAVY

City contractors are sharply criticized by architect John A. Di Castri, for extolling the "box designed type house" in the 28-page Saturday Times supplement "Parade of Homes" which featured new homes built in Victoria.

Mr. Di Castri speaking before Victoria High School students in the effective living course earlier this week, said some of the designs advocated by contractors "lacked vision and foresight."

Referring to the supplement, Mr. Di Castri said with the exception of illustrations by some local architects, there were pages and pages extolling the "box."

He described the box-type house as a "gimmick to go along with all the high-pressure, fast-talking salesmanship that inundates us these days."

"I am all for contractors: most of them are intelligent, highly-skilled individuals," he said, "but let us not get carried away and place the interpretation of quality on our achitecture in the hands of people who are not qualified."

He took issue with one contractor who claimed the trend is away from modern style homes and heading back to the Tudor, Cape Cod or salt box variety.

"Undoubtedly everyone is entitled to his own opinion but I think this way lacks foresight and vision," he said. "This contractor goes on to state that there are too many frills in newer style homes. Well just exactly, what is a frill."

Mr. Di Castri said if the contractor's argument was followed to its final conclusion people would all be living in hygienically constructed "cubes," which would be without frills.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

Offspring of Primulas Are Numerous and Varied

By JACK BEASTALL

Q.—Can you tell me the difference between primrose and primulas?

A.—Primula is the name of a group of plants which includes primrose (Primula acaulis), polyanthus (P. polyanthus), auricula (P. auricula), and the globe primula (P. denticulata), to name but a few of the more commonly grown species.

Q.—Is it too early to plant sweet corn?

A.—It is usual to plant corn about the second or third week of May in the Victoria area, unless you are in a district where the last frost has been recorded much earlier over a period of years.

C-2 to Carry Schools Telecast; PCL Baseball Starts Tuesday

Pacific Coast League baseball telecasting gets under way this week.

Opening game ceremonies will commence Tuesday at 1 p.m. on Channel 13 when the defending champions, Seattle Rainiers, take on the San Francisco Seals at Sicks' Stadium. Game time is 1.30. Channel 13 will carry a second game at 8. For the benefit of fans, PCL TV schedules are carried elsewhere in this section, games to be telecast over Channels 2, 12 and 13. Watch the daily column for details.

Commencing Tuesday at 2.30, Channel 2 will carry the first of 15 specially-prepared telecasts of 10, 20 or 30 minutes in length of Now, "Let's Watch, demonstrating the second TV-for-schools trial of Adventures in Speech. (See picture on front of this section.) Channel 2 will carry the second and third telecasts this week at 2.30 on Thursday and Friday.

Another highlight this week will be Monday when Channels 11 and 12 will carry Edward R. Murrow's documentary, Report From Africa, Part 1. Replacing Studio One (Channel 11) for this night only, See It Now takes viewers to the Gold Coast, Liberia, Belgian Congo, Kenya, Rhodesia and South Africa. Murrow's effort will be to attempt to show a continent on the upsurge and how some parts are more advanced than others. It starts at 7.

Here are the balance of the week's highlights in order of their appearance.

MONDAY

7.00: Channels 11 and 12: Edward R. Murrow shows the first part of the documentary, Report From Africa.

8.30: Channel 5: Thomas L. Thomas, famed baritone, will be heard on the Firestone concert program.

10.00: Channel 2: Studio One presents Wendell Corey in Rod Serling's fine hour-long drama, "The Arena." A freshman senator would fight fire with fire.

TUESDAY

1.30: Channel 13: Baseball: Seattle Rainier vs. San Francisco Seals.

2.30: Channel 2: The first demonstration of a TV-for-schools telecast, highlight "Adventures in Speech" and "How Does Your Garden Grow."

7.00: Channels 11 and 12: The $64,000 Question.

8.00: Channel 13: Baseball: Seattle Rainiers play the San Francisco Seals. Second game of a double-header.

9.30: Channel 4: Playwrights '56 presents the hour-long drama, "Centre of the Maze," about a rich girl who falls in love with the gardener.

Channel 11: Never again will Robin Hood seem quite the same as Red Skelton impersonates the famous outlaw of Sherwood Forest. This will be a musical as well.

WEDNESDAY

7.00: Channel 5: Boxing: Milo Savage and Charley Joseph tangle in a 10-round middleweight brawl in New Orleans. Savage is rated No. 2 in the division while Joseph holds down the 9th ranking spot.

Channels 11 and 12: Steel Hour presents Everett Sloane in "Noon on Doomsday," another effort by brilliant young playwright Rod Serling. A man is acquitted of murder by a jury but the townspeople begin to doubt if it is a just one.

8.00: Channel 4: George Montgomery and Angela Lansbury star in Directors' Playhouse's "Claire," about a second wife who had to stand by helplessly while the first wife drowns.

9.00: Channel 4: Kraft presents Kenny Delmar in the 60-minute comedy, "The Gentle Grafter." A confidence man has many ups and downs.

THURSDAY

2.30: Channel 2: Second schools telecast.

8.30: Channel 11: Ralph Bellamy stars in Climax's "Sit Down With Death," by that excellent whodunit author William Irish. An elevator crashes and one man is killed. However, it seems as though he has been murdered.

9.30: Channels 4 and 12: Ford Theatre presents "Alibi," starring busy-man Ralph Bellamy. A drama critic is loved by the star of the play he is slated to review.

10.00: Channel 11: Al Wallace's excellent sports review.

FRIDAY

7.00: Channel 4: Boxing: Joe Miceli meets Isaac Logart in a 10-round welterweight fight at Syracuse. Logart holds down the third-ranking position while Miceli is on the 9th rung.

ASTRIDE A WINNER—Waving his cheque, jockey Bill Pearson sits astride a television camera in New York after booting home a winner. He received top money on TV's "The $64,000 Question."

HOLLYWOOD TODAY

Uncle Milt Would Sell His Contract

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Hollywood and GrapeVine: A Hollywood movie theatre is jingling its box-office bells with a switch on success, "Flop Night." Every Wednesday two unannounced box-office lemons are being squeezed for plenty of sugar.

* * *

Mary Pickford's threatening to will her fabulous collection of film memorabilia and art objects to three other cities with motion picture museums unless Hollywood establishes one of its own. The absence of a movie museum in movietown is an eyebrow-lifter for every out-of-town visitor.

* * *

Wally (Mr. Peepers) Cox will make a TV comeback for NBC. He's starred in a pilot reel based on Paul Gallico's "Hiram Holliday."

* * *

Now look what Miss Wiggle Hips did.

Marilyn Monroe's "Bus Stop" emoting in Phoenix resulted in this page one box in the Phoenix Gazette:

Marilyn

"Next time Phoenix police escort Marilyn Monroe — or other visiting celebrities — they'll stop for red lights, observe the speed limit and not use sirens. Officers who escorted Miss Monroe from Sky Harbor airport to the Sahara hotel apparently were so excited they couldn't see red and forget to stop for traffic signals. Today chief of police Charles P. Thomas warned:

"When escorts are furnished for visiting dignitaries . . . all vehicles will stop for traffic lights, stop signs, etc., and will observe speed limits at all times."

* * *

Now Milton Berle wants to give back his 30-year contract at $300,000 a year to NBC. How times change. Remember all the headlines about Mr. Television signing the "unbreakable" contract? But today Berle is saying: "I'd like to change my sphere for a while. My wife wants me to take a long rest and she's got me pretty sold on the idea."

* * *

On the same subject, Bob Hope is pointing these days to this handwriting on the wall:

Hope

"I think broad comedy is on the way out. The public is being educated to the more subtle types of comedy. The public seems to want novelty and variety too."

* * *

It's Eve Arden's line about the cannibal child who was expelled from school because he buttered up too many teachers.

* * *

Greer Garson is the latest Hollywood TV convert. Since starring with Bob Hope in a home-screen version of "The Awful Truth," she's beaming: "TV is something that makes you say, the day of the show, 'I'll never do it again.' And when it's all over, you want to do it all over again."

THE CHANNEL SWIM

Sid Chooses New Members

BY WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Sid Caesar has picked Pat Carroll and Shirley Conway as new members of his cast for the fall. They'll replace Sandra Deel and Ellen Parker. Right now, the front runners for Nanette Fabray's job are Janet Blair and Polly Bergen. Miss Carroll and Miss Parker, incidentally, are both expecting babies — the former in August, the latter in September.

Ethel and Albert are getting the axe on ABC-TV. So is the "Casablanca" portion of the Warner Bros. Presents series on the same network.

Set for NBC-TV is a new noontime show, "It Could Be You," which Ralph Edwards will steer. It's another one of those audience participation things.

The new "Steve Allen Show," which NBC-TV will drop into the slot opposite CBS-TV's Ed Sullivan, is scheduled to make its bow on July 1. Those close to Allen describe the program as a tighter version of Steve's "Tonight." It'll also have more top stars.

Allen will continue to pilot the "Tonight" show two or three times a week. Ernie Kovacs has been mentioned as his possible "Tonight" replacement.

Noel Coward tried to land Kay Kendall for the third lead in his upcoming CBS-TV spectacular, "This Happy Breed," but she turned him down. After the show, Coward will take off for the French Riviera where he'll spend a month visiting Somerset Maugham.

DID YOU KNOW .. by Heaney's

SOME FORM OF A WEDDING CEREMONY HAS BEEN PERFORMED TO UNITE MAN AND WIFE SINCE EARLIEST HISTORIC TIMES. AT FIRST A SYSTEM OF CAPTURE WAS THE APPROVED METHOD WHICH WAS LATER REPLACED BY PURCHASING THE BRIDE FROM HER FATHER. ONE OF THE MOST WIDE-SPREAD RITES OF MARRIAGE IS THAT OF THE MAN AND WOMAN EATING OUT OF ONE DISH. OUR MODERN "BEST MAN" IS THE SURVIVAL OF THE BRIDEGROOM'S HELPER IN THE ACT OF CAPTURE. THE THROWING OF RICE MERELY REPLACES THE SPREADING OF WEEDS, FLOWERS AND RUSHES ON THE WAY TO THE CHURCH. THE SALE OF WIVES WAS CARRIED ON IN ENGLAND AS LATE AS THE 18TH. CENTURY AND ONE SUCH RECORDED PURCHASE WAS BY THE DUKE OF CHANDOS WHO BOUGHT HIS SECOND WIFE FROM HER HUSBAND WHO WAS OFFERING HER FOR SALE AS THE DUKE PASSED THROUGH TOWN.

CEREMONIES HAVE THEIR PLACE IN OUR LIVES BUT THERE'S NO UNNECESSARY CEREMONY IN THE MOVING SERVICE OFFERED BY HEANEY'S. Vancouver Holdup Suspects Released

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two men and a woman were released Friday after questioning in connection with the $5,000 holdup of a branch of the Bank of Montreal Thursday.

Their release was ordered by RCMP Sergeant Fred Saunders after witnesses to the armed robbery in suburban Burnaby were unable to identify the trio.

Police are still searching for the bandits' getaway car, driven by a blonde aged about 22. None of the money taken by the armed men has been recovered. They missed another $5,000 kept in a cashier's box.

CHAMPION RIDER KILLED

HOCKENHEIM, Germany (AP) — Karl Remmert, 1955 world champion motorcycle driver, was killed in a training accident Friday.

EXPLOSION IN OFFING?

CLOVERDALE (CP)—Liberal Leader Arthur Laing told a party meeting here Friday night the "cloud of suspicion now over the present provincial government must be resolved before it dares go to the people."

"I don't think Premier Bennett will dare meet us for another session. We can have a political explosion any time and we must be prepared for it," he said.

Sunday Sport Issue Up to B.C.—Garson

VANCOUVER (CP)—Justice Minister Garson indicated Friday the question of Sunday sport in Vancouver and the rest of British Columbia could be decided by the provincial government.

He said he has so far received no application or briefs of any kind from B.C. groups.

But he added what B.C. does is the province's business "upon which I would prefer not to pass any judgment."

"I think the Lord's Day Act in its present form allows a wide measure of expression to the provincial authorities and on the whole I think it has been working quite satisfactorily."

Cancer is an expensive disease. Contributions to the April Cancer Campaign help cancer patients meet this heavy expense.

DROPHNY IN FINAL

GENOA, Italy (AP)—Jaroslav Drobny, 1954 Wimbledon winner; Hugh Stewart of San Marino, Calif., Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy; and Luis Ayala of Chile Friday won their way into the semi-finals of the Genoa international tennis tournament.

Top-seeded Drobny turned back Chiles No. 2 player, Andres Hammersley, 6-3, 6-4.

CANUCKS ON ROPES AGAINST 'PEG TONIGHT

WINNIPEG (CP)—Art Chapman, coach of Vancouver Canucks, said Friday night his club had its "back to the wall" for Saturday night's all-important Western Hockey League game with Winnipeg Warriors.

The clubs meet in the sixth game of their best-of-seven final series. Winnipeg has a 3-2 edge in games.

"They must produce or else," Chapman said. "We didn't look too good Thursday night but I think Warriors made us look that way. They were on top of us all the time. However, we have no alibis."

IT'S MY VIEW BY Bill Walker

Who would you pick as your top athletes of the past 10 years?

Who are the personalities you remember best?

Who gave you the most thrills and left you with the most memories?

Sport Magazine wants the answers.

It's the 10th anniversary this fall of that U.S. monthly and a cross-country poll is being taken to determine the men of the decade in their chosen field.

Ready, let's go.

In baseball, would you give the nod to Joe DiMaggio who closed out an illustrious career with the Yankees, "say-hey" Willie Mays, the bright young star of the New York Giants; Robin Roberts, six times a 20-game winner in the National League . . . or, are you one of the legion which idolizes Stan the Man Musial?

Or would you pass the bouquet to Ted Williams, the guy wo took two years off to fight for the marines, and then bounced back to be the terrific thumper he was before? We would.

Rocky Wears His Crown Well

Now for boxing. Do you still recall the cold, impassive approach of Joe Louis as he shuffled in for the kill? Do you fancy Ray Robinson, once called the best fighter, pound-for-pound in the world? . . . there wasn't any better than this pair. Or would you cast your decision in favor of rollicking Rocky Marciano, king of the curent crop and as fierce a belter as can be found in the squared circle?

You have to beat a champion to be one, and nobody's come close to doing that to Rocky.

Pro football is next on the list—and that means American ball by Sport standards.

Ours came mostly by television, and three men have stood out. First, there's Lou Groza, the "toe"; then Doak Walker, one of the few All-Americans, who was still all-American when the dough was on the line.

But for one fellow who could do more for one team and to another, Otto Graham must rank front and centre. With Graham, the Cleveland Browns were almost unbeatable. Without him they took their lumps like the rest.

He "took charge," and he was the Browns, and probably the greatest field general pro football has ever known.

There's only one man in golf, and that's Ben Hogan. 1 times U.S. National Open champion, bantam Ben recove... from a serious injury suffered in a car accident to regain the heights that seemed lost to him forever. For ability, plus courage, none have matched the chain-smoking Hogan through the years; and his name today is still as magic as his putter.

Gordie or the Rocket—It's Your Pick

But here it comes to again. Hockey. This is a perennial —Rocket Richard vs. Gordie Howe (or is Terry Sawchuk your man?).

The Rocket, greatest goal scorer of modern days, against Howe, who does everything well. Opinion will be divided down the line forever on these two. The Rocket is crowding the shady side of the hill; Howe can see many glittering horizons ahead. And both are 10-year men.

You pick one—we can't. But press us and we'd say The Rocket.

King of the thoroughbreds is Nashua, with a new-money mark around the corner, and the one victory he had to win—over Swaps—behind him.

Pancho Gonzales keeps coming back to whip the upstarts who threaten his diadem in tennis, but didn't Frank Sedgman provide a more than a few thrills too. But in the final analysis, it was, and still is, Gonzales.

Roger Beat John, Didn't He?

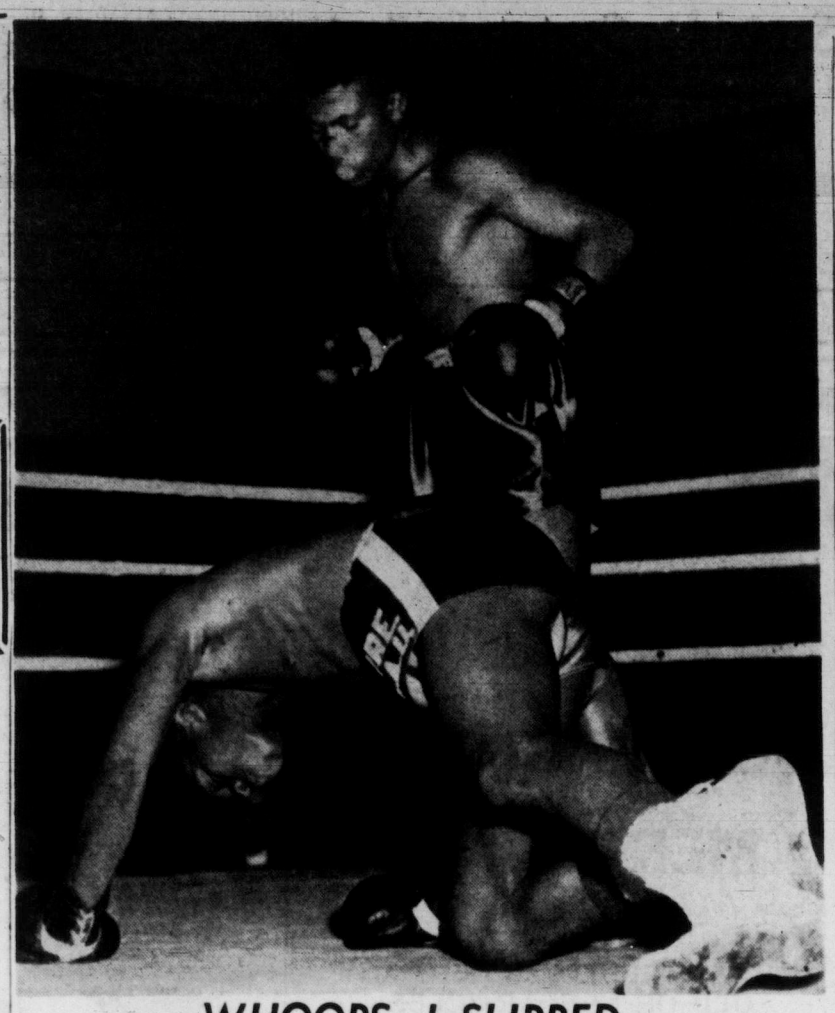
The Empire Games in Vancouver helped solve this one.

In track and field has there been a more commanding figure than Roger Bannister? What about John Landy? you say. Bannister, who first cracked the four-minute barrier, cracked Landy, too, in the "mile of the century" at Vancouver, and to the champion must go the spoils. He made four-minute history; he beat the world record holder, Landy, and he, in our books, made the biggest story of the decade.

Else why would the four-minute mile still be history; which it is.

Or until Landy runs a 3.56 mile, which he could do; and soon.

Now who have we missed? Hmmm! Jean Beliveau!



WHOOPS, I SLIPPED

Portland lightweight Johnny White sprawls on his hands and knees after slipping in his bout with Bobby Hicks during the Optimists' "Tournament of Champions" boxing show at Central Junior High School gym Friday night. White came off the canvas to go on and lose a tough split decision to Hicks.

Close Battles Feature Optimist Gloves Tourney

By BILL RAYNER

Sometime around 11 tonight, the best fighter in the second annual Victoria Optimist Club's "Tournament of Champions" will have been chosen. It will be a tough decision.

For Friday night at Central Junior High School gym, on the first card of the two-day amateur boxing show, the 10 bouts presented to the 1,000 cash customers were all fast, exciting and, with one exception, extremely close.

Only clear-cut decision was hammered out by Dale Nicely, Portland, whose stinging attack to the stomach summarily deflated Tommy Delveccio, Vancouver, at 1.42 of the first round of their 147-pound encounter. It was the only knockout of the night.

Earlier, Bobby Hicks, the brown bomber from Seattle who was last year's "Champion of Champions," threw the race wide open with a scrambly decision over game Johnny White, Portland.

Hicks, who stepped up to the 132-point bracket to meet White, had his victory roundly booed by the crowd. It could very easily have gone the other way.

Best fight of the night was the final, a bruising pier six brawl between light-heavyweights Willis Mitchell of Seattle and Lindy Lindmoser of Vancouver. Mitchell out-blasted Lindmoser for the split decision.

Here's How They Won and Lost

Results of the other fights were as follows:

119-pound class — Brian O'Hare, Victoria, counterpunching and backing up all the way, took a split decision from Darryl McQuarry, Portland.

119-pound class—Busy, quick-punching Johnny Phillips, South Burnaby, outpointed long-swinging George Hobson, Everett.

125 pound class — Gil Durey, Eugene, classy ex-Australian champion, scored repeatedly with straight lefts to take nod from Floyd Millsten, Kent.

139-pound class — Kurt Max, Vancouver, outbombed Tom Sullivan, Kent, in another wild-swinging, enthusiastic brawl.

139-pound class — Willie Azzi, South Burnaby, bored in all the way to tuck away victory over rangy Curtis Stuart, Seattle.

147-pound class—Vancouver's Jimmy Walters, showing his class as Canadian champion, took decision from rugged Squeak Weisgerber, RCN. Weisgerber took automatic eight-count for knock-down in first round.

165-pound class — Harvey Burke, Portland, a slope-shouldered carbon copy of Jersey Joe Walcott in his palmier days, used rocking left hand to take split decision over Jimmy Vangel, Kent.

During the intermission, RCN physical instructors gave an informative and highly hilarious demonstration of the do's and don'ts of boxing.

Finalists Clash Tonight

Tonight, 12 bouts will wind up the tourney, including finals in all divisions.

Brian O'Hare and Johnny Phillips will clash in the 119-pound final, followed by Gil Durey and Bill Schallis, Seattle, in the 125-pound final, and 112-pounders Dick Murikami, Salt Spring Island and Tommy Takao, Seattle.

In the 132-pound final, Bobby Hicks will meet Dave Peters, Portland, while Kurt Max will meet Harold Mann, Vancouver, for the right to meet Willie Azzi in the 139-pound final.

Jimmy Walters and Dale Nicely will meet for the 147-pound title, followed by Rip Kirby, RCN, and Wade Knisely, Seattle, in a 156-pound bout.

The 165-pound class will see Wilbur Young, Seattle and Gary Oakden, South Burnaby, meet for the right to meet Harvey Burke, while 175-pounders Willis Mitchell and Jim Robertson, Seattle, will clash in their final.

Heavyweights Bruce Olson, Portland, and Bob Stratman, Seattle, will round out the show.

Mounties Start Late; Edge Sacs

By United Press

All the winners in the Pacific Coast League used the big inning to score wins in Friday night's game, but the Vancouver Mounties didn't get around to the large frame until early this morning.

The newcomer Mounties pushed across three runs in the top of the 13th inning to dump Sacramento 6-3 in a game that consumed four hours and 16 minutes and wasn't decided until after midnight.

San Diego increased its PCL lead to a game and a half by scoring five times in the second frame and upending Seattle 8-2 on Ed Erautt's six-hit pitching. Cholly Naranjo limited Portland to three hits and the Hollywood Stars got a 7-0 win. And San Francisco had a five-run inning that was just big enough to allow the Seals to beat Los Angeles 6-5 with a run in the bottom of the ninth with two out.

Sacramento committed five infield errors in the extended game with Vancouver and let 16 hits go for naught as the Mounties caught them in the eighth and won the game in the unlucky frame.

Routers to the Fore In Times Golf Semis

Colwood Golf Club will be no place for the footsore or the blister-prone Sunday as the Times Vancouver Island Match Play Open Golf Tournament enters the semi-final round.

With the field cut to four players, the tournament will switch from 18-hole matches to the more gruelling and significant 36-hole route at Colwood Golf Club.

In the championship division, Ted Colgate and Vince Clarkson tee off at 9.30 and 2 and Bill McColl and Laurie Kerr stage their course warfare at 9.40 and 2.10.

Finalists decided by Sunday's matches get little respite as they enter a 36-hole final the following Sunday at the hilly Gorge Vale Golf Club.

Sunday's draw follows:

CHAMPIONSHIP

9.30 and 2.00—Ted Colgate vs. Vince Clarkson.

9.40 and 2.10—Bill McColl vs. Laurie Kerr.

HANDICAP

9.50 and 2.20—Mel Carlow vs. Laurie Greenwood.

10.00 and 2.30—George Buckingham vs. Vic Lea.

THIS FIGHTER COLD

Somewhere in Victoria is a three-quarter-length leather jacket, last seen reposing in the back seat of a 1950 green Chrysler Windsor.

The jacket belongs to Gil Durey, who is in town over the weekend to fight in the second annual Optimist Club's "Tournament of Champions." Durey, over from Australia two years ago, came up to Canada at Christmas from his new home in Oregon, and hitchhiked to Victoria from Nanaimo.

The last ride received by Gil and his chum was to the Legislative Buildings in Victoria in the aforementioned green Chrysler. He left the jacket behind when he left the car.

So anyone nursing a misplaced leather jacket can turn it in to Gil tonight at Central Junior High School gym.

Three Share Lead In Arlington Golf

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (BUP)—Three pros went into today's third round of the $15,000 Arlington open golf tournament deadlocked with 133 totals—defending champion Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City; Billy Maxwell, Abilene, Tex., and Pete Fleming, Hot Springs, Ark.

Wininger joined Ernie Vossler of Fort Worth, Tex., in tying the course record of 30 for the front nine yesterday, but Wininger put a 34 with it to tie for the lead, while Vossler dropped to a 37 to tie for sixth with a 137.

Maxwell, the first day leader with a 64, turned in a creditable 69 yesterday while Fleming used his knowledge of the home course to put together rounds of 66 and 67 at the Hot Springs Country Club.

Two strokes off the pace was Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Dallas, with rounds of 65-70—135. His total was still nine under par for the two rounds and one stroke lower than that of Buster Cupit, Ruston, La., and George Bayer, Cincinnati, O.

Pancho Wins Again

CHICAGO (AP) — Pancho Gonzales defeated Tony Trabert 6-3, 6-3 Friday night in their world championship tennis tour match.

The triumph gave Gonzales a 61-17 edge in their 100-game series.

Nancy Models Crown, Gains Paddle Final

Queen Nancy Craig of Victoria, table tennis' answer to Grace Kelly, took a big step towards defending her Western Canada women's title Friday night in Vancouver.

Nancy defeated Helen Boucher of Quesnel in a semifinal match and moved into tonight's final against Betty Nicholl of Vancouver.

In men's singles, Victorians Eddy and Art Ngai moved into the semifinals with Mogen Larsen of Vancouver and Carl Cole of Portland.

Art and Eddy will open defence of their men's doubles title tonight also.

Mrs. Craig lost the possible chance of entering two finals when she and partner Art Barran of Vancouver were ousted in the semifinals of the mixed doubles by Bob Hage and Miss Boucher.

Laurie Greenwood, another Victorian, lost out in the second round of the senior singles when he was defeated by Kal Cizek of Vancouver.

Wilbur and Willshires Do It Again

Playoff action decided two tenpin and three fivepin team champions this week of pin history.

In one of the closest matches ever rolled on city alleys, defending titlists Willshire Heat nipped Ming's Kitchen by a mere two pins to remain Senior Tenpin League champs.

It was the third successive league championship for Willshires as they maintained a strong hold on the Poodle Dog trophy.

Paced by veteran Wilbur Webb with a 215-203-226—644 series, Willshires posted a 2,669 three-game scratch total, while Mings rally in the third game fell a little short and they came in with 2,667.

The two-pin victory for Willshire evened an old score. About four years ago they missed the title by only one pin—when an anchor man "picked a cherry" to miss a spare in the final game.

Other members of the winning team were Ken Munn, Nip Sage, Nick Howard and George Motion. Captain Wilf Johnstone sat the night out.

Mings were runners-up, with Suncrest taking third by defeating Gorge Hotel, 2,622-2,431.

In the commercial tenpin section Tillicums were crowned new champions and given possession of the Arcade Perpetual Trophy.

Second-half winners during the season, Tillicums downed defending champion Shaw Sheet Metal, 2,735-2,686, in the final Wednesday night. Tillicums rolled with a total 243 handicap, Shaws with 222.

Rom Knott was top man for the winners with a 542 triple. Other members were Red Lawson, Jack Bacon, Ralph Baker, Dick Donaldson. Ollie Corbett and Jack Caddell did not see action.

Watson's Men's Wear captured third with a 13-pin victory over Victoria Press, 2,813-2,800.

In fivepin action at Gibson's, C. A. Smith Roofing shot a five-game total of 5,906 to take top spot in the commercial section.

Reg Waggoner, Harry Cool, Bill Cool, G. Smith, Harold Gent, Ron Cush and Howie Butler were members of the title-winning squad.

At Capital City, Sparks, a team composed of Stan Semple, Joan Semple, Bud Laycock, Mrs. Winkworth and Hap Gandy, won the Jubilee Hospital league title with a 2,970 total.

X-Rays took the runner-up spot with 2,800 and Vampires finished third at 2,778.

Towhees won the I.O.F league championship with a 5,254 effort. Members of the team were Ken Jones, Peggy Garnet, Fred Taylor, Clara Sutcliffe and Bill Vanderlinde.

Jokers were second with 5,225 and Pirates won the consolation roll-off with 5,541.

Top major league scores were turned in by Bill McKinnon, 806; Harry Cool, 773; and Roy Harris, 762 (377).

Enthusiastic up-Island fivepinners have won their point regarding the Vancouver Island Fivepin Open Championships. The pin-meet has been delayed one week to May 5 and 6, May 12 and 13.

Teams from as far north as Campbell River have inquired about the event, which offers as top bauble the Victoria Daily Times Trophy.

WHAT'S THE SCORE?
BY Denny Boyd

It hasn't happened yet but any day now, they may start calling the coach of the Victoria Shamrocks, Grayey Severson.

There were times in the past when the nerve-devouring lacrosse business came near to silvering Red McMillan's hair before he took the retirement cure; and the way things have been breaking for the Shamrocks this year, Whitey Severson's nickname could become a bit improbable before the season ends.

The pressure is on the bandy-legged freshman coach this year as he steps from the playing ranks and gingerly plants his feet on the griddle that is the coaching business.

Victoria lacrosse fans, in the last three years, have had a Mann Cup title and two near misses. You can walk into Memorial Arena, look into the trophy case and see tangible proof that last year's Shamrock club was the best in Canada.

Now, the point is, if Victoria's team isn't the best this season, if it isn't even the best in the league, will the fans take it in their collective stride?

Recently, when Jack Bionda announced he would not be coming back to the Rocks, a big part of the bottom of the world fell out for Severson because you just can't cross Bionda's name off the list and shrug off another tough break. Bionda is too much a lacrosse player to replace.

When he told about the loss of Bionda, Whitey asked, plaintively, "Did Red ever have it this tough?"

It's Been a Rugged Introduction

So far, very little has broken right for Severson in his efforts to rebuild the team.

There was the loss of promising Bill Barbour, the curious uncertainty of Nip O'Hearn, the reluctance of Bob Dobbie to return, the expected retirement of Arnie Ferguson, the unknown status of Larry Booth and the gimpy legs of Bob Monaghan and Al Gill.

True, the Rocks netted Bert Bertoia, a player with a fine past record in the tough interior circuit, and welcomed Archie Browning back when the deadpan little forward with the killer shot shelved his semi-retirement plans.

And, true, the Rocks still have anxious eyes on one firmly established player who is no stranger to Victoria fans.

But, when the Rocks head back into Memorial Arena May 2, to the tune of their theme, "Sound Off," the odds are stacked against them being as strong as they have been in their recent Mann Cup years.

But is this so bad?

Too many times in the past few seasons, lacrosse patrons have left games at the end of the third quarter because a Shamrock victory was guaranteed by that time.

If the Rocks are weaker this year and if they get walloped a couple of times or more (this is our own supposition and no statement of the team's attitude) would the game lose its appeal to the fans, who have become conditioned to victories?

One Director Would Start Anew

A Shamrock director told us during the winter, "Personally, I'd like to see us start a complete rebuilding program. I'd like to see us bring up a bunch of kids, take our lumps, but build for the future, even if it does cost us the Mann Cup this year."

"But," he concluded sadly, "we just don't know if the fans would back us and go along with a team that wasn't the best available."

Severson has said that lacrosse fans, by and large, are split into two categories: (a) The fans who want the team to scour the country, buy up every import and wallop and keep walloping everyone. (b) The fans who want the importing eased off and local graduates of the minor leagues given a chance to make the club.

As Whitey has seen, it's impossible to please all the fans and this is one of the coaching problems that has him worried—pleasing the fans.

We wonder just how the majority of the fans feel.

The Shamrocks' first half dozen home games could well answer the poser.

Home Run Hangover Hurts Cards

Braves Take NL Lead; Mantle Sparks Yanks

By The Associated Press

It's a new season all right, but the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff is still staggering around with a homer hangover.

The Redbirds were clipped for 185 home runs last season—an all-time major league record. Now it appears that mark may not last the year.

In three games St. Louis pitching has been pickled for eight homers, including the only grand-slam so far in either league this season by Cincinnati's Ray Jablonski, former Cardinal. Three of them came Friday night to overhaul an early St. Louis lead and get Milwaukee started on a 5-4 decision that left the Braves unbeaten atop the National League.

BRAVES' THIRD STRAIGHT

Eddie Mathews smacked a pair, his first of the season, and Wes Covington poked the other, with a man on base, in a pinch-role as Milwaukee made it three straight. Right behind are Brooklyn, which shelled Pittsburgh 5-0 on Roger Craig's nifty four-hitter and Junior Gilliam's four RBIs, and Philadelphia, which edged the New York Giants 2-1 on a bases-loaded single by Del Ennis in the 10th.

Chicago Cubs whacked Cincinnati 12-1 in the other game behind a four-hitter by Sam Jones, who fanned nine.

MANTLE CONNECTS

In the American, Mickey Mantle drove in four runs as New York Yankees walloped Boston's Red Sox 7-1; Chicago White Sox remained unbeaten and in first place by beating Kansas City 6-3 as Ron Northey triggered a three-run ninth with a pinch, two-run homer; Cleveland won its first, beating Detroit 3-1 behind Early Wynn's five-hitter, and Baltimore gained its first decision with Gus Triando's' two-run homer that beat Washington 3-2.

THESE KNEES KEYS

All eyes of the Victoria Shamrock management and directors are on two players who have played large parts in the club's successes in recent years. Bob Monaghan, left, and Al Gill received off-season treatment for injured knees and the club's success this season will depend heavily on their return to form. (Times Photo by Strickland.)

UNFAIR TO OTHERS THAN PILS

Rocks Dispute Player Ruling

Victoria Shamrocks have a proposition to talk over with the Intercity Lacrosse League Commission, a proposition that Jake Proctor and his Vancouver Pilseners won't like.

Shamrock manager Ralph Baker disclosed Friday that the team is attempting to have the league's player cutdown date advanced from June 21 to May 31.

Under the present constitution teams have until June 21 to trim their rosters to 18 players and two goalies.

Baker said, "June 21 is about seven weeks into the season and a player-heavy club like Pilseners will be able to carry 30 players until that time, hardly fair to the other teams in the league.

"An earlier cutdown date will make surplus players available to the other clubs."

Meanwhile, Shamrocks' attempts to accelerate their training program for the May 2 opener here have bogged down because of repairs being made to the Memorial Arena floor.

Shamrocks had their last practice Tuesday night and have been unable to use arena facilities since because of leaks in the arena freezing system, which necessitate removal of sections of the concrete floor.

Shamrocks are hoping to return to the arena Sunday morning.

Ken's Magic Putter Dave's Problem Now

By BILL RAYNER

Ken Lindley, the old master putter from Seattle, and Dave Coons, gritty five-handicapper from Vancouver, Wash., are today's finalists in the 26th annual Empress Golf Tournament at Victoria Golf Club.

Entering the women's championship final were Mrs. H. G. MacKenzie of Victoria and Mrs. Ethel Fraser, Seattle.

Lindley unsheathed his magic wand against Ralph Cossey, New Westminster, in his semi-final round Friday to win, 4 and 3, and calmly stroke his way closer to his second Empress title. He won in 1949.

He sank everything in sight on the greens, from 35 feet on in, and missed only once. That was a seven-footer on the 14th after Cossey, at dormie five, sank a 35-footer himself to win the hole and stay alive.

Down four with four to go, Cossey couldn't do any better than a half on the 15th, to drop out of contention.

Coons had a tougher time with fellow-townsman and close friend Ed Rapp. After a tight first nine, when the lead shifted several times, Coons sank a long putt on the 11th to go one up. He got a half on the par-five 12th, giving Rapp a stroke, and took the 13th after a beautiful chip shot to go two up. He protected this lead with halves right up to the 17th, to win, 2 and 1.

MISSED CHANCES

In the ladies' semifinals, the match between Mrs. Fraser and Mrs. E. Jackson of Victoria was one of missed opportunities. Mrs. Jackson, one up on the 17th, three-putted to lose the hole, then saw Mrs. Fraser miss a short putt on the 18th for a sure victory.

The pair went to the 19th and halved that hole. Mrs. Fraser finally won on the 20th, putting up close to the hole from the edge of the green for a par three after Mrs. Jackson was in the sand trap with her second and chipped out short.

Mrs. MacKenzie had a two-up advantage over Mrs. A. E. McCourt, Seattle, on the 17th, lost that hole, but retained her one-up edge by sinking a pressure putt for a half on the 18th.

Fraser, Vics Score Again

Victoria High School cross-country team, led by lanky Ian Fraser, won its final race of the '55-'56 season Friday afternoon, defeating a strong squad from Queen Elizabeth High School of Vancouver.

Fraser finished the 2¼-mile grind in the excellent time of 11 minutes, 54 seconds, but he was pushed all the way by Queen Elizabeth's John Bent who finished only 100 yards behind the smooth-moving winner.

Steady-running John Gilliland, captain of the Vic High team, finished third, about 100 yards behind Bent.

By the reverse system of scoring, the Vics won the event with 16 points, while the mainlanders finished with 21.

First eight runners in order of finishing are: Ian Fraser, VHS; John Bent, QE; John Gilliland, VHS; McDougal, QE; Lawrence Valiant, VHS; Ray Halco, QE; Peter Jubb, VHS, and Barry Hagen, VHS.

Betsy Holds Stroke Lead

DALLAS, Tex. (BUP)—Betsy Rawls, who soothes her golfing nerves by playing operatic tunes from Tristan and Isolde, carried a one-stroke lead into the third round of the $7,500 Dallas Women's Open golf tournament today.

Her 145 total for the first 36 holes over Glen Lakes Country Club's tight, par 36-35—71 layout was far from a stranglehold on the top spot that pays off $1,350 Sunday, but it represented about the most consistent golf among the lady pros here for the 72-hole affair.

Miss Rawls, a Phi Beta Kappa from Spartanburg, S.C., was out in two-over-par 38's both days and came home in 34 Thursday and 35 yesterday to give her a one-stroke lead over veteran Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, and Marlene Bauer Hagge of Asheville, N.C.

ROCKY WON'T SAY

MACON, Ga. (AP)—Rocky Marciano said Friday he still has not decided whether to retire or make another defence of his world heavyweight boxing title.

The champion and his manager, Al Weill, who met Rocky here to discuss his future, both indicated no snap decision will be made.

Asked if he thought a decision would be reached before leaving Macon, Marciano replied:

"I don't think so."

Warm-Up Jaunts 'A Waste of Time'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—For sprinters at least, the traditional "warm-up" before a race is just a waste of time, two physiologists said today.

Limbering up in their sweat suits or making trial starts before the gun goes off doesn't get the boys to the tape any faster when the chips are down, reported Drs. Peter Karpovich and Creighton Hale of Springfield College, a physical education institution in Massachusetts.

The doctors based their views on studies made with a "bicycle ergometre"—a bike you can pedal without getting anywhere, but which measures speed.

They told the annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology that three track athletes were speed-tested on the machine both after a preliminary five-minute "warm-up" on the machine—and again without any preliminary work-out.

In both instances, their speed in the actual "race" was essentially the same. The tests were repeated 24 times with the same results.

Jackie, Buzzy Sound Off, But All's Forgotten Now

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BROOKLYN (AP) — Another Brooklyn rhubarb flowered Friday in the form of a bitter word exchange between Jackie Robinson and one of his bosses, Buzzy Bavasi—and then, like all Dodger rhubarbs, it died a quick, agonizing death.

It all started when the outspoken Robinson said, in effect, that the Jersey City ball park stank. Nettled, Bavasi, the Dodger vice-president, paid a similar compliment to Robinson's ball-playing. Then the fireworks began.

Robinson said, "I'm playing as well as I can. If they can get anybody better, let 'em." Then he added he won't be playing after this year, anyhow.

Bavasi, informed that Jackie had said he's never play the 24 games at Roosevelt Stadium which the Dodgers have scheduled for the next three years, shot back:

"With the kind of playing he has been doing recently, he had better worry about the next three months."

These salvos weren't delivered direct so Bavasi Friday morning got Robinson on the telephone and the wires continued to crackle.

"I chewed Jackie out and he chewed me out," Bavasi explained later. "We thrashed everything out and the matter is settled. We hung up on friendly terms."

Robinson, who made his professional baseball debut with Montreal at Jersey City ten years ago, was chagrined when fans there booed him repeatedly in Thursday's game, won by the Dodgers, 5-4.

In the dressing room afterwards Robinson said, "Jersey City—b-a-a. They can give it back to the Giants."

The remark was overheard by a New Jersey sports writer who asked Jackie to elaborate. Jackie refused and an incident almost occurred in the clubhouse before tempers cooled.

"Actually," Jackie said, "it all was done in jest. I was kidding Irving Rudd, general manager of Roosevelt Stadium. Outsiders happened to overhear me and that's how it happened."

Famed Saloon Doors Bought by City Store

The old swinging doors of the Grotto, one of Victoria's earliest saloons which opened 89 years ago on Trounce Alley, have been acquired by Woodward's department store.

Vic Clarke, of Lucky Lager brewery, gave the lead glass doors to Woodward's, which plans to install them in the English stemware section of the department store because of their historic associations with the city.

In return for the gift, Woodward's is making a donation to the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

The old doors were kept in the storage room of the brewery. They were stored there when the old saloon closed down in June, 1921, when sale of liquor was confined to government stores. It is believed that they originally came around the Horn from England.

FORD, PLYMOUTH AND CHEV

Ford, Chevrolet, Plymouth—they compete bitterly for the car-buyer's favour, and, even though such competition is commercially necessary, it is not without its anachronism, as related to these three makes of cars. For these cars are sufficiently different from one another to appeal to rather different groups of motorists.

Taking for granted, of course, that all three cars are basically extremely well and thoroughly engineered, each in its own way, that there is little to choose between the high quality of materials employed in them, and that each one is produced according to the latest fantastically efficient and fool-proof manufacturing methods, there then remains the fact that they are all quite different in the way they feel, perform, and generally behave.

For the man who seeks, first of all, the most power for the least money, his clear choice would have to be the Ford "Fairlane" series. Unlike the top-lines of the Chevrolet and the Plymouth ("Bel-Air" and "Belvedere," respectively), Ford supply a different and considerably larger engine this year in their "Fairlane" series. It is a 292-cu. in. V-8, and is, in fact, the Thunderbird and Mercury engine of 1955. The "Fairlane" Ford is altogether a living example of the new concept of the "class-less" car. It bears the name of what is regarded as a low-priced car, but its interior trim and outside appearance—not to speak of its power—are quite comparable to those found in makes of cars whose very names bespeak luxury.

Ford Builds V-8s Exclusively

Ford is also the only Canadian manufacturer who builds V-8 engines exclusively and as standard equipment throughout the Ford line, and so, model for model, Ford is the cheapest V-8 on the market. In the same price-range approximately, the Studebaker Commander and the Studebaker Power Hawk is the net equal of the Ford "Fairlane" as a "banker's hot-rod."

Now let us say that another man's prime consideration is the most room and the greatest possible seating and riding comfort for a given amount of money. His car would be the Plymouth. Plymouth's riding and seating comfort is only comparable to a very few, very much more expensive cars. The Plymouth may be had with a side-valve six cylinder engine, moderate in power and not likely to be voted the world's smoothest and most silent engine, but entirely likely to win a contest as an endlessly trouble-free one. It is simple, it has been around many years and is thus thoroughly seasoned, and it employs a chrome-hardened top oil-control piston ring.

Not at Best With 'Automatic'

It is not at its best when used in conjunction with the "Power-Flite" automatic transmission, because it was not designed to be used through such a transmission. Automatics came into being much later than the Plymouth "six," and the reason why the modern V-8's perform so well through automatic transmissions is because the two were developed to complement one another.

The Plymouth "six," however, is a wonderful road-car with overdrive, it has excellent brakes, and is available with a modern and powerful V-8 engine, in conjunction with which the automatic "Power-Flite" is most acceptable.

As for Chevrolet — does it fully combine the separate advantages of the Ford and the Plymouth to account for its phenomenal sales-record? Not exactly. It does not quite match the luxurious ease of Plymouth's ride and seating comfort, and its V-8 engine is smaller than Ford's, especially the "Fairlane's." What it undoubtedly does have is the benefit of GMs styling department, which seems to have almost unqualified public acceptance, and has a knack of setting styling trends which others, willy-nilly, try to follow as best they can.

Chev a Combination Job

However, I am not saying that the Chevrolet is simply a pretty-looking car, and that's all. Far from it. It is, for instance, extremely sturdily built. Like Ford, it has a marvellous and ingenious "ball-joint" front suspension, tilted to avoid nose-dive under severe braking, with only four points that need lubricating at specified periods. It handles very safely at high speeds and is securely tied to the road.

Its overhead-valve six-cylinder engine is commendably quiet and smooth, and somewhat "abler" than Plymouth's L-head six, but it is now a somewhat high-stressed and fussy engine. Its V-8 engine is quite a brilliant piece of engineering. It is incredibly light and physically small for its power output, and has an ingenious and simple valve-train. Like the six, hydraulic valve silencers account for its unobtrusiveness—so long as care is taken to change oil regularly and frequently.

It is best to order Chevrolet's V-8 in strictly stock form, that is with the 162 or 170 h.p. rating. It ought to be plenty powerful for anyone in that form—a so-called "power-pack" is available which raises the h.p. output to over 200, but this is achieved by a complicated and costly-to-maintain four-choke carburetor and by alterations in valve-timing, which in itself detracts from the engine's long-term wearing qualities — as all changes do which "stress" an engine more.

Action Committee To 'Push' Auditorium

A committee of seven or nine persons to push the building of a civic auditorium through to a conclusion was approved Friday by directors of Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

J. C. Haddock, chairman of a fact-finding committee, said a new committee consisting of experienced business men is needed to push the auditorium ahead in time for British Columbia's centennial celebrations in 1958.

It was agreed that a multi-purpose auditorium was needed and that it should be located in the Mall area now under consideration.

Mr. Haddock said a number of fact-finding sub-committees are still preparing data on the auditorium.

The directors agreed that an auditorium is essential for the "cultural and economic development" of Victoria.

New Penitentiaries

OTTAWA C(P) — A new federal penitentiary to house 600 male prisoners will be built on a 670-acre tract near Joyceville, Ont., 10 miles northeast of Kingston, Justice Minister Garson announced today.

Mr. Garson also announced that two new institutions were being planned for male prisoners, one in Ontario or Quebec, and the other in Alberta or British Columbia.

TRAVEL NOTES By DON INGHAM

Fabulous Florida Fine in Summer, Too

Florida is the fabulous home of baseball spring training, horse racing at Hialeah, Tropical Park, and Gulfstream and of most of the affluent citizens of the Atlantic coast of Canada—in the winter.

Florida takes on considerable weight in January, February, and March. While snow and ice cover a large part of the rest of the continent, there is Florida with warm sun, beaches, and luxurious accommodation for thousands.

Only drawback to the Florida winter season is that it is expensive, it does not coincide with the average Victorian's holiday, and it is rather intense.

It is said, though, that those who know find Florida in the "off" season a most charming vacation spot.

The summer is the time when the Floridans relax and enjoy themselves after the passage of the winter tourists. It can be just as pleasant for the visitors, since the heat is not too oppressive on the coast, and visitors report a wealth of hospitality available.

One Vancouver Island family, making a loop of the United States, threw a carefully prepared itinerary out the window in order to stay seven days in Jacksonville instead of one.

"We felt we couldn't find a nicer place to stay a week than in that resort at Jacksonville," they said.

Like most of the United States, Florida has its own distinctive attractions. There are the Everglades, the vast, 2,860,000 acres of waterways, floating islands, alligators, and mystery.

Closely related are Big Cypress and Okefenokee swamps, and the 30,000 lakes that dot the central portion of the state.

ANCIENT FORTS

St. Augustine boasts Fort San Marco, built by the Spanish in 1656, and now known as Fort Marion. Farther south on the east coast is Daytona beach, 20 miles of sand known as the site of world automobile speed trials in previous years. It still is active as a racing and time trial centre for both cars and motorcycles.

Near the southern tip of the peninsula is Miami, the winter playground and centre of one of the largest and busiest sport fishing fleets in the country.

Off the tip of the peninsula is Key West, reached by the unusual highway that "island hops" along the narrow chain of sandbars from the mainland for more than 100 miles to the city itself.

On the west coast are St. Petersburg and Tampa, and at the far western corner of the state is Pensacola, where the U.S. Navy operates one of the largest aviation training centres in the world.

Although low, and not exceeding 300 feet above sea level anywhere, the country is not monotonous, but a combination of rolling hills and swamp land. Its shores are bounded by a line of sand reefs and narrow islands that enclose shallow and narrow bodies of water, such as Indian river and Lake Worth.

WORLD'S SMALLEST TOTEM INDIAN FESTIVAL FEATURE

The world's smallest totem pole will be a featured exhibit at the two-day Vancouver Island Indian Festival at Maple Bank Park, Songhees Reserve, on May 20 and 21.

"It is the world's smallest, and not to be confused with the world's tallest," said festival president, Percy Ross. "We will be showing it under glass."

The miniature pole was carved by Stan James, of the Nanaimo band. A magnifying glass is required to see all the details.

BETWEEN TIMES
By
MONTE ROBERTS

I have been asked to tell all I know about showers. Fortunately, this is not very much.

The showers I have been asked to tell about are the matrimonial, rather than meteorological variety.

The word "shower" in this sense refers to the loot acquired, not the event at which it is distributed, but since 1926 shower-party has been officially admitted into the language of the civilized world.

This is about the only civilized aspect of showers.

Showers are given by unmarried women for other unmarried women who are to be married, in the hopes that when the first-mentioned unmarried women are to be married, the second-mentioned unmarried women (by then married) will give a shower for the first-mentioned unmarried women.

Married women give showers for unmarried women to pay back for showers incurred when they (the married women) were unmarried.

Married women are at an advantage when giving showers, as they can always gift-wrap the automatic cake-burner they received at THEIR shower.

Men, married or unmarried, rarely give showers for other men. They are too busy brooding about being married, or being about to be married, as the case may be.

Women, on the other hand, consider showers a legitimate form of larceny, and a good way to start furnishing the home with gadgets of dubious value.

However, some showers are well-organized. The bride-to-be explains in detail what pattern of silver she is collecting, so when the silver shower comes along, she can be dreadfully surprised and excited at receiving exactly the pattern she wanted.

This is another proof of the efficiency of women.

I am told on good authority there are many varieties of showers, all of them just peachy good fun. These include miscellaneous, kitchen, linen, pantry, cup and saucer, grocery, gadgets, and couple showers.

Couple showers provide a man's only opportunity to get in on the loot.

Couple showers also provide an hilarious moment of good clean fun, when the bride-to-be is presented with a lovely corsage, and the groom is given a comic corsage made up of carrots and stuff.

This is almost as funny as when the men wear the women's hats.

I have done a considerable amount of research on how to avoid showers, but it is terribly bad form to not go to a shower. In other words, if you know someone who is going to be married, you've had it, unless you get out of town until the mating season is over.

That is all I know about showers.

Runaway Rail Car Rams Auto

Driver Had Parked 5 Minutes Before

By PETE LOUDON

A 70-ton coal car loosened by a broken coupling charged down a siding at Kirk Coal Yard in Victoria West today, jumped a pair of 12-inch iron stops and smashed an automobile like an egg shell.

The driver, A. A. Moore, 2514 Blackwood, had parked and left his car just five minutes previously.

The coal car also knocked down three large trees at least one of which was 12 inches thick at the butt.

The accident occurred at about 8 a.m. Police did not attend as the wreck happened on private property.

"It's lucky there were no children around or cars crossing Russell Street where the rails intersect," said Mr. Moore. "Nothing would have stopped it."

BROKEN PIN

Mr. Moore, manager of the Kirk Coal Division, Canadian Collieries, said the accident apparently resulted from a broken pin in a coupling joining the loaded coal car to a car loaded with steel rods and a Diesel engine. The engine had been shunting the coal car into the yard from E & N feeder lines.

Once freed, the coal car picked up momentum due to a slight down-grade. The collision pushed the automobile about 40 feet and virtually tore the metal of the vehicle into long strips.

"I could see the darn thing coming down the track," said Mr. Moore, ". . . but it was too late to do anything about it."

His car was fully insured and adjusters had delivered him a new car before noon today. His previous car will remain pinned underneath the coal car until E & N officials send a crew to put the open box-car back on the track.

"I have no idea when or how they are going to do it," said Mr. Moore.

Comox Lancasters Flying Overseas

Three Aircraft, Crews to Ireland For Maritime Warfare Training

Three Lancaster aircraft of 407 Maritime Squadron left Comox Airport today on the first leg of a flight to Prestwick, Scotland, and six weeks of training with the Royal Navy.

This is the fourth year crews from the Comox station have headed overseas for the course in maritime warfare tactics at HMS Sea Eagle in Londonderry, Northern Ireland.

Sqdn. Ldr. Hugh Miller, radio leader of 407 Squadron, is flight commander. In the crews of the three aircraft are FO. Ted Cooper and LAC Bill Jobson, both of Victoria.

RCAF officials at the airport said the course is considered by aircrews as a prize worth working for, and each year written examinations are held to help decide what crews will make the flight.

Schedule calls for a stay in Ottawa tonight, then a maintenance check at Summerside, P.E.I., on Sunday. On Monday the three planes will take off for Gander, Nfld., and Prestwick.

Each plane will carry its regular two pilots, two navigators, three radio operators and one flight engineer. In addition, two of them will carry two ground crewmen to do maintenance work, and the third will have one.

TRAVEL BY SHIP

Other ground crew personnel left here Thursday via RCAF Air Transport Command to Montreal, and will travel by ship to Great Britain and meet the RCAF craft in Scotland.

Although on the same schedule, the aircraft will not fly together or in formation, but likely will be as much as 15 minutes apart.

They must be ready to start training at Londonderry Friday. On their return trip in June they are expected to land at Lagens in the Azores, off the coast of Spain.

Holed Cruiser Patched, Set For Tow Home

The badly-holed 38-foot power cruiser Lylann, which went ashore in Heydon Bay Thursday night, has been patched by Pacific Salvage Co. and will be towed to Vancouver, Albert Smith, superintendent, said today.

Heydon Bay is in Loughborough Inlet, on the mainland, about 125 miles northwest of Vancouver.

The vessel, owned by Paragon Supplies and used to demonstrate marine equipment, carried a crew of two, who were uninjured when she struck a rock.

Mr. Smith said Lylann was holed below the water line and beached to avoid sinking. The salvage company's tug Nanaimo Chief was despatched to her aid.

8,000 Pamphlets To Outline Playlot Contest

About 8,000 pamphlets outlining rules for the annual Victoria and district backyard playground contest will be distributed to residents next week.

Schoolchildren will take entry forms home from class and these must be returned to teachers before May 31.

Entries must include one or more pieces of permanent equipment, such as a swing, see-saw, sandbox or playhouse.

Sponsors, Victoria and District PTA Council, believe more backyard playgrounds will aid in keeping youngsters off streets and assist physical and mental development.

Judging will take place and awards be presented prior to school closure June 28.

Framed certificates will be awarded to classes with the highest number of entries, to schools with the highest number of entries and to individuals with the best playgrounds there will be awards of cups and shields.

Archbishop Never Doubted Integrity Of Civil Servants

Archbishop Harold E. Sexton today denied that he had ever questioned the "usefulness and integrity" of civil service personnel, as suggested by G. K. Sammon of the Department of Veterans' Affairs Employees National Association.

Mr. Sammon made the remark in discussion of the archbishop's speech in the Anglican synod Wednesday regarding federal wage increases and the continuing plight of the old-age pensioner.

"Most of us are aware that one generally receives courtesy and consideration from a civil servant, either federal or provincial," the archbishop said. "In the portion of my recent address that provoked discussion, I was merely drawing attention to the apparent lack of economic vision on the part of their employers."

Public Invited to View QOR Inspection Friday

The public will be able to view the annual inspection by B.C. Area commander of Second Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, next Friday at 2 p.m.

Parking and seating facilities will be arranged for civilians interested in seeing 400-500 troops put on their first formal parade this year for Brig. George Kitching, area commander at Vancouver.

Riflemen will perform on the parade square at Camp Gordon Head, led by Battalion Bugles. Parade commander will be commanding officer Lieut.-Col. W. H. V. Matthews.

On May 3 the battalion will again stage a ceremonial parade, this time for general officer commanding Western Command, Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, Edmonton, who will be making his spring general inspection of area army units next month.

He will see Work Point units May 2.

Gen. Vokes' inspection of QORs will take place in the morning, and in the afternoon riflemen will hold a battalion sports day at Gordon Head, also open to the public.

Dinner Celebration to Mark St. George's Day on Monday

The Royal Society of St. George, Victoria branch, will celebrate St. George's Day on Monday with a dinner at the Glenshiel Hotel, 606 Douglas Street, at 6 p.m.

K. C. Symonds, president, will be in the chair, with Harry Langley, vice-president, and Mrs. Bertha Parsons at the head table.

"This is England's day and we hope all English people living in Victoria will honor it," Mr. Langley said. (Persons wishing to attend the dinner may contact him at 1010 Foul Bay Road. Telephone 3-4567.)

April 23 is celebrated by English people throughout the world as the birthday of St. George, patron saint of England and first of the Roman Christian knights.

"We also celebrate the birth of William Shakespeare on this date," Mr. Langley said.

(The Encyclopedia Britannica says the exact date of Shakespeare's birth is not known, although he was baptized in the parish church of Stratford-on-Avon on April 26, 1564.)

ASK The TIMES

Q. — When did Sir Walter Raleigh bring the potato as we know it, back to England?—Mrs. D. G. M.

A.—The origin of the potato is lost in antiquity, and it is doubtful if history will ever be more exact than it is now. Some light may be shed, however, by the knowledge that when the Spaniards invaded South America in 1524, they found a large number of varieties and species under cultivation by the natives as food. One story says Raleigh brought the potato to England in 1585, but investigation appears to prove the true potato did not reach England until more than 100 years after that date. This indicates how little solid foundation there is for the Raleigh and other legends.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Bible (as Usual) Best Seller With Six Million Sales in '55

Best-sellers come and go, but the Bible keeps rolling along. Last year was the all-time record year for Bible sales in the U.S., and publishers and booksellers alike figure that '56 should see a new record.

Each year, too, the Bible comes out in some new dress. By now there are an estimated 1,000 different versions of the Bible and the two Testaments — in everything from Braille editions for the blind to special versions for children.

In 1955, some six million Bibles were sold in the U.S. and Canada. By far the vast majority of these were the King James version editions, but sizable sales were racked up for the Old Testament sold separately, the new Revised Standard Version and other special versions of all or portions of the Bible.

This six million figure compares with the approximately 450,000 sales of the so-called "best-seller" of '55—Anne Morrow Lindbergh's "Gift from the Sea." And, when you figure the Bible has been in circulation for a few years before, it's easy to see the tremendous edge this sacred book has over all other books ever printed.

Publishers and booksellers see the steadily increasing sales of Bibles as due to two main factors. Perhaps most important is the rise in population, and the increase in family units. Most such units feel that one of the first purchases they should make is a Bible. The second factor, perhaps not so coldly statistical, is the resurgence of religious interest in the Christian world.

YOU SAID TO ME -

A Sunday message of help and comfort for those puzzled, depressed or low in spirit.

You said to me, "What does the Cross mean to you?"

It means to me the absolute surrender of my will to God. This is very hard for me to do, because selfishness creeps into my life in such a subtle manner. I make what I think are sacrifices for people I love, and find that I am only trying to force them into what I think is the right pattern of life for them. Everyone has the right to make his own decisions, under the guidance of God, and true love will not try to rule the life of child or friend, but to give them strength to develop their own personalities, and to be and do what God wants them to be and do. Thus, I have had to learn, and am still learning.

I love peace and quietness, don't you? But when it comes to the point of feeling resentful when one's pattern of life is disturbed, then there is something wrong. This also is something I have to surrender, for there is a great difference between the quietness and confidence of which the Bible speaks, which gives us strength to do battle, and the peace and quietness which means the cessation of all effort, and the selfish enjoyment of ease.

I like to be the one to do things, but I have to learn to work in the background where no one is observing me —to be glad when others win a victory—to truly rejoice in the praise given to them.

But the Cross of Christ means to me forgiveness and new strength—the reaching down of the Hand of God to grasp mine and pull me up out of the material into the spiritual. It means the death of self, and the rising to new life and strength and joy and power. It means life eternal, and the purpose of God worked out by all men everywhere.

LONDON NEWSMEN'S CHURCH

War-Torn St. Bride's Restored by 1957

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Work on the reconstruction of 13th century St. Bride's, the London church that was bombed in 1940, is proceeding apace, says the rector, Rev. Cyril Armitage, MVO, in a letter to friends in Victoria.

He hopes the church will be fully restored by early 1957.

Mr. Armitage, formerly precentor at Westminster Abbey, became rector of St. Bride's in 1951 when it was just an empty shell, the interior having been burned out by an incendiary bomb.

He speedily organized Sunday services in the vestry and cajoled "hard-boiled" newspapermen, working in nearby offices, to officiate as sidesmen on a once-a-month basis. The roster system was necessary as most of them live miles outside the city and dislike travelling up on Sundays except when producing Monday morning papers.

Mr. Armitage is now known as the "chaplain of Fleet Street," and is frequently found talking with newsmen in their own haunts.

But the conversation usually concludes with an invitation to St. Bride's and in consequence many men who never attended church before are now to be found officiating at the altar on Sundays.

One of the rector's right-hand men is Bernard Nicholls, public relations officer for the Church Missionary Society in Salisbury Square, just off Fleet Street.

Mr. Nicholls gave up a business position and accepted a lower salary to take on this work for the society.

Chinese Lions Charter Night Attended by 250

Victoria Chinese Lions Club went into official operation Friday night when its charter was presented in a ceremony at Empress Hotel.

Lions from clubs in Victoria, Island points, the mainland and Washington — 250 in all — crowded the hotel ballroom to see president Peter Wong accept the document from district governor Bob Wheeler, Port Angeles.

Greetings were extended by Mayor Percy Scurrah, who said: "In the past 50 years, service clubs have exerted a profound influence on the business and professional life of our people."

He said Victoria Lions clubs, of which there are now four, have a "splendid record."

The Church Where Everyone Sings

This year, preliminary rounds in the ladies' events were run off on the attractive course at Uplands Golf Club, above. Finals were played on the links at Victoria Golf Club today.

Contrast in types of golfing togs for women is shown by Mrs. G. E. Bronaugh, Portland, above, and Mrs. O. W. Smith, Seattle, in circle at left. Mrs. Bronaugh has been coming to the Empress tournament for 21 years. The beautiful Cowichan-type sweater and matching toque worn by Mrs. Smith, last year's ladies' champion, were not needed in the "midsummer" weather this week but they are modelled as "the thing" for golfing women where there is a chill in the air. Mrs. Smith played in first-flight finals today.

In between games women players have fun over a game of bridge. Some of the ardent card players are, left to right, Mrs. J. E. Noonan, Seattle; Mrs. J. L. Flynn, Portland; Mrs. Gordon Greene and Mrs. F. E. Adell, both of Seattle.

Tee-Off for Summer Fun

The Empress golf tournament staged here by the CPR this week opens a long season of out-of-doors events in Victoria with an air of happy camaraderie as well as the fun of good sport . . . it attracts golfers from far and near who return for the event year after year. It is growing in popularity with every April. Right now promises are being made to "see you next year" . . . Finally, it's the kind of event that husbands and wives enjoy together. That's one of the big reasons why the ladies love it!

"It's strokes that count," says Mrs. J. P. Rogers, centre, as she checks her score with Mrs. R. Patton, left, and Mrs. S. A. Leahigh. All three are from Portland, and they have been coming to Victoria for the tournament for a number of years.

Mrs. R. E. Fraser, of Sand Point Club, Seattle, is another long-time player in Empress Golf Tournaments. She played in the finals today.

"Where are the low scores?" is the question on the lips of lady golfers when they stand at the board at Uplands Club, to check each day's events. From the left, Mrs. C. V. H. Bryan, Calgary; Mrs. G. H. Waterman and Mrs. C. M. Royal, both of Seattle, and Mrs. J. M. Robertson, Calgary.

Handy New Sewing Gadgets To Interest Seamstresses

By PENNY SAVER

As if seams didn't come apart easily enough, now there's a little gadget to make them come apart in a jiffy. Of course, it's meant for the seamstress' basket and saves her a lot of time and effort. This seam ripper has a fish-eye pointed cutting edge at the end of a pen-like handle. It's made of ground steel that retains sharpness. It quickly cuts stitched buttonholes, picks threads neatly and rips seams quickly. It's yours for 89 cents. I'm sure that anyone who has done any sewing has experienced a slightly slashed finger from trying to rip seams with a two-sided razor blade. There's no worry of such accidents with this gadget.

Needles sometimes go astray between the sewing box and the place where you're sewing. Perhaps you've tucked one into a spool of thread, and it has probably been dislodged. This practice also cuts the thread, as you've no doubt discovered. What you need is a needle cushion that will fit right into the centre of a regulation-sized spool of thread. The felt cushion is on the top of a hollow plastic cylinder that slides and locks into the spool very easily. There'll be no more looking for needles, now, and there'll be no exposed needle points, either. It's safe and convenient, and a card of three costs 35 cents.

Tailor's chalk is being sold in a new shape and in a new plastic holder now. It's square, and can be held by the plastic case, so your hands are kept clean. The chalk is easily sharpened on a metal sharpening set in the top of the case. Marking the right length for your skirt is no trouble at all, and it's a tidy operation, too.

While we're re-stocking the sewing box, we should look at the new scissors sharpener that may be bought in town. It's an eye-catching item of bright red plastic in paddle shape with a sharpening stone in a centre slot, where scissors are inserted, and sharpened in minutes.

I'm told that it's the same type of stone used by scissors manufacturers. The stone is set permanently at the correct angle for good sharpening. A surprise buy, it's 50 cents.

If you'd like to know where to buy the items mentioned, call me at 2-3131 and I'll give the names of the stores where I saw them.

Socialites and Nobility Dance at New York Ball

NEW YORK (UP)—American socialites and European nobility wound up the most glittering social season since the Second World War early today by pelting each other with flowers and dancing until dawn at the April in Paris Ball.

In the last major fling of the $100 million Manhattan winter whirl, 1,000 members of the international set jammed the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel for nine hours of dining, dancing and top-notch entertainment. The ballroom was transformed into the Place de la Concorde, in Paris, with flowering trees, a multi-colored fountain and a vista of the Arc de triomphe.

Even Elsa Maxwell, a member of the ball committee, was flabbergasted by the bejeweled spectacle.

"It's fabulous and all the most beautiful people in the world are here," said Miss Maxwell, who had competing party-giver Perle Mesta as one of her guests. "If only the men would get back to wearing white ties and tails instead of tuxedos, I'd say we have entered a new gilded age."

The ball was a must for New York - Europe commuters. A score of socialites who attended the royal wedding in Monaco Thursday made a rush trip back to New York to attend the ball although only 38½ hours lapsed between events.

The evening began with a champagne cocktail party, worked through a seven-course dinner featuring flaming lobster, guinea hen and rare wines, entertainment starring Ray Bolger, Miriam Hopkins and Lilo, a fashion show of gowns, furs and hats by top Paris designers, an elaborate Edwardian tableau with the cast of the Broadway musical "My Fair Lady," and the flower parade from Ringling Brothers circus complete with horses, ponies and dogs.

It wound up with a Riviera festival touch as guests pitched forget-me-nots at each other while actresses dressed as French cocottes drove around the ballroom in pony carts, laden with ammunition for the battle of the posies.

Margaret Truman

Miss Truman Carried Grandmother's Prayer Book for Quiet Wedding, Devoid of Frills

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UP)—Margaret Truman married New York newsman Clifton Daniel today, in the same little Episcopal church where she was confirmed 16 years ago.

Miss Truman walked to the altar (at 2 p.m., Victoria time) carrying the prayer-book her grandmother, the late Mrs. D. W. Wallace, gave her on that day long ago.

The events leading up to the wedding were devoid of pomp and circumstance and were as far apart as Independence is from Monaco.

Such personages as party giver Perle Mesta of Washington and Mr. and Mrs. William Zeckendorf of New York were in Independence for the wedding but the socialites were outnumbered by the longtime friends of Margaret's childhood.

Last night only 18 persons attended the bridal dinner at the Kansas City Club in downtown Kansas City. The party was headed by former President and Mrs. Truman.

For the most important event of her life, Margaret chose organ music to be played, as at any other service in Trinity Episcopal Church, by J. R. Hammontree.

The great organ music of Bach and Mozart preceded the ceremony. Margaret and her attendants walked 45 feet down the aisle of the little church to a liturgical march, "Trumpet Voluntary," by the 17th century English composer, Henry Purcell.

Daniel, an assistant to the foreign news editor of the New York Times and former foreign correspondent, already had won the approval of the townspeople.

The quiet, dignified newsman said he had not seen much of Independence but found what he had seen charming.

"I refer to the Independence people I've met," Daniel said with a smile.

Daniel, who has declined to discuss details of the wedding was in a jocular mood when asked what Mr. and Mrs. Truman gave their only child.

"Bright eyes," he said.

But Daniel was in a reminiscent mood during his brief chat with reporters yesterday.

He recalled that on his first meeting with Miss Truman only a few months ago that she was wearing a "navy blue evening dress that I believe was designed by Fontana of Rome.'

"She looked very pretty, and that was enough to interest me," Daniel said.

Miss Truman revealed earlier she was attracted to the urbane Daniel because early in their acquaintance he teased her. That, she said, she liked because it is an old Truman family custom.

Margaret said she will be an early-rising wife who prepares breakfast for her husband before he leaves for his 9.30 a.m. to 5.30 p.m. stint on the foreign desk of the New York Times.

She will begin that chore in about two weeks when they return to New York from their honeymoon in the Bahamas. They expect to be back in time to see Mr. and Mrs. Truman off for Europe on May 11.

MARGARET AND QUEEN MOTHER AT TENNANT-COKE WEDDING

HOLKHAM, Eng. (BUP) — Princess Margaret saw one of her former escorts married here today in one of Britain's top society weddings of the year.

The ceremony united Lady Ann Coke, 23, daughter of the Earl of Leicester, and Colin Tennant, 29, heir of Lord Glenconner and once a constant companion of the Princess.

Margaret attended the wedding in this quiet Norfolk town with Queen Mother Elizabeth.

It was the first time in more than 50 years that a member of the Coke family was married here. The village made the most of it.

The bride's home, gigantic Holkham Hall, was gaily decorated. Local residents took pains to point out that the whole principality of Monaco could be tucked in one corner of the estate.

Nearly 200 persons took a special train from London and ate a champagne and chicken lunch on the way. Among the guests was Lady Eden, wife of the Prime Minister. The couple planned to honeymoon in Paris and Cuba before going to New York where Tennant will work in his family's business.

Togs for Tots and Teens—Do you have a candidate in your family for the contest in 1970 to choose Canada's ten best-dressed women?

Whether or not you are interested in your young lady taking an active part in the world of fashion it is well to do all you can to encourage her along this line. Most mothers cherish the hope that their daughters will grow up to be gracious and attractive women, and early training in good grooming and poise will help to make this possible.

Nona

It may be very wonderful at the moment for the girl whose mother does all her laundry, ironing, mending, shoe cleaning and closet tidying, but to prepare for later years, children from the time they begin school should have some personal chores in this respect. It may seem more trouble than it is worth to see that Mary Jane polishes her school shoes every night, and it may take many hours of patience to teach her to darn a hole in her sock or glove but it can be done.

If you are the mother of a nail biter try purchasing an attractive, inexpensive manicure set which will be hers alone. If this habit is carried on for some time, a pretty finger ring may cause her to have more pride in her nails and hands.

There are so many pretty and yet practical clothes for children these days . . . the new miracle fabrics are a boon for a busy and budget-minded mother. Everything for your youngster can be crease-resistant and washable. The new synthetics stand up wonderfully to the stress and strain of the vigorous activities of tots and teens.

Many of mother's fashions are similarly styled for daughter . . . children's co-ordinated sportswear pieces are in great demand. Denim separates in a never-ending variety are available in matching sets for the whole family. The very famous name of "Sacony" is found this season for the first time in the children's wear departments.

As your daughter grows up, take her with you when purchasing her clothes. If she has some part in their choice she will be more interested in their care.

As I sit under the dryer, doing a rough outline of this column I cannot help but notice a mother and daughter nearby. Mother is having her dark hair cut and Marney (she told me her name) is sitting on a twirl-around stool being a perfect little lady. She could have just stepped from a fashion magazine . . . her Princess style coat is navy blue and has a sailor-type collar of white linen edged in heavy linen lace. A sparkling white straw hat with a round crown and a turned-up brim is tied perkily under her chin. Snow white socks, patent leather slippers, a white draw string bag and white string gloves complete this most attractive outfit so unexpectedly modelled in the beauty salon.

Little Nugget tailors this Lorraine fabric for pre-teens. Its orlon and wool flannel, a magic fabric for style and sturdy wear. The designer has followed the new trend of slim skirt and a box jacket with dropped waistline effect. The contrasting collar and cuffs are lined with gay polka dots.

WHY GROW OLD?

Now That 9-Day Diet Is Here

When 9-Day Diet appears in Why Grow Old? you can be sure that it's spring!

Each year along with the robins and flowers and new leaves comes this short diet series to help you get ready for swim suits and light summer clothing. We are likely to pick up a few extra pounds during the winter months, in fact many of us are apt to kick up a few most any old time when we become careless about our calorie intake.

However, many women begin the fall slim and sleek or just a little overweight and then come Thanksgiving. We just get over that when Christmas arrives, with New Year's celebrations following immediately afterward. Then, too, we are less active physically in winter weather and cold winds whet our appetites.

The result of all this may be a gain of from 5 to 10 pounds, just the number you can lose in nine days time. It is so much easier to stick to a diet if you know just what you can accomplish in a given length of time, especially when the time is short.

So 9-Day Diet can solve your problem quickly if you have just a few pounds to lose. If you are many more than 10 pounds overweight it will give you an encouraging start on a longer reducing trek.

Monday I will give you your diet for Tuesday so that you will be able to do your marketing on Monday. Therefore, 9-Day Diet will begin on Monday in the Times and last for nine days. Each day the menus for the following day will appear in this column.

If you would like to have my complete 9-Day Reducing Diet in a pocketbook-size booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Mr. and Mrs. Caplin Married This Afternoon in St. Mary's

This afternoon in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, Miss Audrey Phyllis Baker and Donald Frederick Caplin repeated their wedding vows in a ceremony performed by Rev. R. S. P. Snowden.

Tall standard baskets of spring flowers were at the altar and heather and white bows marked guest pews. Church organist, J. Proudman, played traditional wedding music.

The bride, daughter of Lieut.-Cmdr. and Mrs. A. H. Baker, Beach Drive, chose a strapless gown of lace and nylon tulle over taffeta fashioned with mother of pearl sequin embroidery on the bodice. The skirt was floor length in bouffant style. She topped her gown with a matching jacket with lily point sleeves. Her veil, which had been worn by her mother, was of tulle with scalloped and embroidered edges, and was held by a halo of net and pearls. Her bridal bouquet was of white orchids and stephanotis.

Maid of honor, Miss Gloria Lotzien, wore a mauve strapless dress with bouffant floor-length skirt and small matching jacket. Her bouquet was of lemon yellow carnations. Bridesmaid, Miss Pat Andrews wore a yellow dress similarly styled and carried Kokomo carnations. Junior bridesmaid, Miss Doris Baker wore a yellow dotted muslin dress and carried Kokomo carnations. All wore head sprays of daisies en tone with their dresses.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Caplin, Youbou, B.C., had Donald Whittaker as best man, and Norman Henderson as usher.

Rev. Snowden proposed the toast to the bride at a reception which followed in the Club Tango. Rosebuds and fern topped the wedding cake centring the bride's table, which was decorated with spring flowers and silver candelabra.

For traveling, the bride wore a pale yellow wool boxy style suit with panama toned shoes and purse, mauve hat, blouse and orchid corsage.

When they return from a honeymoon trip to the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Caplin will make their home in Youbou.

The honor guests were escorted by the ritualistic drill team into the meeting hall, and each one was presented with a pastel-shaded carnation corsage bouquet. A decorated birthday cake was centred with one large candle, to honor all charter members, and 14 smaller colored ones for past presidents, each of whom lighted her own, in order of senority.

Mrs. A. Smith, president, conducted the meeting, and one new member, Mrs. C. Going, was initiated.

Members visiting the birthday box were: Mrs. R. Duplain, Mrs. E. Pearson, Mrs. M. Brown, Mrs. F. Moore, Mrs. R. Copestick, Mrs. N. Cruikshanks and Mrs. C. Cleaver.

A carnation corsage was presented to Mrs. N. Haddow, who leaves shortly for an extended visit to England. After the meeting the members enjoyed a sit-down supper convened by Mrs. A. Smith.

St. John Afternoon Branch of the Women's Auxiliary, Tuesday at 2.30 p.m., parish hall.

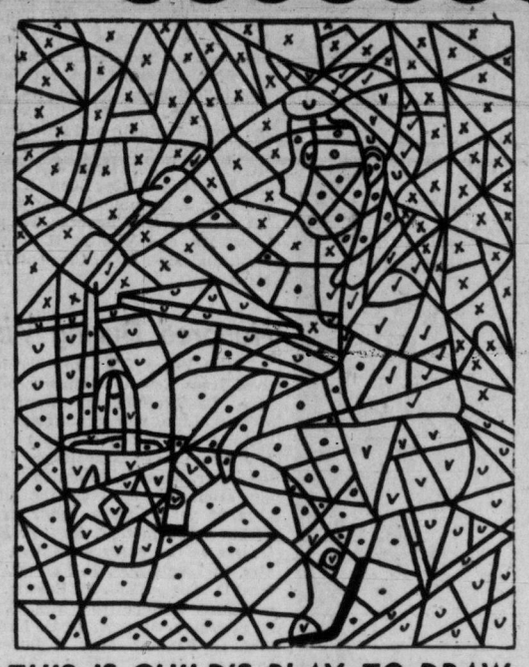
PUZZLES and PASTIMES



THIS IS CHILD'S PLAY TO DRAW

To bring forth the picture hidden in the diagram above simply add colors in accordance with the symbols shown in small box. If someone else is to try, cover the picture with tissue or tracing paper before you begin. Sharp crayons or colored pencils are desirable, of course. Think you know what the drawing shows without filling it in? Take a guess; then see if you are right.

What a queer-looking jumble results when an artist neglects the rules of perspective. Sometimes the effect is an unusual optical illusion such as in the drawing at left.

If you were asked to point out which of the three giraffes travelling through the long, oddly-shaped corridor was the largest, you would probably place your finger on the hindmost animal. Yet you will find, by measuring heights, that they are all approximately the same size.

The reason for this illusion is that the animals do not grow smaller in the same proportion as do their surroundings, which are drawn according to the rules of perspective.

You will notice that the lines of the roof, floor and sides of the building grow closer together as they vanish in the distance. The three men on the platform are drawn in accordance with this perspective—that is, they grow larger or smaller according to their distance from the eye.

It's possible to conduct an interesting experiment along these lines with the illustration and figures provided at right. Cut out the figures and see if you can place them in the drawing to their best advantage.

IT'S YOUR MOVE

Arrange four white and four black checkers on the board as shown above. Then challenge someone to take White's side and play the game to win in four moves.

White moves first, upboard.

Solution: White 23-18, Black 26-17, White 18-15, Black 11-18, White 28-24, Black 20-27, White 32-23-14-21.

POINT NINE

Nine is a wondrous number. Many mathematically magic things can be done with it.

For example: four nines can be made to equal 99. How can this be arranged?

Answer: Nine times nine plus nine plus nine.

THE STAMP CORNER

By REG NAIRNE

As might be expected, the Monaco post office is taking advantage of the Rainier-Kelly wedding to commemorate the occasion with a set of stamps. It must be admitted that they are making a beautiful job of them, the two medallions that constitute the design being superbly engraved.

Values will be as follows:—1, 2, 3, 5, 15, 100, 200, & 500 francs. Advance bookings have been so heavy that no further orders are being taken by the post office, and dealers are already rationing supplies.

* * *

When the British Government announced recently that the watermark of all the issues throughout the Crown colonies would be changed, it seemed as if collectors were in for another heavy outlay, after just having completed their Elizabeth series at considerable cost.

Fortunately it has now been decided that the watermark will not be changed when reprinting stamps already in issue, as adequate supplies of the current paper will be kept on hand for this purpose. Only entirely new sets will show the new watermark, which will feature the St. Edwards Crown instead of the current Tudor Crown.

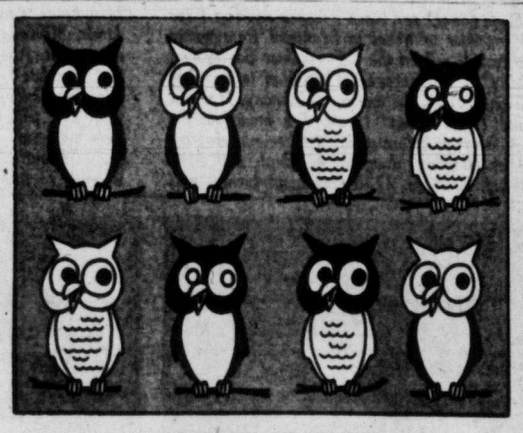
The only exception will be the stamps of Great Britain itself, new printings in the current design now being printed on the new paper.

There is one possibility, however—a printer might very easily make a slip and use a sheet of the wrong paper, in which case we would have a rarity!

BROKEN METER

To one-half of a strike
Add two-thirds of a ton,
Then a stone you will see,
If 'tis properly done.

Answer: 8 plus on plus 9 equals stone.



FIND THE PAIR

A quick glance at the diagram below may give the impression that all the owls look alike. But that's erroneous. Only two of the specimens depicted are exact duplicates. Can you determine which they are? Time limit: Two minutes. Then let someone else try. How quickly can you find them?

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

MONDAY, APRIL 23, 1956

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Early, contact associates and get their views on how best to attain your mutual objectives. The afternoon and evening then avoid spending more than you can afford for amusements or trying to win someone's favor. It wouldn't help.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Plunge into all that concerns your own job, responsibilities and get more charm, art, modern methods into your surroundings. The late afternoon and evening finds a problem with one at home. Sidestep this argument if you want peace.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—A.M. splendid for spending every spare moment getting your charm at new peak by treatments, haircut, beauty parlor, etc. Also for creative work. Later you find limiting condition from trouble on highway, argument with associate unless careful.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—A.M. get everything in shipshape condition at home to which note of added affection, art, more charm is added. Later you find that stubborn acquaintance causes melee over finances if you permit. Stick to your own home and get relaxed.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—All kinds of shopping, errands, conferences, statements can be made as you most desire during the a.m. Then the rest of day, evening brings potential tension over worldly matter, with authority, etc. Avoid clash with law, executive.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Fine a.m. for you to get right down to the specific items and details of your own job which await your attention. Also study improved budgeting. P.M. finds you looking to new outlets but don't neglect secret duty. Both can be arranged by thought.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—A.M. is excellent time for you to go right after what you want. Let nothing hold you back now. The afternoon, evening finds you torn between being with friends and some responsibility you've assumed. Get both done by sensible systematizing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—A.M. finds out just where you stand with all others without disclosing your own attitude this morning. Afternoon and evening then finds you involved in hassle between partner and official unless you nonchalantly steer clear, which is easy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Consult with fine friend about joint enterprise or how to get personal desire of your own early. After noon you are in period in which you have poor judgment concerning everyday chores. Get more advice from experts. Listen . . .

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Now you really can get your public and wordly affairs during the morning as you most desire them. Contact officials, executives and be conscientious. P.M. brings some conflict between others on whom you depend and personal desires.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—This is your morning to really get whatever data is available that can be used to your advantage in the future. Do nothing to disturb the harmony of existing conditions at home tonight or you have fixed trouble. Be gentle.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Pay bills, look after accounts, arrange joint efforts as you most desire them this morning. Then the afternoon and evening require you act carefully on highway or with others or you can have accident or needless separation.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN MONDAY

Monday's child is one of those attractive youngsters who will have a charmed life in early days and who will be a delight to everyone who meets him or her. Make sure you early teach work connected with neatness, fine finish and entertainment matters since your progeny will always desire to have everything in tiptop shape about him, or her, and will do best at vocations that bring out this natural talent. This child will always want to be with someone, never alone, so be sure you early teach value of high-principled associates.

Archbishop Reveals Ministerial Changes

Two resignations and several Anglican ministerial changes were announced by Archbishop Harold E. Sexton at the 54th Session of the Synod of the Diocese of British Columbia in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall Friday.

Resigning are: Rev. Harry M. Bolton, rector of St. Mary's Anglican Church, Metchosin, and Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Sooke; and Rev. Norman A. Lowe, who has been priest-in-charge of Brentwood College Memorial Chapel since 1950.

GOING EAST

Mr. Bolton, who is leaving for the east with his wife, was ordained in 1916. He served in Comox district, on the Columbia Coast Mission in the Diocese of New Westminster before taking charge of St. Mary's and Holy Trinity in 1925.

Mr. Lowe is leaving to take a post in California.

Rev. N. J. Godkin, rector of St. Michael's, Royal Oak, and St. Columba's Strawberry Vale, is leaving on June 1 to take over St. Catherine's Church, North Vancouver. Mr. Godkin has already resigned as rural dean of Victoria and has been replaced by Rev. J. A. Roberts, rector of St. Paul's, Esquimalt.

The archbishop also announced he plans to advance Rev. William J. Lunny and Rev. John C. McDonald to the priesthood and to admit Richard Mugford to the diaconate. This will take place on Trinity Sunday, May 27.

PAPERS URGE BRITAIN SEEK PEACE WITH REDS

LONDON (Reuters)—The Manchester Guardian says Britain should show a readiness to reach agreement during the talks here with Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist Party boss Khrushchev.

In general, the newspaper agrees with a surprise call in the Daily Express Thursday for Britain to recognize that the Russians are sincerely seeking peace instead of war.

The Daily Mail quotes authoritative sources that the visiting Russians have shown signs of moving toward the British view of a number of major problems.

John Howard Society Head Hobden Retires

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rev. J. Dinnage Hobden retired here Friday after 25 years as executive director of the John Howard Society and a career of rehabilitation among penal institutions.

Dr. Hobden guided the John Howard Society since it was formed here in 1931, the first in North America.

Tribute was paid to the retiring director by Justice Minister Garson, who addressed the evening meeting, by Attorney General Robert Bonner and Bishop A. H. Sovereign, another of the men responsible for founding the society here.

Dr. Hobden said the outstanding job of the society has been "winning the respect and regard of members of the judiciary, police and government and prison officials—and the good will of the prison inmates and general public."

RCMP Told To Step Up Traffic Check

Attorney-General Robert Bonner has issued a directive calling for "sterner vigilance" on the part of police officers patrolling the province's highways.

The directive is the latest move in a "get tough" policy aimed at halting the alarming death and injury toll resulting from motor-vehicle accidents.

Some 50 persons have lost their lives on the streets and highways of B.C. since the start of the year.

Attorney-General Bonner said "there has been an unusual trend, in that the accident rate is not up in relation to the increase in cars, nor have the number of fatal accidents increased.

"What has happened is that there are more accidents in which two or more persons have been killed. The multiple-fatality accidents are increasing.

The policy of "sterner vigilance" on the roads is aimed at halting this trend.

In addition, the board which examines driving records for suspension of drivers' licences is taking a tougher view toward offenders.

Suspensions are on the increase, but no figures are immediately available.

1915 Battle To Be Marked By Scottish

Forty-first anniversary of the Canadian victory in the battle of St. Julien's Wood will be marked by members and ex-members of Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) and 16th Battalion (Western Scots).

A commemorative parade will be held at the Scottish regimental cross in Pioneer Square Monday at 8 p.m.

The engagement was the first decisive triumph for Canadian forces in the First World War. It took place April 24, 1915.

Wreaths in memory of fallen comrades will be placed by Alex McLennan, president of Canadian Scottish Regimental Association and battalion commanding officer, Lieut.-Col. Jack Fawcett.

A representative of the original Western Scots will place a third wreath at the cross. A piper will play the Scottish lament, "Flowers of the Forest."

TALLEST TOTEM NEARS COMPLETION

Length of the world's tallest totem impressed shareholders today as it was moved from the Thunderbird Park carving shed to new location in civil service parking lot, where painting will be completed. In carved, painted state, totem looks even longer than when it was 160-feet tree. The big "stick," which weighed estimated nine tons in raw state, was jockeyed gingerly into position by two Heaney's lift cranes. Next important step will be installation. (Times Photo.)

Congress Convention Seeks to Avoid Split By Compromise Policy

By JOHN LeBLANC, Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Union leaders hoped today a new middle-of-the-road plan on political action could stave off a scrap among opponents at next week's founding convention of 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress.

Drafted at closed-door discussions here this week, the plan was described by informants as a saw-off between political neutrality and outright endorsation of the CCF party.

It was worked out among heads of the Trades and Labor Congress and the Canadian Congress of Labor when it became apparent the original idea of total neutrality might not be accepted by the 1,600 delegates at the TCL-CCL merger convention opening here Monday.

Sharp cleavages in the political views of unions making up the new congress, as outlined in resolutions sent in for the meeting, has pointed to a warm convention floor fight which it was feared might disturb the unity theme of the big organization.

Indirect Aid to CCF Keynotes New Plan

With that in mind, leaders of the CCF-supporting CCL and the traditionally-neutral TLC went part way towards meeting opposing views in the hope a compromise plan could avert an open battle. This plan was reported to have a good chance of meeting the objective.

As described by informants, it would not tie the new congress to supporting the CCF but would leave ground for indirect co-operation with the Socialist party.

It was reported to involve the establishment of a committee that would be a clearing house for political views and would consult with farm organizations and other groups including the CCF.

Today, a pre-CLC convention of the Trades and Labor Congress was to be held to clean up a few odds and ends in connection with the merger, that had been left over from last year's TLC convention.

Main point would be the passage of authority to transfer the TLC's assets to the Canadian Labor Congress.

Under agreement by a TLC-CCL unity committee, a TLC nominee—president Claude Jodoin—becomes first president of the new organization. Secretary-treasurer will be Donald MacDonald, who holds that office in the CCL, and the executive vice-president will be Gordon Cushing, now TLC secretary-treasurer.

Floods Sweep Prairie Towns

WINNIPEG (CP)—A spring flood peak on the Red River at least six inches above the top of major dikes in the Greater Winnipeg area was forecast today by the provincial flood forecasting committee. The peak is two feet higher than the last forecast.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP) — Southern Manitoba crouched behind rising walls of sandbags and earthen dikes today as muddy torrents of water swirled through towns and villages on their mad rush to the Red and Assiniboine Rivers and their tributaries.

In Winnipeg the Red rose 5.5 feet in 24 hours. At midnight Friday it stood at 14.2 feet above datum, or winter level, and was rising steadily.

In the Portage la Prairie area a solid mass of ice on the Assiniboine is acting like a plug in the river.

As an estimated 200 farmers fled their homes in the area Friday night, Mayor H. L. Henderson said one-third of the farm land along the river is under water. In some areas it covers from four to five miles.

BOATS ON MAIN STREET

At Curtis, seven miles east, water was pouring over the tops of dikes.

The worst flood in 30 years struck the town of Douglas, 10 miles east of Brandon, Friday night. Residents sailed down the main street in boats.

At Ile de Chenes, 20 miles south of Winnipeg, water was threatening to swirl into the community.

One Ile de Chenes district family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Fontaine and their nine children, was evacuated at midnight Friday.

The CNR and CPR reported several branch lines severed by rising waters in southern Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

In Alberta the Pembina River washed out four bridges north of Edmonton.

O.C. Soccer Race Hotter; Hearts Win

GLASGOW (Reuters)—Hearts won the Scottish Cup today for the first time since 1906 as they beat Celtic 3-1 before 133,000 fans at Hampden Park here.

Celtic, two goals down after 48 minutes, fought back well, but could not match Hearts' excellent team-work in a hard-played final.

Left-winger Andy Crawford scored Hearts' first two goals, one before half-time and the other after the interval. Celtic hit back in the 54th minute on a goal by inside right Mike Haughney.

A goal by inside right Alfie Conn 10 minutes from the end put Hearts two goals ahead and they held off desperate attacks by Celtic.

LONDON (Reuters) — Sheffield Wednesday today clinched a return to English League First Division soccer after a year's absence when it won the Second Division championship with a 5-2 victory over Bury.

But who will be the second team to go up with Wednesday still was up in the air. The two main challengers, Bristol Rovers and Leeds United, met in a vital match which Leeds won 2-1. Both teams have 48 points, but Bristol has only one match left and Leeds two. Bristol has a superior goal average.

The fight for survival in Division One also was thrown wide open as bottom teams Aston Villa and Huddersfield won and Tottenham Hotspur and Sheffield United lost.

Leyton Orient's hopes of promotion from the Third Division South to the Second Division received a severe jolt when it lost 2-0 at Ipswich.

Oxford Rocks Touring Reds With Jeers, Giant Squib

(Reuters and UP Dispatches)

OXFORD, Eng. — A thunderous explosion while Nikita Khruschchev and Nikolai Bulganin toured Oxford this morning sent their British and Russian security guards racing down a passageway.

There were shouts of student glee as the guards came out sheepishly with the remnants of a large firecracker.

Thousands lined the route through Oxford, where the Soviet leaders visited the town hall while on their way to inspect Britain's atomic research centre at Harwell.

The crowd broke through police lines and swarmed around their car.

A group of Latvian refugees showered leaflets reading: "Be on the alert against Bulganin and Khruschchev. Treachery hides behind their smiles."

Loud booing mingled with some cheers when the Russians entered and left the hall.

Bulganin appeared to interpret the boos as an ovation. He beamed and clasped his hands above his head in a boxer's salute.

As soon as the car carrying the Russians moved off, the crowds broke through police lines and cut the remainder of the 16-car convoy into three sections.

Students climbed lamp posts and walls, hung from windows and scrambled up on official cars. Police had to remove them forcibly.

SEATTLE GOLFER WINS EMPRESS TOURNAMENT

Ken Lindley of Seattle sank a four-foot putt for a birdie three on the 18th green to defeat Dave Coons of Vancouver, Wash., 1 up today at Victoria Golf Club, to win the 26th annual Empress Golf Tournament championship.

It was Lindley's second championship. He won before in 1949.

It was a close battle all the way. Lindley was 2 down starting the back nine, but won the 12th and 15th to square the match, and the 18th hole birdie did the trick.

2 Planes Forced Down But Pilots Uninjured

Two light aircraft were reported in separate accidents on Vancouver Island this morning.

A single-engine Cessna aircraft belonging to the Victoria Flying Club made a forced landing in a farm field between Victoria and Sidney at 11 a.m.

Fifteen minutes later, at 11.15 a.m., a light float-equipped plane taxi-ing across Nanaimo harbor, flipped and sank in the harbor. Only the pontoons showed.

The pilot was rescued by one or four tugs dispatched to the scene. The aircraft was towed closer to shore.

The pilot was identified as Allen Tuck.

Grave Fire Hazard Exists In Tinder Dry Brush Lands

Open brush country adjacent to Victoria is in a "highly dangerous" condition and constitutes a grave fire hazard, officials of two fire departments said today.

Fire Chief Rod Bayles of Langford, in an appeal to residents to seek a permit before lighting fires, said his department has made 19 calls in the last 20 days to extinguish brush fires.

"Our daytime resources have been stretched to the limit in fighting this type of fire," he said.

A Saanich fire department spokesman said this type of fire call is "common" in his area, even though fire permits have been required since April 1.

BROOM HAZARD

Mr. Bayles said that broom in his area which was killed by the November and January frosts is a particularly bad hazard.

"They are nothing but tinder-dry pitch," he said.

Dry, warm weather of the last week has contributed to the hazard, but weatherman William Mackie predicted a cooler Saturday night and Sunday.

"The thermometer reached 70 degrees Friday, but today has been cool, and the maximum Sunday will be 65 degrees," he said. "Sunday will be cloudy, with the cloud cover tending to thin in the afternoon."

HORSE GRABS, KICKS INFANT TO DEATH

MOUNT OLIVE, Miss. (AP)—A horse lifted a 20-month-old child across a fence with his teeth and kicked the infant to death, the child's uncle said today.

Vesta Barnes, uncle of Johnnie Nichols, said the child was standing against the outside of the fence when the work horse suddenly stretched his neck across it, caught the boy's clothing in his teeth and lifted him inside the pen.

The animal then viciously kicked the child in the head and stamped him, the uncle reported.

Russian Vessels Join Britons In Salute to Queen, 30 Today

WINDSOR, England (Reuters)—Russian warships visiting Britain today joined Britons in a 30th birthday salute to the Queen.

The Soviet vessels, which brought Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev to Portsmouth this week, joined British warships in Portsmouth harbor in firing birthday salutes at noon.

The ships of both nations were dressed with masthead flags for the occasion.

The queen celebrated her birthday quietly.

NO OFFICIAL DUTIES

There were no official engagements in the royal diary. After watching the changing of the guard, the Queen went riding with her children in Windsor Great Park and forest.

The Duke of Edinburgh was due back in Windsor in time for a small family luncheon and later in the day the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret were also to join the party.

The Duke has been in Germany for the silver wedding anniversary of his eldest sister, Princess Margarita von Hohenlohe-Lagenburg.

Later in the afternoon Bulganin and Khrushchev were to be received at tea by the Queen.

With all these revelations about Stalin once bein' a Czarist agent, seems there ought t' be a stenographer's note at th' bottom of his epitaph: "Dictator but not Red."

100 Million Bushel Wheat Sale Assured

(See page 21)

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada expects to sell about 100,000,000 bushels under a new International Wheat Agreement announced today, officials here said.

Trade Minister Howe said he is pleased with outcome of the London conference which reached the new agreement.

A statement probably will be made in the Commons Monday.

The officials said Canada is prepared to go along with the new agreement which will provide a price range of $1.50 minimum and $2 maximum a bushel for No. 1 Manitoba Northern wheat in store at Fort William-Port Arthur.

The amount Canada will sell under the agreement, expected to come into effect Aug. 1 when the present IWA expires, is relatively small and there was no tremendous enthusiasm here about the pact.

The United Kingdom will not participate in the agreement.

Outlawing of War Urged By Khrushchev in Britain

LONDON (UP)—Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev linked Russia's familiar appeal for "peaceful co-existence" Friday night with a call to the West to outlaw war and abolish armies.

One London newspaper speculated that the speech was so expertly timed and written to appeal to Britons that it might have been drafted by turncoats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean.

Khrushchev told an array of Britain's top-ranking generals, admirals and air marshals at a naval college banquet that an arms race in the modern world is "like a fox trying to catch its own tail."

"That which is first rate this year may be out of date next year . . ." he said. "I read a press report today that the Americans have produced a fighter which can fly with double-sonic speed. But what can a fighter like that do against a guided missile or rocket? . . .

"At one time, all fighting was done along some definite front line . . . in the case of a new war, it would not be possible to find any definite front line . . .

"There can be only one way out—to give up war altogether, to agree to a reduction of arms as a first step . . . and then to abolish the armed forces."

The skilful timing and the persuasive wording of Khrushchev's "off the cuff" speech increased official pressure on Prime Minister Anthony Eden to match the Russian's propaganda tactics.

So far, Eden has lived up to an agreement to keep his talks with Khrushchev and Premier N. A. Bulganin secret — while the Russian embassy has been handing out texts of the Soviet leader's remarks to all comers.

Last night was the second time during the three days he has spent in Britain that Khrushchev has made a speech at midnight, assuring it major headline play in the British papers before the government can hope to reply.

The wording of his speeches, expertly calculated to appeal to the British mind, has created belief here that they may have been "ghosted" for him by Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean, the turncoat diplomats who fled to Moscow five years ago. The London Daily Mail voiced the opinion publicly.

Reliable sources said efforts have been made at every level of government to persuade Eden to tell Britain's side of the story, so far without effect.

He also told a public meeting the Rosedale-Agassiz and Mission Bridges, the Albion ferry at Fort Langley and the Deas Island tunnel would be completed for traffic within the next two years.

DENIES "GUN DEAL"

VANCOUVER—Police inspector Peter Lamont denied Friday he made "certain promises" to James Miller, self-admitted drug addict, in return for aid in finding a gun, believed used in the killing of Vancouver police constable Gordon Sinclair, 41. He was testifying at the trial of Joseph Gordon, 34, and James Carey, 27, charged with murdering the policeman last Dec. 7. Const. Sinclair was shot down while investigating a report of prowlers.

Larry Hill, lawyer for Gordon, suggested Thursday that city police had arranged a temporary release from jail and subsequently a lenient sentence to enlist Miller's aid in finding the gun by which Constable Sinclair died.

Detective Al Steen, giving evidence at the trial, said the constable's gun was still in his holster under his buttoned tunic when fellow officers found him lying beside his car.

BCHIS SHARE DISPUTED

TRAIL — Demolition of the old Trail-Tadanac hospital is still delayed pending clarification of B.C. Hospital Insurance Service's equity in the property. BCHIS has claimed a 31.6 per cent interest in proceeds from sale. The demolition committee, however, contends that BCHIS share should be 24.7.

PLEADS FOR LASHES

VANCOUVER — A 25-year-old self-confessed drug trafficker and potential "dealer in death" Friday begged for lashes and a short prison term rather than a long sentence.

He was Victor Hansen, who with Mrs. Carol Talbot, 22, and David Crnec, 25, was convicted of possessing narcotics for purposes of trafficking.

Magistrate Orr remanded them to Monday for sentence.

"I think it is a good idea to have a cooling-off period before passing sentence in such serious cases."

The three were arrested after RCMP narcotics squad officers found more than 20 caches of drugs throughout the city.

U.S. Labor Leaders Block B.C. Contract

VANCOUVER (CP)—American labor leaders have been charged with "intimidation tactics and interference" by members of the Tunnel and Rock Workers' Union (AFL) here.

A. R. Andres, president of the Vancouver local, and W. L. Hunchuk, secretary-treasurer, said Friday the 1,500-man local refused to accept an agreement signed between contractors building the Alberta-B.C. natural gas pipeline and international officers of the union.

The contract was also refused by the Vancouver local of the Laborers' Union (AFL). Officers of that local were recently suspended by Joseph V. Moreschi of Washington, general president of the union.

Carl Berg of Edmonton, international representative, was appointed administrator of the local.

Mr. Hunchuk said Mr. Berg threatened the tunnel and rock workers would be taken under international administration "if instructions from the general president in Washington are not obeyed."

Mr. Moreschi said the Vancouver tunnel and rock workers' local had no jurisdiction over construction of the Alberta-B.C. pipeline but Mr. Hunchuk replied that the local is certified for the work in this province.

Mr. Hunchuk said work would stop for one day on the pipeline, an extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and a project to demolish Ripple Rock, a navigation hazard 140 miles northwest of Vancouver, if Mr. Moreschi took over his local.

Vancouver Holdup Suspects Released

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two men and a woman were released Friday after questioning in connection with the $5,000 holdup of a branch of the Bank of Montreal Thursday.

Their release was ordered by RCMP Sergeant Fred Saunders after witnesses to the armed robbery in suburban Burnaby were unable to identify the trio.

Police are still searching for the bandits' getaway car, driven by a blonde aged about 22. None of the money taken by the armed men has been recovered. They missed another $5,000 kept in a cashier's box.

CLOVERDALE (CP)—Liberal Leader Arthur Laing told a party meeting here Friday night the "cloud of suspicion now over the present provincial government must be resolved before it dares go to the people."

"I don't think Premier Bennett will dare meet us for another session. We can have a political explosion any time and we must be prepared for it," he said.

Sunday Sport Issue Up to B.C.—Garson

VANCOUVER (CP)—Justice Minister Garson indicated Friday the question of Sunday sport in Vancouver and the rest of British Columbia could be decided by the provincial government.

He said he has so far received no application or briefs of any kind from B.C. groups.

But he added what B.C. does is the province's business "upon which I would prefer not to pass any judgment."

"I think the Lord's Day Act in its present form allows a wide measure of expression to the provincial authorities and on the whole I think it has been working quite satisfactorily."

CANUCKS ON ROPES AGAINST 'PEG TONIGHT

WINNIPEG (CP)—Art Chapman, coach of Vancouver Canucks, said Friday night his club had its "back to the wall" for Saturday night's all-important Western Hockey League game with Winnipeg Warriors.

The clubs meet in the sixth game of their best-of-seven final series. Winnipeg has a 3-2 edge in games.

"They must produce or else," Chapman said. "We didn't look too good Thursday night but I think Warriors made us look that way. They were on top of us all the time. However, we have no alibis."

It's the 10th anniversary this fall of that U.S. monthly and a cross-country poll is being taken to determine the men of the decade in their chosen field.

Ready, let's go.

In baseball, would you give the nod to Joe DiMaggio who closed out an illustrious career with the Yankees, "say-hey" Willie Mays, the bright young star of the New York Giants; Robin Roberts, six times a 20-game winner in the National League . . . or, are you one of the legion which idolizes Stan the Man Musial?

Or would you pass the bouquet to Ted Williams, the guy wo took two years off to fight for the marines, and then bounced back to be the terrific thumper he was before? We would.

Rocky Wears His Crown Well

Now for boxing. Do you still recall the cold, impassive approach of Joe Louis as he shuffled in for the kill? Do you fancy Ray Robinson, once called the best fighter, pound-for-pound in the world? . . . there wasn't any better than this pair. Or would you cast your decision in favor of rollicking Rocky Marciano, king of the curent crop and as fierce a belter as can be found in the squared circle?

You have to beat a champion to be one, and nobody's come close to doing that to Rocky.

Pro football is next on the list—and that means American ball by Sport standards.

Ours came mostly by television, and three men have stood out. First, there's Lou Groza, the "toe"; then Doak Walker, one of the few All-Americans, who was still all-American when the dough was on the line.

But for one fellow who could do more for one team and to another, Otto Graham must rank front and centre. With Graham, the Cleveland Browns were almost unbeatable. Without him they took their lumps like the rest.

He "took charge," and he was the Browns, and probably the greatest field general pro football has ever known.

There's only one man in golf, and that's Ben Hogan. 1 times U.S. National Open champion, bantam Ben recove. . from a serious injury suffered in a car accident to regain the heights that seemed lost to him forever. For ability, plus courage, none have matched the chain-smoking Hogan through the years; and his name today is still as magic as his putter.

Gordie or the Rocket—It's Your Pick

But here it comes to again. Hockey. This is a perennial —Rocket Richard vs. Gordie Howe (or is Terry Sawchuk your man?).

The Rocket, greatest goal scorer of modern days, against Howe, who does everything well. Opinion will be divided down the line forever on these two. The Rocket is crowding the shady side of the hill; Howe can see many glittering horizons ahead. And both are 10-year men.

You pick one—we can't. But press us and we'd say The Rocket.

King of the thoroughbreds is Nashua, with a new-money mark around the corner, and the one victory he had to win—over Swaps—behind him.

Pancho Gonzales keeps coming back to whip the upstarts who threaten his diadem in tennis, but didn't Frank Sedgman provide a more than a few thrills too. But in the final analysis, it was, and still is, Gonzales.

Roger Beat John, Didn't He?

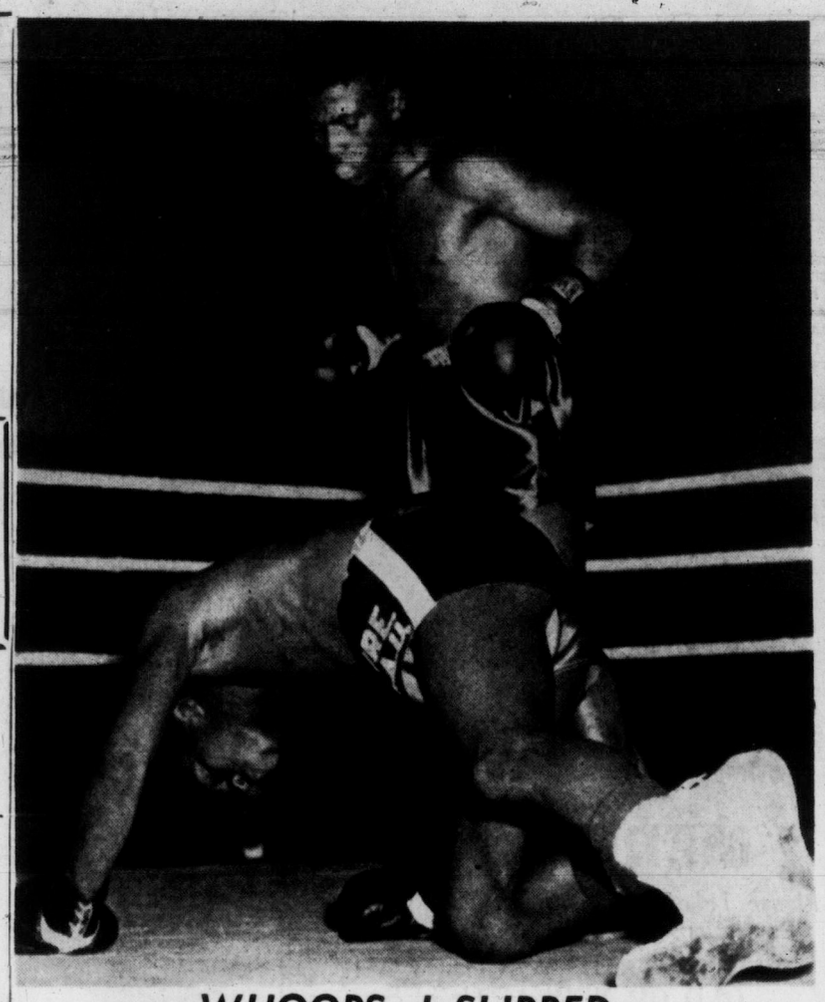
The Empire Games in Vancouver helped solve this one.

In track and field has there been a more commanding figure than Roger Bannister? What about John Landy? you say. Bannister, who first cracked the four-minute barrier, cracked Landy, too, in the "mile of the century" at Vancouver, and to the champion must go the spoils. He made four-minute history; he beat the world record holder, Landy, and he, in our books, made the biggest story of the decade.

Else why would the four-minute mile still be history; which it is.

Or until Landy runs a 3.56 mile, which he could do; and soon.

Now who have we missed? Hmmm! Jean Beliveau!



WHOOPS, I SLIPPED

Portland lightweight Johnny White sprawls on his hands and knees after slipping in his bout with Bobby Hicks during the Optimists' "Tournament of Champions" boxing show at Central Junior High School gym Friday night. White came off the canvas to go on and lose a tough split decision to Hicks.

Close Battles Feature Optimist Gloves Tourney

By BILL RAYNER

Sometime around 11 tonight, the best fighter in the second annual Victoria Optimist Club's "Tournament of Champions" will have been chosen. It will be a tough decision.

For Friday night at Central Junior High School gym, on the first card of the two-day amateur boxing show, the 10 bouts presented to the 1,000 cash customers were all fast, exciting and, with one exception, extremely close.

Only clear-cut decision was hammered out by Dale Nicely, Portland, whose stinging attack to the stomach summarily deflated Tommy Delveccio, Vancouver, at 1.42 of the first round of their 147-pound encounter. It was the only knockout of the night.

Earlier, Bobby Hicks, the brown bomber from Seattle who was last year's "Champion of Champions," threw the race wide open with a scrambly decision over game Johnny White, Portland.

Hicks, who stepped up to the 132-point bracket to meet White, had his victory roundly booed by the crowd. It could very easily have gone the other way.

Best fight of the night was the final, a bruising pier six brawl between light-heavyweights Willis Mitchell of Seattle and Lindy Lindmoser of Vancouver. Mitchell out-blasted Lindmoser for the split decision.

Here's How They Won and Lost

Results of the other fights were as follows:

119-pound class — Brian O'Hare, Victoria, counterpunching and backing up all the way, took a split decision from Darryl McQuarry, Portland.

119-pound class—Busy, quick-punching Johnny Phillips, South Burnaby, outpointed long-swinging George Hobson, Everett.

125 pound class — Gil Durey, Eugene, classy ex-Australian champion, scored repeatedly with straight lefts to take nod from Floyd Millsten, Kent.

139-pound class — Kurt Max, Vancouver, outbombed Tom Sullivan, Kent, in another wild-swinging, enthusiastic brawl.

147-pound class—Vancouver's Jimmy Walters, showing his class as Canadian champion, took decision from rugged Squeak Weisgerber, RCN. Weisgerber took automatic eight-count for knock-down in first round.

165-pound class — Harvey Burke, Portland, a slope-shouldered carbon copy of Jersey Joe Walcott in his palmier days, used rocking left hand to take split decision over Jimmy Vangel, Kent.

During the intermission, RCN physical instructors gave an informative and highly hilarious demonstration of the do's and don'ts of boxing.

Finalists Clash Tonight

Tonight, 12 bouts will wind up the tourney, including finals in all divisions.

Brian O'Hare and Johnny Phillips will clash in the 119-pound final, followed by Gil Durey and Bill Schallis, Seattle, in the 125-pound final, and 112-pounders Dick Murikami, Salt Spring Island and Tommy Takao, Seattle.

In the 132-pound final, Bobby Hicks will meet Dave Peters, Portland, while Kurt Max will meet Harold Mann, Vancouver, for the right to meet Willie Azzi in the 139-pound final.

Jimmy Walters and Dale Nicely will meet for the 147-pound title, followed by Rip Kirby, RCN, and Wade Knisely, Seattle, in a 156-pound bout.

The 165-pound class will see Wilbur Young, Seattle and Gary Oakden, South Burnaby, meet for the right to meet Harvey Burke, while 175-pounders Willis Mitchell and Jim Robertson, Seattle, will clash in their final.

Heavyweights Bruce Olson, Portland, and Bob Stratman, Seattle, will round out the show.

Mounties Start Late; Edge Sacs

By United Press

All the winners in the Pacific Coast League used the big inning to score wins in Friday night's game, but the Vancouver Mounties didn't get around to the large frame until early this morning.

The newcomer Mounties pushed across three runs in the top of the 13th inning to dump Sacramento 6-3 in a game that consumed four hours and 16 minutes and wasn't decided until after midnight.

San Diego increased its PCL lead to a game and a half by scoring five times in the second frame and upending Seattle 8-2 on Ed Erautt's six-hit pitching. Cholly Naranjo limited Portland to three hits and the Hollywood Stars got a 7-0 win. And San Francisco had a five-run inning that was just big enough to allow the Seals to beat Los Angeles 6-5 with a run in the bottom of the ninth with two out.

Sacramento committed five infield errors in the extended game with Vancouver and let 16 hits go for naught as the Mounties caught them in the eighth and won the game in the unlucky frame.

Routers to the Fore In Times Golf Semis

Colwood Golf Club will be no place for the footsore or the blister-prone Sunday as the Times Vancouver Island Match Play Open Golf Tournament enters the semi-final round.

With the field cut to four players, the tournament will switch from 18-hole matches to the more gruelling and significant 36-hole route at Colwood Golf Club.

In the championship division, Ted Colgate and Vince Clarkson tee off at 9.30 and 2 and Bill McColl and Laurie Kerr stage their course warfare at 9.40 and 2.10.

Finalists decided by Sunday's matches get little respite as they enter a 36-hole final the following Sunday at the hilly Gorge Vale Golf Club.

Sunday's draw follows:

CHAMPIONSHIP

9.30 and 2.00—Ted Colgate vs. Vince Clarkson.

9.40 and 2.10—Bill McColl vs. Laurie Kerr.

HANDICAP

THIS FIGHTER COLD

Somewhere in Victoria is a three-quarter-length leather jacket, last seen reposing in the back seat of a 1950 green Chrysler Windsor.

The jacket belongs to Gil Durey, who is in town over the weekend to fight in the second annual Optimist Club's "Tournament of Champions." Durey, over from Australia two years ago, came up to Canada at Christmas from his new home in Oregon, and hitchhiked to Victoria from Nanaimo.

The last ride received by Gil and his chum was to the Legislative Buildings in Victoria in the aforementioned green Chrysler. He left the jacket behind when he left the car.

So anyone nursing a misplaced leather jacket can turn it in to Gil tonight at Central Junior High School gym.

Three Share Lead In Arlington Golf

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (BUP)—Three pros went into today's third round of the $15,000 Arlington open golf tournament deadlocked with 133 totals—defending champion Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City; Billy Maxwell, Abilene, Tex., and Pete Fleming, Hot Springs, Ark.

Wininger joined Ernie Vossler of Fort Worth, Tex., in tying the course record of 30 for the front nine yesterday, but Wininger put a 34 with it to tie for the lead, while Vossler dropped to a 37 to tie for sixth with a 137.

Maxwell, the first day leader with a 64, turned in a creditable 69 yesterday while Fleming used his knowledge of the home course to put together rounds of 66 and 67 at the Hot Springs Country Club.

Two strokes off the pace was Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Dallas, with rounds of 65-70—135. His total was still nine under par for the two rounds and one stroke lower than that of Buster Cupit, Ruston, La., and George Bayer, Cincinnati, O.

Pancho Wins Again

CHICAGO (AP) — Pancho Gonzales defeated Tony Trabert 6-3, 6-3 Friday night in their world championship tennis tour match.

The triumph gave Gonzales a 61-17 edge in their 100-game series.

Nancy Models Crown, Gains Paddle Final

Queen Nancy Craig of Victoria, table tennis' answer to Grace Kelly, took a big step towards defending her Western Canada women's title Friday night in Vancouver.

Nancy defeated Helen Boucher of Quesnel in a semifinal match and moved into tonight's final against Betty Nicholl of Vancouver.

In men's singles, Victorians Eddy and Art Ngai moved into the semifinals with Mogen Larsen of Vancouver and Carl Cole of Portland.

Art and Eddy will open defence of their men's doubles title tonight also.

Mrs. Craig lost the possible chance of entering two finals when she and partner Art Barran of Vancouver were ousted in the semifinals of the mixed doubles by Bob Hage and Miss Boucher.

Laurie Greenwood, another Victorian, lost out in the second round of the senior singles when he was defeated by Kal Cizek of Vancouver.

Wilbur and Willshires Do It Again

Playoff action decided two tenpin and three fivepin team champions this week of pin history.

In one of the closest matches ever rolled on city alleys, defending titlists Willshire Heat nipped Ming's Kitchen by a mere two pins to remain Senior Tenpin League champs.

It was the third successive league championship for Willshires as they maintained a strong hold on the Poodle Dog trophy.

Paced by veteran Wilbur Webb with a 215-203-226—644 series, Willshires posted a 2,669 three-game scratch total, while Mings rally in the third game fell a little short and they came in with 2,667.

The two-pin victory for Willshire evened an old score. About four years ago they missed the title by only one pin—when an anchor man "picked a cherry" to miss a spare in the final game.

Other members of the winning team were Ken Munn, Nip Sage, Nick Howard and George Motion. Captain Wilf Johnstone sat the night out.

Mings were runners-up, with Suncrest taking third by defeating Gorge Hotel, 2,622-2,431.

In the commercial tenpin section Tillicums were crowned new champions and given possession of the Arcade Perpetual Trophy.

Second-half winners during the season, Tillicums downed defending champion Shaw Sheet Metal, 2,735-2,686, in the final Wednesday night. Tillicums rolled with a total 243 handicap, Shaws with 222.

Rom Knott was top man for the winners with a 542 triple. Other members were Red Lawson, Jack Bacon, Ralph Baker, Dick Donaldson. Ollie Corbett and Jack Caddell did not see action.

Watson's Men's Wear captured third with a 13-pin victory over Victoria Press, 2,813-2,800.

In fivepin action at Gibson's, C. A. Smith Roofing shot a five-game total of 5,906 to take top spot in the commercial section.

Reg Waggoner, Harry Cool, Bill Cool, G. Smith, Harold Gent, Ron Cush and Howie Butler were members of the title-winning squad.

At Capital City, Sparks, a team composed of Stan Semple, Joan Semple, Bud Laycock, Mrs. Winkworth and Hap Gandy, won the Jubilee Hospital league title with a 2,970 total.

X-Rays took the runner-up spot with 2,800 and Vampires finished third at 2,778.

Towhees won the IOF league championship with a 5,254 effort. Members of the team were Ken Jones, Peggy Garnet, Fred Taylor, Clara Sutcliffe and Bill Vanderlinde.

Jokers were second with 5,225 and Pirates won the consolation roll-off with 5,541.

Top major league scores were turned in by Bill McKinnon, 806; Harry Cool, 773; and Roy Harris, 762 (377).

Enthusiastic up-Island fivepinners have won their point regarding the Vancouver Island Fivepin Open Championships. The pin-meet has been delayed one week to May 5 and 6, May 12 and 13.

Teams from as far north as Campbell River have inquired about the event, which offers as top bauble the Victoria Daily Times Trophy.

WORLD'S SMALLEST TOTEM INDIAN FESTIVAL FEATURE

The world's smallest totem pole will be a featured exhibit at the two-day Vancouver Island Indian Festival at Maple Bank Park, Songhees Reserve, on May 20 and 21.

"It is the world's smallest, and not to be confused with the world's tallest," said festival president, Percy Ross. "We will be showing it under glass."

The miniature pole was carved by Stan James, of the Nanaimo band. A magnifying glass is required to see all the details.

President Ross said preparations are being completed for a festival "bigger and better than anything we've done before."

BETWEEN TIMES

By

MONTE ROBERTS

I have been asked to tell all I know about showers. Fortunately, this is not very much.

The showers I have been asked to tell about are the matrimonial, rather than meteorological variety.

The word "shower" in this sense refers to the loot acquired, not the event at which it is distributed, but since 1926 shower-party has been officially admitted into the language of the civilized world.

This is about the only civilized aspect of showers.

Showers are given by unmarried women for other unmarried women who are to be married, in the hopes that when the first-mentioned unmarried women are to be married, the second-mentioned unmarried women (by then married) will give a shower for the first-mentioned unmarried women.

Married women give showers for unmarried women to pay back for showers incurred when they (the married women) were unmarried.

Married women are at an advantage when giving showers, as they can always gift-wrap the automatic cake-burner they received at THEIR shower.

Men, married or unmarried, rarely give showers for other men. They are too busy brooding about being married, or being about to be married, as the case may be.

Women, on the other hand, consider showers a legitimate form of larceny, and a good way to start furnishing the home with gadgets of dubious value.

However, some showers are well-organized. The bride-to-be explains in detail what pattern of silver she is collecting, so when the silver shower comes along, she can be dreadfully surprised and excited at receiving exactly the pattern she wanted.

This is another proof of the efficiency of women.

I am told on good authority there are many varieties of showers, all of them just peachy good fun. These include miscellaneous, kitchen, linen, pantry, cup and saucer, grocery, gadgets, and couple showers.

Couple showers provide a man's only opportunity to get in on the loot.

Couple showers also provide an hilarious moment of good clean fun, when the bride-to-be is presented with a lovely corsage, and the groom is given a comic corsage made up of carrots and stuff.

This is almost as funny as when the men wear the women's hats.

I have done a considerable amount of research on how to avoid showers, but it is terribly bad form to not go to a shower. In other words, if you know someone who is going to be married, you've had it, unless you get out of town until the mating season is over.

That is all I know about showers.

Runaway Rail Car Rams Auto

Driver Had Parked 5 Minutes Before

By PETE LOUDON

A 70-ton coal car loosened by a broken coupling charged down a siding at Kirk Coal Yard in Victoria West today, jumped a pair of 12-inch iron stops and smashed an automobile like an egg shell.

The driver, A. A. Moore, 2514 Blackwood, had parked and left his car just five minutes previously.

The coal car also knocked down three large trees at least one of which was 12 inches thick at the butt.

The accident occurred at about 8 a.m. Police did not attend as the wreck happened on private property.

"It's lucky there were no children around or cars crossing Russell Street where the rails intersect," said Mr. Moore. "Nothing would have stopped it."

BROKEN PIN

Mr. Moore, manager of the Kirk Coal Division, Canadian Collieries, said the accident apparently resulted from a broken pin in a coupling joining the loaded coal car to a car loaded with steel rods and a Diesel engine. The engine had been shunting the coal car into the yard from E & N feeder lines.

Once freed, the coal car picked up momentum due to a slight down-grade. The collision pushed the automobile about 40 feet and virtually tore the metal of the vehicle into long strips.

"I could see the darn thing coming down the track," said Mr. Moore, ". . . but it was too late to do anything about it."

His car was fully insured and adjusters had delivered him a new car before noon today. His previous car will remain pinned underneath the coal car until E & N officials send a crew to put the open box-car back on the track.

"I have no idea when or how they are going to do it," said Mr. Moore.

Delegates will attend from all parts of B.C., Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana.

From Victoria will be Victor Midgley, James Moffat, E. T. Staley, Peter Tait, Arthur Leam, D. S. Bushell and Ernest Oliver. From Port Alberni will be James Trebett.

Billets Wanted For May 24 Bands

Three bands and marching units from points in Washington will take part in Victoria Day celebrations here and Greater Victoria Celebrations Association officials want 200 billets for the visitors.

Western Washington College of Education will send a band of 35 girls and 40 boys and seek accommodation from May 19 to 21. Bellingham High School drill team wants billets for about 40 girls for May 20 and 21. Port Townsend Rainbow girls' drill team has 40 girls who would like to stay overnight prior to the Monday parade. Persons interested in aiding the GVCA should phone 2-3912 between 9.30 and 4 p.m. or call at room 19, City Hall.

Gyros to Eat Afloat

Victoria Gyros will eat their regular Monday luncheon afloat for the first time, next week.

The 70-member service club will be guests of Island Tug and Barge Ltd. and will tour the harbor industry at noon.

At 1 p.m. they will go aboard the famous deep-sea towing vessel Ss Sudbury and eat in its galley, guests of the firm.

LAC BILL JOBSON

Comox Lancasters Flying Overseas

Three Aircraft, Crews to Ireland For Maritime Warfare Training

Three Lancaster aircraft of 407 Maritime Squadron left Comox Airport today on the first leg of a flight to Prestwick, Scotland, and six weeks of training with the Royal Navy.

This is the fourth year crews from the Comox station have headed overseas for the course in maritime warfare tactics at HMS Sea Eagle in Londonderry, Northern Ireland.

Sqdn. Ldr. Hugh Miller, radio leader of 407 Squadron, is flight commander. In the crews of the three aircraft are FO Ted Cooper and LAC Bill Jobson, both of Victoria.

RCAF officials at the airport said the course is considered by aircrews as a prize worth working for, and each year written examinations are held to help decide what crews will make the flight.

Schedule calls for a stay in Ottawa tonight, then a maintenance check at Summerside, P.E.I., on Sunday. On Monday the three planes will take off for Gander, Nfld., and Prestwick.

Each plane will carry its regular two pilots, two navigators, three radio operators and one flight engineer. In addition, two of them will carry two ground crewmen to do maintenance work, and the third will have one.

TRAVEL BY SHIP

Other ground crew personnel left here Thursday via RCAF Air Transport Command to Montreal, and will travel by ship to Great Britain and meet the RCAF craft in Scotland.

Although on the same schedule, the aircraft will not fly together or in formation, but likely will be as much as 15 minutes apart.

They must be ready to start training at Londonderry Friday. On their return trip in June they are expected to land at Lagens in the Azores, off the coast of Spain.

Holed Cruiser Patched, Set For Tow Home

The badly-holed 38-foot power cruiser Lylann, which went ashore in Heydon Bay Thursday night, has been patched by Pacific Salvage Co. and will be towed to Vancouver, Albert Smith, superintendent, said today.

Heydon Bay is in Loughborough Inlet, on the mainland, about 125 miles northwest of Vancouver.

The vessel, owned by Paragon Supplies and used to demonstrate marine equipment, carried a crew of two, who were uninjured when she struck a rock.

Mr. Smith said Lylann was holed below the water line and beached to avoid sinking. The salvage company's tug Nanaimo Chief was despatched to her aid.

8,000 Pamphlets To Outline Playlot Contest

About 8,000 pamphlets outlining rules for the annual Victoria and district backyard playground contest will be distributed to residents next week.

Schoolchildren will take entry forms home from class and these must be returned to teachers before May 31.

Entries must include one or more pieces of permanent equipment, such as a swing, see-saw, sandbox or playhouse.

Sponsors, Victoria and District PTA Council, believe more backyard playgrounds will aid in keeping youngsters off streets and assist physical and mental development.

Judging will take place and awards be presented prior to school closure June 28.

Framed certificates will be awarded to classes with the highest number of entries, to schools with the highest number of entries and to individuals with the best playgrounds there will be awards of cups and shields.

Archbishop Never Doubted Integrity Of Civil Servants

Archbishop Harold E. Sexton today denied that he had ever questioned the "usefulness and integrity" of civil service personnel, as suggested by G. K. Sammon of the Department of Veterans' Affairs Employees National Association.

Mr. Sammon made the remark in discussion of the archbishop's speech in the Anglican synod Wednesday regarding federal wage increases and the continuing plight of the old-age pensioner.

"Most of us are aware that one generally receives courtesy and consideration from a civil servant, either federal or provincial," the archbishop said. "In the portion of my recent address that provoked discussion, I was merely drawing attention to the apparent lack of economic vision on the part of their employers."

Dinner Celebration to Mark St. George's Day on Monday

The Royal Society of St. George, Victoria branch, will celebrate St. George's Day on Monday with a dinner at the Glenshiel Hotel, 606 Douglas Street, at 6 p.m.

K. C. Symonds, president, will be in the chair, with Harry Langley, vice-president, and Mrs. Bertha Parsons at the head table.

"This is England's day and we hope all English people living in Victoria will honor it," Mr. Langley said. (Persons wishing to attend the dinner may contact him at 1010 Foul Bay Road. Telephone 3-4567.)

April 23 is celebrated by English people throughout the world as the birthday of St. George, patron saint of England and first of the Roman Christian knights.

"We also celebrate the birth of William Shakespeare on this date," Mr. Langley said.

(The Encyclopedia Britannica says the exact date of Shakespeare's birth is not known, although he was baptized in the parish church of Stratford-on-Avon on April 26, 1564.)

ASK The TIMES

Q. — When did Sir Walter Raleigh bring the potato as we know it, back to England?—Mrs. D. G. M.

A.—The origin of the potato is lost in antiquity, and it is doubtful if history will ever be more exact than it is now. Some light may be shed, however, by the knowledge that when the Spaniards invaded South America in 1524, they found a large number of varieties and species under cultivation by the natives as food. One story says Raleigh brought the potato to England in 1585, but investigation appears to prove the true potato did not reach England until more than 100 years after that date. This indicates how little solid foundation there is for the Raleigh and other legends.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Bible (as Usual) Best Seller With Six Million Sales in '55

Best-sellers come and go, but the Bible keeps rolling along. Last year was the all-time record year for Bible sales in the U.S., and publishers and booksellers alike figure that '56 should see a new record.

Each year, too, the Bible comes out in some new dress. By now there are an estimated 1,000 different versions of the Bible and the two Testaments — in everything from Braille editions for the blind to special versions for children.

In 1955, some six million Bibles were sold in the U.S. and Canada. By far the vast majority of these were the King James version editions, but sizable sales were racked up for the Old Testament sold separately, the new Revised Standard Version and other special versions of all or portions of the Bible.

This six million figure compares with the approximately 450,000 sales of the so-called "best-seller" of '55—Anne Morrow Lindbergh's "Gift from the Sea." And, when you figure the Bible has been in circulation for a few years before, it's easy to see the tremendous edge this sacred book has over all other books ever printed.

Publishers and booksellers see the steadily increasing sales of Bibles as due to two main factors. Perhaps most important is the rise in population, and the increase in family units. Most such units feel that one of the first purchases they should make is a Bible. The second factor, perhaps not so coldly statistical, is the resurgence of religious interest in the Christian world.

YOU SAID TO ME-

A Sunday message of help and comfort for those puzzled, depressed or low in spirit.

You said to me, "What does the Cross mean to you?"

It means to me the absolute surrender of my will to God. This is very hard for me to do, because selfishness creeps into my life in such a subtle manner. I make what I think are sacrifices for people I love, and find that I am only trying to force them into what I think is the right pattern of life for them. Everyone has the right to make his own decisions, under the guidance of God, and true love will not try to rule the life of child or friend, but to give them strength to develop their own personalities, and to be and do what God wants them to be and do. Thus, I have had to learn, and am still learning.

I love peace and quietness, don't you? But when it comes to the point of feeling resentful when one's pattern of life is disturbed, then there is something wrong. This also is something I have to surrender, for there is a great difference between the quietness and confidence of which the Bible speaks, which gives us strength to do battle, and the peace and quietness which means the cessation of all effort, and the selfish enjoyment of ease.

I like to be the one to do things, but I have to learn to work in the background where no one is observing me —to be glad when others win a victory—to truly rejoice in the praise given to them.

But the Cross of Christ means to me forgiveness and new strength—the reaching down of the Hand of God to grasp mine and pull me up out of the material into the spiritual. It means the death of self, and the rising to new life and strength and joy and power. It means life eternal, and the purpose of God worked out by all men everywhere.

LONDON NEWSMEN'S CHURCH

War-Torn St. Bride's Restored by 1957

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Work on the reconstruction of 13th century St. Bride's, the London church that was bombed in 1940, is proceeding apace, says the rector, Rev. Cyril Armitage, MVO, in a letter to friends in Victoria.

He hopes the church will be fully restored by early 1957.

Mr. Armitage, formerly precentor at Westminster Abbey, became rector of St. Bride's in 1951 when it was just an empty shell, the interior having been burned out by an incendiary bomb.

He speedily organized Sunday services in the vestry and cajoled "hard-boiled" newspapermen, working in nearby offices, to officiate as sidesmen on a once-a-month basis. The roster system was necessary as most of them live miles outside the city and dislike travelling up on Sundays except when producing Monday morning papers.

Mr. Armitage is now known as the "chaplain of Fleet Street," and is frequently found talking with newsmen in their own haunts.

But the conversation usually concludes with an invitation to St. Bride's and in consequence many men who never attended church before are now to be found officiating at the altar on Sundays.

One of the rector's right-hand men is Bernard Nicholls, public relations officer for the Church Missionary Society in Salisbury Square, just off Fleet Street.

Mr. Nicholls gave up a business position and accepted a lower salary to take on this work for the society.

Chinese Lions Charter Night Attended by 250

Victoria Chinese Lions Club went into official operation Friday night when its charter was presented in a ceremony at Empress Hotel.

Lions from clubs in Victoria, Island points, the mainland and Washington — 250 in all — crowded the hotel ballroom to see president Peter Wong accept the document from district governor Bob Wheeler, Port Angeles.

Greetings were extended by Mayor Percy Scurrah, who said: "In the past 50 years, service clubs have exerted a profound influence on the business and professional life of our people."

He said Victoria Lions clubs, of which there are now four, have a "splendid record."

2 Planes Forced Down But Pilots Uninjured

Two light aircraft were reported in separate accidents on Vancouver Island this morning.

A single-engine Cessna aircraft belonging to the Victoria Flying Club made a forced landing in a farm field between Victoria and Sidney at 11 a.m.

Pilot of the aircraft was identified as G. Tone, Victoria, a licensed operator. He made the forced landing on property beside Martindale road. Minor damage was caused.

Fifteen minutes later, at 11.15 a.m., a light float-equipped plane taxi-ing across Nanaimo harbor, flipped and sank in the harbor.

Only the pontoons showed. The pilot was rescued by one or four tugs dispatched to the scene. The aircraft was towed closer to shore.

The pilot was identified as Allen Tuck.

100 Million Bushel Wheat Sale Assured

(See page 21)

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada expects to sell about 100,000,000 bushels under a new International Wheat Agreement announced today, officials here said.

Trade Minister Howe said he is pleased with outcome of the London conference which reached the new agreement.

A statement probably will be made in the Commons Monday.

The officials said Canada is prepared to go along with the new agreement which will provide a price range of $1.50 minimum and $2 maximum a bushel for No. 1 Manitoba Northern wheat in store at Fort William-Port Arthur.

The amount Canada will sell under the agreement, expected to come into effect Aug. 1 when the present IWA expires, is relatively small and there was no tremendous enthusiasm here about the pact.

The United Kingdom will not participate in the agreement.

TALLEST TOTEM NEARS COMPLETION

Length of the world's tallest totem impressed shareholders today as it was moved from the Thunderbird Park carving shed to new location in civil service parking lot, where painting will be completed. In carved, painted state, totem looks even longer than when it was 160-feet tree. The big "stick," which weighed estimated nine tons in raw state, was jockeyed gingerly into position by two Heaney's lift cranes. Next important step will be installation. (Times Photo.)

Oxford Rocks Touring Reds With Jeers, Giant Squib

(Reuters and UP Dispatches)

OXFORD, Eng. — A thunderous explosion while Nikita Khruschchev and Nikolai Bulganin toured Oxford this morning sent their British and Russian security guards racing down a passageway.

There were shouts of student glee as the guards came out sheepishly with the remnants of a large firecracker.

Thousands lined the route through Oxford, where the Soviet leaders visited the town hall while on their way to inspect Britain's atomic research centre at Harwell.

The crowd broke through police lines and swarmed around their car.

A group of Latvian refugees showered leaflets reading: "Be on the alert against Bulganin and Khruschchev. Treachery hides behind their smiles."

Loud booing mingled with some cheers when the Russians entered and left the hall.

Bulganin appeared to interpret the boos as an ovation. He beamed and clasped his hands above his head in a boxer's salute.

As soon as the car carrying the Russians moved off, the crowds broke through police lines and cut the remainder of the 16-car convoy into three sections.

Students climbed lamp posts and walls, hung from windows and scrambled up on official cars. Police had to remove them forcibly.

GLASGOW (Reuters)—Hearts won the Scottish Cup today for the first time since 1906 as they beat Celtic 3-1 before 133,000 fans at Hampden Park here.

Celtic, two goals down after 48 minutes, fought back well, but could not match Hearts' excellent team-work in a hard-played final.

Left-winger Andy Crawford scored Hearts' first two goals, one before half-time and the other after the interval. Celtic hit back in the 54th minute on a goal by inside right Mike Haughney.

LONDON (Reuters) — Sheffield Wednesday today clinched a return to English League First Division soccer after a year's absence when it won the Second Division championship with a 5-2 victory over Bury.

But who will be the second team to go up with Wednesday still was up in the air. The two main challengers, Bristol Rovers and Leeds United, met in a vital match which Leeds won 2-1. Both teams have 48 points, but Bristol has only one match left and Leeds two. Bristol has a superior goal average.

The fight for survival in Division One also was thrown wide open as bottom teams Aston Villa and Huddersfield won and Tottenham Hotspur and Sheffield United lost.

Leyton Orient's hopes of promotion from the Third Division South to the Second Division received a severe jolt when it lost 2-0 at Ipswich.

SEATTLE GOLFER WINS EMPRESS TOURNAMENT

Ken Lindley of Seattle sank a four-foot putt for a birdie three on the 18th green to defeat Dave Coons of Vancouver, Wash., 1 up today at Victoria Golf Club, to win the 26th annual Empress Golf Tournament championship.

It was Lindley's second championship. He won before in 1949.

It was a close battle all the way. Lindley was 2 down starting the back nine, but won the 12th and 15th to square the match, and the 18th hole birdie did the trick.

In the ladies' final, Mrs. R. E. Fraser of Seattle turned in a crisp par four on the 16th hole to defeat Victoria's Mrs. H. G. MacKenzie, 3 and 2, for the championship.

Former CNR Express Worker Held in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—RCMP said here today information from the underworld led to the recovery Friday night of about $22,000—half the cash taken from a CNR express truck in Edmonton April 9—and arrest of a man questioned here last weekend by Edmonton police.

Police said George Soga, 25, former CNR employee, was arrested in his car near Cloverdale, B.C., 25 miles southeast of here.

RCMP officers, who said they had been "quite active" in the case, indicated they acted on tips from the underworld that a large amount of "hot" $5 bills was to be transferred to a "fence."

Police said Soga, who flew here from Edmonton last week in a chartered plane, was questioned after his arrival here by the RCMP and an Edmonton city detective and later released.

He will be returned to the Alberta city and charged with theft.

Investigating officers also indicated they believe the Edmonton theft was the work of more than one man.

"It doesn't look like the work of a lone wolf," said a spokesman.

The money, all in marked $5 bills, was in transit to a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, when it disappeared.

A city detective-sergeant and an RCMP escort left Edmonton today for the Vancouver suburb to take Soga back for trial.

New Plan on Politics Splits Labor Congress

By JOHN LeBLANC, Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Union leaders hoped today a new middle-of-the-road plan on political action could stave off a scrap among opponents at next week's founding convention of 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress.

Drafted at closed-door discussions here this week, the plan was described by informants as a saw-off between political neutrality and outright endorsation of the CCF party.

It was worked out among heads of the Trades and Labor Congress and the Canadian Congress of Labor when it became apparent the original idea of total neutrality might not be accepted by the 1,600 delegates at the TCL-CCL merger convention opening here Monday.

Sharp cleavages in the political views of unions making up the new congress, as outlined in resolutions sent in for the meeting, has pointed to a warm convention floor fight which it was feared might disturb the unity theme of the big organization.

With that in mind, leaders of the CCF-supporting CCL and the traditionally-neutral TLC went part way towards meeting opposing views in the hope a compromise plan could avert an open battle. This plan was reported to have a good chance of meeting the objective.

As described by informants, it would not tie the new congress to supporting the CCF but would leave ground for indirect co-operation with the Socialist party.

It was reported to involve the establishment of a committee that would be a clearing

Floods Sweep Prairie Towns

WINNIPEG (CP)—A spring flood peak on the Red River at least six inches above the top of major dikes in the Greater Winnipeg area was forecast today by the provincial flood forecasting committee. The peak is two feet higher than the last forecast.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP) — Southern Manitoba crouched behind rising walls of sandbags and earthen dikes today as muddy torrents of water swirled through towns and villages on their mad rush to the Red and Assiniboine Rivers and their tributaries.

In Winnipeg the Red rose 5.5 feet in 24 hours. At midnight Friday it stood at 14.2 feet above datum, or winter level, and was rising steadily.

In the Portage la Prairie area a solid mass of ice on the Assiniboine is acting like a plug in the river.

As an estimated 200 farmers fled their homes in the area Friday night, Mayor H. L. Henderson said one-third of the farm land along the river is under water. In some areas it covers from four to five miles.

At Curtis, seven miles east, water was pouring over the tops of dikes.

The worst flood in 30 years struck the town of Douglas, 10 miles east of Brandon, Friday night. Residents sailed down the main street in boats.

At Ile de Chenes, 20 miles south of Winnipeg, water was threatening to swirl into the community.

One Ile de Chenes district family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Fontaine and their nine children, was evacuated at midnight Friday.

The CNR and CPR reported several branch lines severed by rising waters in southern Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

In Alberta the Pembina River washed out four bridges north of Edmonton.

Outlawing of War Urged By Khrushchev in Britain

LONDON (UP)—Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev linked Russia's familiar appeal for "peaceful co-existence" Friday night with a call to the West to outlaw war and abolish armies.

One London newspaper speculated that the speech was so expertly timed and written to appeal to Britons that it might have been drafted by turncoats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean.

Khrushchev told an array of Britain's top-ranking generals, admirals and air marshals at a naval college banquet that an arms race in the modern world is "like a fox trying to catch its own tail."

"That which is first rate this year may be out of date next year . . ." he said. "I read a press report today that the Americans have produced a fighter which can fly with double-sonic speed. But what can a fighter like that do against a guided missile or rocket? . . .

"At one time, all fighting was done along some definite front line . . . in the case of a new war, it would not be possible to find any definite front line . . .

"There can be only one way out—to give up war altogether, to agree to a reduction of arms as a first step . . . and then to abolish the armed forces."

The skilful timing and the persuasive wording of Khrushchev's "off the cuff" speech increased official pressure on Prime Minister Anthony Eden to match the Russian's propaganda tactics.

So far, Eden has lived up to an agreement to keep his talks with Khrushchev and Premier N. A. Bulganin secret — while the Russian embassy has been handing out texts of the Soviet leader's remarks to all comers.

Last night was the second time during the three days he has spent in Britain that Khrushchev has made a speech at midnight, assuring it major headline play in the British papers before the government can hope to reply.

The wording of his speeches, expertly calculated to appeal to the British mind, has created belief here that they may have been "ghosted" for him by Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean, the turncoat diplomats who fled to Moscow five years ago. The London Daily Mail voiced the opinion publicly.

Reliable sources said efforts have been made at every level of government to persuade Eden to tell Britain's side of the story, so far without effect.

NEW CALENDAR PLAN DROPPED

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The UN Economic and Social Council Friday dropped the question of reforming the world's civil calendar. The plan would have made every day of every month come on the same day of the week every year. It voted 15 to 0 for a Dutch proposal to postpone debate indefinitely.

No U.S. Clearance Given Stuart Talk

WASHINGTON (UP)—The state department said Friday that R. Douglas Stuart, retiring U.S. Ambassador to Canada did not get advance clearance on a speech which angered some Canadians.

However, a spokesman said that Stuart was speaking on a subject "quite properly within his view."

In a speech at Vancouver Monday, Stuart denied charges by George Drew, leader of the Canadian Conservative Party, that the United States dominates Canadian industries and resources.

More Fraser Bridges Forecast by Irwin

(From The Canadian Press)

CLOVERDALE—Two more major crossings over the lower Fraser River in the next 10 years were forecast Friday night by T. J. Irwin, Social Credit MLA for Delta. He also told a public meeting the Rosedale-Agassiz and Mission Bridges, the Albion ferry at Fort Langley and the Deas Island tunnel would be completed for traffic within the next two years.

DENIES "GUN DEAL"

VANCOUVER—Police inspector Peter Lamont denied Friday he made "certain promises" to James Miller, self-admitted drug addict, in return for aid in finding a gun, believed used in the killing of Vancouver police constable Gordon Sinclair, 41. He was testifying at the trial of Joseph Gordon, 34, and James Carey, 27, charged with murdering the policeman last Dec. 7. Const. Sinclair was shot down while investigating a report of prowlers.

Larry Hill, lawyer for Gordon, suggested Thursday that city police had arranged a temporary release from jail and subsequently a lenient sentence to enlist Miller's aid in finding the gun by which Constable Sinclair died.

Detective Al Steen, giving evidence at the trial, said the constable's gun was still in his holster under his buttoned tunic when fellow officers found him lying beside his car.

WOMAN WINS CIVIC POST

SECHELT—A woman is the first chairman of the board of commissioners of the recently incorporated village of Sechelt. Mrs. Christine Johnston was elected chairman with 107 votes to beat out four male members of the board.

BCHIS SHARE DISPUTED

TRAIL — Demolition of the old Trail-Tadanac hospital is still delayed pending clarification of B.C. Hospital Insurance Service's equity in the property. BCHIS has claimed a 31.6 per cent interest in proceeds from sale. The demolition committee, however, contends that BCHIS share should be 24.7.

PLEADS FOR LASHES

VANCOUVER — A 25-year-old self-confessed drug trafficker and potential "dealer in death" Friday begged for lashes and a short prison term rather than a long sentence.

He was Victor Hansen, who with Mrs. Carol Talbot, 22, and David Crnec, 25, was convicted of possessing narcotics for purposes of trafficking.

Magistrate Orr remanded them to Monday for sentence.

"I think it is a good idea to have a cooling-off period before passing sentence in such serious cases."

The three were arrested after RCMP narcotics squad officers found more than 20 caches of drugs throughout the city.

U.S. Labor Leaders Block B.C. Contract

VANCOUVER (CP)—American labor leaders have been charged with "intimidation tactics and interference" by members of the Tunnel and Rock Workers' Union (AFL) here.

A. R. Andres, president of the Vancouver local, and W. L. Hunchuk, secretary-treasurer, said Friday the 1,500-man local refused to accept an agreement signed between contractors building the Alberta-B.C. natural gas pipeline and international officers of the union.

The contract was also refused by the Vancouver local of the Laborers' Union (AFL). Officers of that local were recently suspended by Joseph V. Moreschi of Washington, general president of the union.

Carl Berg of Edmonton, international representative, was appointed administrator of the local.

Mr. Hunchuk said Mr. Berg threatened the tunnel and rock workers would be taken under international administration "if instructions from the general president in Washington are not obeyed."

Mr. Moreschi said the Vancouver tunnel and rock workers' local had no jurisdiction over construction of the Alberta-B.C. pipeline but Mr. Hunchuk replied that the local is certified for the work in this province.

Mr. Hunchuk said work would stop for one day on the pipeline, an extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and a project to demolish Ripple Rock, a navigation hazard 140 miles northwest of Vancouver, if Mr. Moreschi took over his local.

Grave Fire Hazard Exists In Tinder Dry Brush Lands

Open brush country adjacent to Victoria is in a "highly dangerous" condition and constitutes a grave fire hazard, officials of two fire departments said today.

Fire Chief Rod Bayles of Langford, in an appeal to residents to seek a permit before lighting fires, said his department has made 19 calls in the last 20 days to extinguish brush fires.

"Our daytime resources have been stretched to the limit in fighting this type of fire," he said.

A Saanich fire department spokesman said this type of fire call is "common" in his area, even though fire permits have been required since April 1.

Mr. Bayles said that broom in his area which was killed by the November and January frosts is a particularly bad hazard.

"They are nothing but tinder-dry pitch," he said.

Dry, warm weather of the last week has contributed to the hazard, but weatherman William Mackie predicted a cooler Saturday night and Sunday.

"The thermometer reached 70 degrees Friday, but today has been cool, and the maximum Sunday will be 65 degrees," he said. "Sunday will be cloudy, with the cloud cover tending to thin in the afternoon."

HORSE GRABS, KICKS INFANT TO DEATH

MOUNT OLIVE, Miss. (AP)—A horse lifted a 20-month-old child across a fence with his teeth and kicked the infant to death, the child's uncle said today.

Vesta Barnes, uncle of Johnnie Nichols, said the child was standing against the outside of the fence when the work horse suddenly stretched his neck across it, caught the boy's clothing in his teeth and lifted him inside the pen.

The animal then viciously kicked the child in the head and stamped him, the uncle reported.

Today, a pre-CLC convention of the Trades and Labor Congress was to be held to clean up a few odds and ends in connection with the merger, that had been left over from last year's TLC convention.

Under agreement by a TLC-CCL unity committee, a TLC nominee—president Claude Jodoin—becomes first president of the new organization. Secretary-treasurer will be Donald MacDonald, who holds that office in the CCL, and the executive vice-president will be Gordon Cushing, now TLC secretary-treasurer.

The Duke has been in Germany for the silver wedding anniversary of his eldest sister, Princess Margarita von Hohenlohe-Lagenburg.

Later in the afternoon Bulganin and Khrushchev were to be received at tea by the Queen.

A natural gas pipeline from the Peace River to the lower mainland would produce potential energy three times the total developed hydro-electric power in B.C., says Public Works Minister W. N. Chant.

He told the Oak Bay Social Credit Association Wednesday that gas in the pipeline would produce energy equivalent to 10 million horsepower.
